PRISONERS WERE APPLAUDED THE BULGARIANS AND THE TURKS THREE MEN WERE INJURED

Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso
Welcomed on Their Arrival
at Courthouse

SALEM, Nov. 8.—Witness rooms at the courthouse were crowded early today before court opened with millworkers from Lawrence prepared to be called as witnesses for the defense in the murder trial of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, who was charged with responsibility for the death of Anna Lopizzo in a strike riot last year.

Interest in the trial has increased since the defense began, many being turned away from the crowded courtroom. Witnesses from Lawrence lined up in front of the courthouse before court convened and a crowd applauded the prisoners when they arrived in carriages from the jail.

Sabato Gauge, a mill worker, was the first witness of the day. Gauge testified that he heard Ettor and Giovannitti speak several times during the strike, always urging the people to stand firmly together and to keep away from the mills and not to use violence. The witness gave his recollection of Giovannitti's much discussed speech on the Lawrence common. In this he said the defendant urged the strikers to go home and rest after the parade and to keep away from the police and soldiers in Canal street "because they are looking for your blood like wild animals." Gauge further said that Giovannitti threatened to leave the strikers and return to his home in New York if they did not heed his advice. This version of the speech conforms to that given by several other witnesses for the defense in contradiction of witnesses for the prosecution, who testified that Giovannitti told the strikers to "provoke the animals and seek the blood of the scabs."

On cross examination Gauge said that during the parade of Jan. 29 Ettor urged the strikers not to molest the soldiers on guard on the streets leading to the mills. "The parade had reached the Arlington mill," said

Gauge. "There the soldiers were lined up with bayonets fixed. Ettor had up his hands to us and said: 'Don't throw ice at the soldiers. They are here commanded to do their duty. Don't disturb them.'"

Louis Pincelli, a clerk in the Italian post office in Lawrence, testified that Joseph Caruso came to the post office on the evening of January 29 and got some mail. His wife was with him. This was the night Anna Lopizzo was killed.

"Caruso came in that night just about six o'clock," said Pincelli. "I remember the time because it was the same night Anna Lopizzo was killed. The woman was shot about 5:15 that afternoon and the commonwealth charges that Caruso was in the crowd from which the shot was fired that killed her."

Caruso was in the Italian post office about 6 o'clock on the night of the shooting, according to testimony brought out by the defense today. Caruso it was declared entered the post office with his wife and got some mail and while there offered to aid a policeman in looking for the Lopizzo woman's relatives. Giuseppe Catarini, an employee of the Italian postoffice, testified that he saw Caruso come into the office. It was some time after he had heard shots fired in the distance. Police Officer Marshall came into the office trying to trace relatives of the woman who had been shot, said Catarini. "Caruso was there too and got some mail. I heard him say he would come and help find her relatives and he went out when the policeman did."

Whether Caruso accompanied the officer in search for the information sought Catarini did not know. Louis Pincelli, also employed in the post office, testified that he gave Caruso a letter about six o'clock that night. Gertrude Marvin of New York, a New York newspaper writer, who was in Lawrence during the strike, testified that the defendant urged the strikers to be peaceful.

"He told them to forget their national differences," said the witness. "He stood together and to be peaceful. He said that if they would keep their hands in their pockets and refuse to work they would win because cloth could not be woven with policemen's clubs or soldiers' bayonets."

Miss Marvin said she attended a meeting of the strike committee when it was reported that the electrical and gas workers might go out on a sympathetic strike.

"At that meeting," said Miss Marvin, "Ettor said the electrical workers' strike would be of great value because it would leave the city in darkness. Then he said they might get the freight handlers to strike, cut off supplies from Lawrence and isolate the city. Then he said Lawrence would be an unhappy city."

Miss Marvin also testified that Ettor on the day dynamite was found in Lawrence declared it had been planted by the mill owners.

Report From Sofia Says That Bulgarians Have Occupied the Tchatalja Line—There is No
Fresh News From Adrianople Today

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A great battle is in progress between the Bulgarians and Turks along the line to the Tchatalja fortifications, only some 25 miles outside of Constantinople. It is generally believed that this will be the last of the remarkable series of combats which have been going on for upwards of a fortnight with little or no breathing space.

One report received from Sofia last night said that the Bulgarians had occupied the Tchatalja line, but this remains without confirmation. It probably arose from a despatch sent by Lieut. Wagner to the Vienna Reichspost in which he said the Bulgarians had occupied the town of Deliyunus, outside the fort of the same name, which forms one of the Tchatalja defenses. The same correspondent added that a fresh battle had started and was spreading along the Tchatalja line, the fall of which might be expected at any moment. While the Turks had another and more modern line of fortifications between Tchatalja and Constantinople there is little chance in the opinion of military experts that they will make a stand there if they are defeated at Tchatalja. It is reported, however, that the famous Damascus regiment of the Turkish army has been reserved for this last effort to save the capital.

There is no fresh news today from Adrianople, which was reported last night to have surrendered. The position at Monastir and at Saloniki, where large Turkish armies are concentrated, is unchanged so far as the outside world is concerned. Neither of these fortresses can hold out long, according to military experts, despite the fact that the Greek army marching on Monastir has been checked by meeting a superior force of Turkish troops on the way and having to wait for reinforcements from the army commanded by the crown prince of Greece.

The Montenegro are holding the Turkish fortress of Scutari a hard nut to crack and it is again reported today that they have had to retire across the Boyana river because heavy rains and floods had made it impossible for them to keep up their commissariat service.

Joe Christo, Lowell's well known long distance runner, starts training tomorrow for a 15-mile race to be held at Worcester on Nov. 23. Among the list of entries are many of the best runners in New England, and the local sprinter, realizing that he will have to be in good condition if he is to cop a prize, will train carefully for the race. Joe feels confident that his time has come, and will enter the race determined to take first place. He will train in the vicinity of Andover street, taking long runs every evening. He has engaged the services of several well known trainers, who will accompany him on all his trial runs. He will cut the Meccas, and also the dancing until after the race, when he returns home with first prize tucked in his inside pocket.

Lecture On Music

At the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Middlesex Women's club there was given the first of a series of three musical lectures under the auspices of the music section. Miss Mary E. Kelly, chairman, the speaker was Mr. W. L. Hubbard, a Boston musical critic, and his subject, "Tales of Hoffman," was illustrated by Miss Myra Sharlow, soprano, one of the youngest members of the Boston Opera company, and Mr. Frank Waller at the piano. Miss Sharlow, though very young, has a big voice, and her pleasing personality and evident talent give promise of success in the grand opera field. She sang the well-known "Barcarole," from the second act, and the "Tale of the Dove."

POLICE AFTER BOUCHER

He is Wanted on an Assault Charge

French street was the scene of considerable excitement shortly before 11 o'clock this afternoon, when two policemen armed with a warrant for a man named Boucher, endeavored to place him under arrest. The officers of the law were Lieut. Maher and Court Officer Peter Cawley.

They went to the man's home in French street, but Joseph saw them coming and he "beat" it. Immediately as he was wanted on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on his wife, the officers gave chase. Soon they lost sight of him and Lieut. Maher went towards Kirk street, while Officer Cawley directed his footsteps toward the Boot mill. In a short time a large crowd had gathered in

They Were at Work on the
of Columbus Building

Three men employed in the construction of the new Knights of Columbus headquarters on Anne street were injured this noon when a brick wall which formed part of the foundation of the rear of a house facing on John street collapsed and buried them to the shoulders.

The injured men, whose names are Tony Walas, Dennis Keefe and David Hubert, were at work digging in a ditch about the foundation of the K. of C. building and very near the brick foundation of a house in the rear, when without warning the wall collapsed upon them. It seemed to be in decidedly poor condition for it crumbled to small pieces, and these, including bricks, stone and sand, fell like an avalanche upon the workmen.

Their fellows at once rushed to their aid and began digging them out. This proved to be a difficult job for the bricks and earth had wedged them in very tightly and made it a delicate matter to extricate them without adding to their injuries. Walas and Keefe were first set free and it was found that their injuries were not serious for they limped away from the place unassisted. The authorities, however, sent them in an ambulance, one of three which had been summoned to St. John's hospital, where it was found that they had sustained minor sprains to their ankles and nothing more serious.

Considerable difficulty, however, was experienced in liberating David Hubert from his painful position, for it was at first thought that his leg was badly crushed.

His rescuers worked quickly and carefully until he could finally be lifted out. He was carried on a stretcher to the ambulance and taken to St. John's hospital. He was found to be suffering with a badly fractured pelvis and though his condition is serious, nevertheless, the doctors are of the opinion that he will recover.

Several of the others about the place had very narrow escapes when the cave-in occurred and it was a wonder that those who were caught were not more seriously injured for the mass of earth and brick which fell upon them was exceedingly large and heavy. It appeared that the wall had decayed and as soon as the supporting sand and earth was removed it collapsed. The three men were crowded together in a very small space and their position must have been very painful. Hubert was buried to his neck by the debris and those who witnessed the accident said that it was miraculous that none of them sustained fractured limbs.

Precautions will be taken at once to prevent a recurrence of an accident of this kind.

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

Was Reported by the Jury in Case of Sullivan vs. Smith—
New Case Called

At the opening of the superior civil court at ten o'clock this morning, the jury which was out last night on the case of Sullivan vs. Smith, returned a verdict for the defendant. The jury for the next case was then chosen and the other cases until Monday morning.

The next case to be called was that of Philip Emond, pro. am., Remi Emond vs. The Massachusetts Cotton mill in an action of tort to recover for injuries, the ad damnum clause demanding the amount of $25,000.

The plaintiff stated in his declaration, that he was employed in the cloth room of the Massachusetts Cotton mill, operating a shearing machine, the function of which is to cut from the web of cloth threads which were left there in the weaving.

In the process the webs are first sewed together by the ends and they are then passed over several rollers suspended near the ceiling to straighten and smooth out the cloth before passing it into the shearing machine. The plaintiff charged that while engaged in this work and while in exercise of due care, through defects in the machinery connected with the sewing and shearing of the cloth, the cloth was caused to part so that it would not pass over the rollers.

It was then necessary to bring the two ends of the webs down to the sewing machine in order to sew them together and fit them to pass over the rollers to the shearing machine. The plaintiff stated that the only way to bring the ends together was to pass one end by hand over one of the upper rollers or supports and he says that this roller was within eight or ten inches from a rapidly revolving shaft. While attempting to pass the end of the cloth over the roller in the only way it could be done on account of the alleged improper construction and placing of the shafting, the plaintiff charges, the cloth was caught in the revolving shaft and he, the plaintiff, was caught in the machine and carried around the shaft. His left arm, he alleges was torn off and his right arm broken in two places and he sustained other severe injuries. The accident, he claims was due to the defects in the condition and ways of the machinery which arose as a consequence of the negligence of the employer or the agent of the employer, and further that this caused the cloth to be imperfectly sewed. Again, he charges that he was put to work in a dangerous place, where he was liable to injury and was not given proper warnings and that he did not know the danger of being caught when he placed the cloth over the roll.

The declaration of the defendant consisted of a denial of all the material allegations contained in the statement of the plaintiff. The jury was taken to view the scene of the accident and court was then adjourned to Monday morning.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House
Up to last season the Aborn English Grand Opera company had limited its former ventures to only a few of the very large cities in each of which it had long engagements each year. It continues to maintain its annual seasons in English, preceding or following the engagements of the Metropolitan, the Chicago-Philadelphia and the Boston Opera companies to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago, and between its fall and spring seasons in those places. It makes a tour of a limited number of other cities. The Aborn roster on tour embraces an array of evenly distributed talent instead of one or two particular stars in which are two singers of each classification, one appearing at one performance, and the other at the next, so that each artist appears at only four performances a week. The double cast includes also Ronald, the noted dramatic soprano, formerly with the Grand and Metropolitan English Grand Opera companies, Edwitta Alving, coloratura soprano, who has just made a successful grand opera tour of Europe and East Africa, and a soprano with the Lombard Opera company in this country, Elaine De Sellem, erstwhile prima donna contracted with the Metropolitan Opera company. Marie Louise Blitters, a noted contralto and protégée of Mme. Schumann-Heink, Henry Taylor, one of the best known of the American tenors and formerly a co-star with Mme. Nola, Pearl Harrison, tenor, formerly with the Seattle Grand Opera company, Louis Pichols and George Ward, two well known operatic and concert baritone, Francis J. Taylor, basso, who was a member of the Grand and Aborn English Opera company, Bernard Cantor, the popular basso Arturo Capalardi, conductor and Karl Schneider, stage director. The Aborn company will present "Madame Butterfly" at the Opera House tonight.

"A BUTTERFLY ON THE WHEEL"

"A Butterfly on the Wheel" which ran for the greater part of last season in New York and which met with equal success when played in London by Mrs. Lewis Waller, will have its first presentation in this city tomorrow, Monday night at the Grand Opera House. The play has become widely popular, chiefly on account of the famous trial scene, and while it is an injustice to any play to say that one act makes it, yet in the case of "A Butterfly on the Wheel" this particular scene has done much towards attracting people.

"LITTLE BOY BLUE"

Our Harlan, the comedian of Henry W. Sawyer's "Little Boy Blue" company, which is to be at the Opera House, Tuesday, Nov. 12, is telling a story about one of the musicians attached to the organization. "This man knows only the Harlan's 'Papa' and 'Mama' and has only been in this country a short time and who up to the beginning of the season could not speak a word of English. In looking down in the orchestra pit Harlan noticed that the man never took his eyes from the stage and attentively watched every move that was made. After a few minutes the comedian found out that this is a man on the street time that the company has been on tour committed to memory every note in the music and is a walking encyclopedia of 'Little Boy Blue'." The purpose of this in this play is to make people and it is a very funny thing to see accomplished. He is now able to converse with the other members of the company, but a few minutes ago he was unable to say a word that is, perhaps everything in the language of the play, even to the French expressions used by some of the characters.

"MADAME NO"

"Madame No" the great drama of "Mother and Son" is the most successful of the latest comedies, and, naturally, Alexander Blum, is announced for presentation, beginning Nov. 12, at the Grand of the Opera House.

Merriam Square Theatre

The first play at the Merriam Square theatre, and which doubtless the cleverest in their line ever seen at a local theatre. They do a number of very different plays and the so-called "change" for 100 cents the first of the night is alone worth the price of admission. "A Kiss in the Dark" by the Merriam Square is now being presented with some new and clever plays and the first of the night is alone worth the price of admission. "A Kiss in the Dark" by the Merriam Square is now being presented with some new and clever plays and the first of the night is alone worth the price of admission.

The Playhouse

The Playhouse, which opened at the Playhouse, formerly Broadway theatre, must remember that the room is now a theatre and has a large number of seats. The first of the night is alone worth the price of admission. "A Kiss in the Dark" by the Merriam Square is now being presented with some new and clever plays and the first of the night is alone worth the price of admission.

Kellin's Theatre

Two of Andrew Kellin's stories, being told the week, are good enough to insure the success of any story teller. One concerns a man named McGovern, the other is about a man named McGovern. The first of the night is alone worth the price of admission. "A Kiss in the Dark" by the Merriam Square is now being presented with some new and clever plays and the first of the night is alone worth the price of admission.

Holy Name of St. Michael's

The members of the Holy Name society of St. Michael's church, headed by Rev. Fr. Mullin, spiritual director of the organization, have inaugurated a campaign to increase the membership of the society. It is the intention to double the present membership.

Arrangements are now being completed for a series of social gatherings during the winter season. Next Thursday night a card party will be held in the parish building at 21 Church street, opposite St. Michael's church. An excellent musical and a very program has been arranged and a large number will be served.

The members will stand for a moment in a body next to a large number of the 4 o'clock hour.

WOULD PUT ALL COST ON ROADS

Grade Crossings Bill Favored
by Towns—Railroad Men
Say It Was Unjust

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Both towns and railroads were well represented at the hearing given yesterday by the railroad and highway commissions sitting jointly as a special commission created by the last legislature to inquire into the question of reapportioning the expense of abolishing the grade railroad crossings.

Under the present law 25 per cent. of the cost of abolishing a grade crossing is borne by the commonwealth, 10 per cent. by the city or town in which the crossing is located, and the remaining 65 per cent. by the railroad, save that if a street railway uses the crossing it pays 15 per cent.

The representatives of the towns generally argued that as the railroad gets most or all of the benefit of the abolition of a crossing it should pay all the expense of all except that now borne by the commonwealth and shared by the municipalities in the form of a state tax. They wished the towns relieved of their present 10 per cent. share.

The railroad representatives argued that to increase their share of the expense would be unjust and would only have the effect of delaying the desired abolitions of crossings. Joseph J. Corbett, corporation counsel for the city of Boston, said that although this city has paid out more than $2,250,000 for grade crossing abolition it offers no complaint against the present law.

Representative C. A. Barnes of Mansfield opened the hearing by explaining the proposed bill, which would free municipalities from any expense except where they petitioned for the abolition, in which case their share would be 5 per cent.

Town Counsel William M. Nolas of Mansfield said that the crossings abolished have been mostly in the cities, and that for them the 10 per cent. share was not so bad, but that now the principal work is in the towns whose smaller resources are unable to stand the strain. The towns themselves, he thought, should have something to say about the cost, and he favored their representation on special apportionment commissions.

Thomas J. Keating, chairman of the Great Barrington board of selectmen, wished to add city aldermen to the special commissions.

Others who favored changes to relieve the towns and cities were Mayor Scannell and Aldermen O'Brien and Hanagan of Lawrence, Senator Chas. S. Chase of Dighton, Mayor Rivers of Chicopee, Town Counsel Edmund A. Talbot of Sharon, George H. Carpenter of Seekonk, where there are two grade crossings, but no railroad station; Walter M. Lowney of Mansfield, Jeremiah J. Desmond of Randolph, Town Counsel Albert P. Worthen of Weymouth, Herbert S. Kimball of Foxboro, Selectman Louis E. Flye of Hallowell, George J. Tinsley of the Ashland board of trade, Lewis H. Bullard of Wareham, Town Counsel Walter Adams, Selectman David C. Abert, ex-Representative Samuel O. Staples and George L. Avery, president of the board of trade of Framingham; Representative William S. Howard of Easton and A. C. Sampson of Sharon.

William H. Coolidge, representing the Boston & Maine railroad, urged that the small attendance at this widely announced hearing indicated the absence of any widespread demand for change in the present method of apportionment, which he considered fair to all parties concerned.

Each grade crossing commission, he pointed out, now has authority to provide that the town need pay nothing, while in no case is its share more than 10 per cent. If any change is made, he said, it would be to remove the limit and allow the commission to assess the costs in accordance with the benefits to be derived.

Woodward Hudson, representing the Boston & Albany railroad, held that grade crossing abolition would be retarded by the passage of a bill such as was suggested, because railroad and town would sit still and wait for each other to make the first move, as either would only penalize itself by asking for the abolition of a crossing.

Melvin O. Adams, president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, said that although the capital of his road is only $850,000, the abolition of the Orient Heights grade crossing is going to cost it $225,000, and that other projects asked for would bring the total cost up to two-thirds of the capitalization, so that to increase the burden on the road would be preposterous.

A plea for reduction of the street railways' share from 15 per cent. was made by Everett W. Burdett, representing the Bay State Street Railway Company.

The commission took the matter under advisement, and will report to the incoming legislature.

HELD IN $25,000 BAIL

Men Charged With Robbing Post Offices

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Two men whom the federal authorities accuse of being members of a gang which has been robbing postoffices in southern New England were held under heavy bonds by United States Commissioner Wm. B. Cross yesterday.

The prisoners are Joseph Kramer, alias Thomas Campbell, and Charles T. Hart. Kramer's bail was fixed at $15,000 and that of Hart at $10,000.

Kramer has already been indicted by the federal grand jury in Massachusetts on a charge of robbing the North Abington postoffice. Hart is charged with breaking into the postoffice safe at West Barnstable, Mass.

Both men were taken to Boston yesterday afternoon and locked up in the Middlesex county jail at East Cambridge.

The federal officials say Kramer is a companion of James Kelley, recently arrested in New York on a charge of committing postoffice robberies in Massachusetts.

Have Color in Your Cheeks—Be Better Looking—Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a hazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

MANY CHANGES CERTAIN

In Committees of the House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Although democratic control of the house of representatives by a greatly increased majority is assured, a general shakeup of the personnel of the important house committees in the next congress will be necessary.

The all-important ways and means committee, which will shape into bills the tariff policies of the Wilson administration, was riddled by the election. Of the 14 democrats on the committee, four will not return. Two of these, however, Hughes of New Jersey and James of Kentucky, go to the senate.

Ramsdell of Texas and Brantley of Georgia are retired. Out of the seven republicans on the committee but two apparently will remain. John McCall of Pennsylvania and Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, for years shapers of the republican tariff policy, were not candidates at the polls and Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, James C. Needham of California, and probably Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, were beaten.

Sereno E. Payne of New York, and Joseph W. Fordney of Michigan may be the only republicans left.

The election of Representative Sulzer as governor of New York leaves vacant

the chairmanship of the important foreign affairs committee. Flood of Virginia is ranking member of the committee, but he declined the chairmanship two years ago to accept the less important territories committee. Either he or Garner of Texas is expected to get the place.

The election of Morris Sheppard of Texas to the senate, if seniority is followed, will move Representative Burnett of Alabama to the chairmanship of the public buildings and grounds committee, which handles the big public buildings so-called "pork barrel" bill.

The vacancy at the head of the public lands committee, caused by the failure of Representative Robinson of Arkansas to return, will probably be filled by moving up Representative Graham of Illinois, at present chairman of the committee on expenditures in the interior department.

The banking and currency committee,

Investigating the so-called money trust, will be without a head. Representative Pulo of Louisiana having retired. Representative Carter Glass of Virginia is the ranking member of the committee.

The retirement of Representative Lamb of Virginia as head of the committee on agriculture opens this place for Representative Lester of South Carolina, but Mr. Lester would be forced to give up the chairmanship of the education committee, which would probably be mentioned as cabinet possibilities.

Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the rules committee, Representative Burton of Texas, a member of the appropriations committee, and Representative Underwood, head of the ways and means, have been mentioned as cabinet possibilities.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—What promises to be one of the greatest divorce cases of a decade was up for argument today before the supreme court. It concerned the domestic duties of Charles N. and Mrs. Thompson, the former a principal of a school in the District of Columbia. The case derives its importance from the fact that it raises for the court a much disputed question as to the jurisdiction of the separate states to grant divorces.

Mrs. Thompson applied for a divorce in the District of Columbia but, before her suit came to trial, Thompson obtained a divorce in Virginia on the ground of desertion. When Mrs. Thompson's suit came on for hearing in the District of Columbia, Thompson had it dismissed on the ground that procure a divorce upon constructive service of notice on her. The two cases have caused endless dispute among lawyers which the present case may settle.

"HAMILTON" "DUTCH"

Alleged Safe Blower is Under Arrest Again

Charles Hamilton, alias Hamilton Dutch, reputed to be one of the cleverest safe blowers in the country, also a member of the notorious gang of yeggmen arrested in this city a year ago, was arrested in Boston yesterday by police inspectors Smith and Concanannon and later arraigned before United States Commissioner Hale and held under $5000 bonds for a hearing on Nov. 11th. He is wanted in connection with the blowing of the safe in the post office in Claremont, N. H., where $1100 was stolen.

Hamilton is one of the pals of Frank White, otherwise known as Lowell Whitey, who is now serving two years in the federal prison at Atlanta. It is thought that the $1000 deposited in one of the Lowell banks early last year by the gang of yeggmen who were living in Appleton street was the major portion of the haul at the Claremont postoffice for the safe in that place was blown open and robbed shortly before the yeggs migrated to this city.

Owing to lack of evidence of breaks the men were charged with being vagrants in the local court and Hamilton was sentenced to three months in jail. After serving his time he remained around Lowell and on two occasions was brought before the court for drunkenness.

FURTHER RECOVERY

WAS MADE BY THE MARKET IN THE FINAL HOUR

The Closing Was Irregular—Higher Money Was Partly Offset By the Favorable Crop Report—It Was Especially Beneficial to the Grangers

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The stock market opened with an irregular tone today. Canadian Pacific yielded a point and Southern Pacific, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and other active issues were down material fractions. The few slender gains were limited to the unimportant stocks.

Fractional recoveries caused renewed selling by the professional element and some of the principal issues went lower than at the outset. Marked weakness was shown by Canadian Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, Steel and Beet Sugar.

The reactionary trend of the market yesterday became more pronounced today on mixed selling of long and short stocks. Nearer sentiment was intensified by rumors of an extra session of congress and cables from abroad suggested further uneasiness at leading centers. London's level of prices for our securities was decidedly lower.

The report of the copper producers showing a large gain in supplies for October was without marked effect on these metal issues.

Irregular advances occurred in the afternoon on reduced dealings, but few stocks got back to yesterday's closing. China issues reached record figures, the bonds fetching 200.

The closing was irregular. The market made further recovery in the final hour, higher money being partly offset by the favorable crop report, which was especially beneficial to the grangers.

Business Conditions

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Dun's Review says today: Bank clearings continued to reflect a remarkably large volume of payments through the banks, notably uniformity in the gains indicating well-maintained business at nearly all the leading trade centers of the country. This week total bank exchanges at all principal cities in the United States as compiled by Dun's Review aggregated $3,002,358,888, an increase of 9.1 per cent. as compared with the same week last year, and of 18.7 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week in 1910.

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT FOUND DEAD IN BED

Fire Caused a Loss of About $100,000

BROOKNEAL, Va., Nov. 8.—Fire of unknown origin almost wiped out this little town early today and caused a loss of approximately $100,000, hardly one-fourth insured. No lives were lost. Twenty-five buildings, including the post office, a bank, 11 stores, a tobacco warehouse and the Baptist church were burned.

Peter Parus sustained a gash in his forehead while at work in the Lowell Machine shop foundry this afternoon. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where he received treatment.

Lawrence Man and Child Asphyxiated

LAWRENCE, Nov. 8.—Charles Bouillard, aged 45, and his daughter, Blanche, seven years old, were found dead in bed today and the wife and mother, Mrs. Jennie Bouillard, was found in an unconscious condition by a neighbor. The deaths were caused by asphyxiation and were pronounced as accidental.

California Still Doubtful

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—With 135 precincts missing and Roosevelt leading Wilson on the face of the returns by 130, California was still in the doubtful column today. Indications were that whatever the findings, the winner's margin would be so small that an official recount of the entire state probably would be necessary.

May Delay Bridge Work

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The construction of the great bridge with which the Pennsylvania and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad systems proposed to span the East river at Hell Gate may be delayed by a temporary injunction restraining the contracting company from further work on the bridge.

Attorney Gen. Carmody obtained the injunction today on the ground that the law forbids the erection of any structure on Ward's Island where an insane asylum is situated without special legislative enactment. The question of the permanence of the injunction will be argued next Tuesday.

Mitchell Starts the Clothing Panic

I can't lick nature—that is I can't lick unnatural weather with natural prices. So I quit to the weather, and today announce prices that all will admit are unnatural.

I don't know that I can lick the weather very long with unnatural prices, because it seems to me I shall soon have lots of company unless it turns cold. But I must lick it long enough to reduce my enormous stock of winter overcoatings and suitings.

In announcing this appeal for your trade now—Today and Tomorrow—I depart from usual merchandising. I am not going to take my low priced specialties and by marking them lower force their sale. That would not remedy my embarrassment of riches. It is not that I am carrying too much medium-priced woollens—it is that I am choked with the lines I have to sell for $18.00 and $20.00. Through these high priced fabrics my stock reduction must take place if I would not carry them over till next season.

Therefore, instead of tempting you with average goods, at extremely low prices, I will tempt you with extremely high class goods—double and twisted worsted, than which money can buy no better—at prices you know are unnaturally low. Look them over on my recommendation. Buy them on the advantage which this warm weather makes it necessary for me to extend to you.

JOHNSON IS INDICTED

Held Under $30,000 Bail on Four Counts

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Jack Johnson, the negro prize fighter, was arrested by federal officers last night charged with a violation of the Mann white slave law. His arrest followed the return by the federal grand jury of an indictment charging him with having caused the transportation of Bella

Schreiber, a white woman, 25 years old, from Pittsburgh to Chicago, Aug. 10, 1910, for an unlawful purpose.

Federal officers searched the South Side several hours before Johnson was found hiding in a hotel surrounded by four negro guards. An attempt was made by the guards to prevent the officers from entering Johnson's rooms but they were pushed aside and the warrant served on the fighter without serious difficulty.

At the federal building, tears came to Johnson's eyes as the officers put handcuffs on his wrists.

"You don't have to do this. I'm not going to run away," he said. "I'm square; you ought to know that."

His bonds were fixed at $30,000, but all the federal judges had left the building for the night and declined to leave their homes to go through the formality of accepting bail.

After several hours Johnson found a court clerk willing to act, and the fighter was taken to the home of his aged mother on the South Side, who signed the bonds, along with several others, and Johnson was released from custody.

The jury heard the testimony of Lucille Cameron of Minneapolis, whose

HOME TREATMENT FOR NERVOUSNESS

It is never too late to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for nervous troubles.

You can be certain that a breakdown or exhaustion of your nerves is due to a lack of nourishment caused by thin or impure blood. The starved nerves break down after any unusual strain. This condition is easily remedied with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They start at once to build up the blood, making it richer and purer with every dose, thereby checking further wear on the nerves and the progress of the disease. The new blood makes the nerves more fit every day to do their work.

The thoroughness with which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People act is seen in the clear complexion, better appetite, improved digestion, gain in weight and the freedom from restlessness, sleeplessness, irritability and headaches.

Mrs. J. L. Brennan, of No. 89 Parker street, Brewer, Maine, says: "For three years I suffered with nervousness and was confined to bed one time for six weeks. I couldn't sleep as I was constantly imagining that I saw all sorts of things when I closed my eyes. My stomach was in bad shape and I could eat nothing but light foods. I was troubled with gas on my stomach. I had awful headaches. The pains were through my forehead and were like neuralgia. I became so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor and had to give up my work. My heart would palpitate when I exerted myself, like going up stairs."

"Our doctor said I was nervous and run down but he did not give me enough help and I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a month's time I had been greatly benefited and I took the pills until cured. I am now free from nervousness and can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a grand blood and nerve tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have given gratifying results in nervous debility, nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

We will send free upon request our new booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," to anyone interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct by mail, postpaid, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

WILL ASK RECOUNTS SECRETARY MACVEAGH

Democratic Candidates Completes Rules on Free Ship Imports

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Because of the closeness of the vote for attorney general, state auditor and treasurer, between the democratic and republican candidates, Chairman Thomas P. Riley of the democratic state committee yesterday decided that he would ask for a recount of the votes cast for these offices.

Accordingly, he started the machinery yesterday by instructing the various city and town chairmen to prepare their recount petitions.

Out in the 4th Middlesex senatorial district Charles M. Cox, the bull moose candidate, claims that he beat Senator Claude Allen. The latter alleges that he was elected by 62 votes. Cox claims that 32 votes in ward 3, Malden, were wrongfully counted for Allen. A recount will be asked for.

Representative Dean of Wakefield, who was elected on the face of the returns, will have to face a recount. His republican opponent, George E. Walker, is the petitioner.

Senator Barlow of Lowell, who represents the 8th Middlesex district, was declared elected Tuesday night by eight votes. His democratic opponent, Henry J. Draper of Lowell, asks that the vote be recounted.

Papers for recounts in Boston for representative contests have been taken out in wards 24 and 26; also in ward 12, where Henry A. Savage was defeated by 210, Edward P. McLaughlin winning out as the lowest democrat. Francis M. Cummings of ward 23, Democrat, was defeated by W. P. Babby by 33 votes. He, too, took out papers for a recount.

Shewlin Beats Fleming

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Eddie Shewlin, the Boston welterweight, outpointed Bill Fleming of Oldtown, Me., in a 10-round bout last night at the 44th street Sporting club. Fleming had an advantage of five pounds on the Bostonian, but the latter earned the honors in nine of the 10 sessions. Shewlin's head only reached Fleming's shoulder, but this lack of height proved an advantage as he was able to duck many of Fleming's swings and plant his right into the Oldtown lad's midsection. Shewlin landed the greater number of clean punches.

In a one-sided bout that lasted 10 rounds Johnny Lore of New York hammered and smashed Young Reilly, another local lightweight. Chick Lawlor knocked out Young Foley in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

It was announced that the English method of refereeing would be discontinued and that the old style would take its place. The Lewis-Matoney and Brown-Hogan fights were declared off.

Schwartz and Abel Matched CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Articles have been signed between Yankee Schwartz of Philadelphia and Jake Abel of this city for an eight-round mill here Nov. 27.

cordance with the act passed at the last session of congress.

The regulations will be made public in a day or two, and provide, it is understood, for a free entry of wireless apparatus, sails and rigging as part of the equipment of a ship. These have been disputed points.

It was necessary for the department to define what is equipment and what is a vessel. The law applies only to "vessels." According to reliable authority, it is held that a vessel is a craft of five tons or more, that is, a documented or registered ship. Consequently free entry is not accorded to materials for racing shells and other small craft.

The regulations, it is said, will admit bolts, nuts, rivets, plates and the like which go into the construction of a ship or its machinery. Engines or auxiliary machinery, such as pumps, dynamos, etc., set up or knocked down, will not come in free because the law specifies materials for the construction of machinery. Furniture, china and glassware will be admitted as equipment.

Dealers, it is declared, will not be permitted to stock their places with free ship materials, but must make the importations for specific purposes. The treasury department will undertake the mammoth task of tracing the articles into consumption.

Free equipment will be allowed only once, it is said. That is, a vessel cannot from time to time replace its equipment as it is worn out.

THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION

Issued by Pres. Taft This Afternoon—Nov. 28 is Day Set for the Observance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Taft this afternoon issued the following Thanksgiving day proclamation:

"By the president of the United States of America.

"A proclamation.

"A God-fearing nation like ours owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All-Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the national executive to call upon his fellow countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in earnest supplication for their continuance.

"The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples; rich in harvests so abundant and industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast concentration of the heritage of self-government, bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired but rather improved by good use to our children and our children's children from all time to come, the people of this country are abundantly cause for contented gratitude.

"Therefore, I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of long established usage and in response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen wherever they may sojour to join in Thursday, the twenty-

PIMPLES CAME IN BLOTCHES

On Hand. Scratched So They Bled. Spread to Other Hand and Face. Ashamed to Go Out. Cured By Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

310 57th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.—"About a year ago I noticed a pimple on the back of my hand. I picked it, and the next day my hand became full of pimples. They came in blotches, about a half dozen together. When they first appeared they were red and inflamed and itched very much. I scratched them so they bled and then they developed into sores. The disease spread to my other hand, and face. At one time my face got so full of pimples and they itched so much I was ashamed to go out on the street.

"When I bathed they became inflamed. I tried for them but instead of getting better I became worse, and by this time my disease became so bad that I could not sleep or eat. Finally when I began to despair of getting better a friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for samples and used them. I took a hot bath, using Cuticura Soap, and then applied the Cuticura Ointment to the affected parts before going to bed. When I woke up the next morning the itching had stopped. Within three weeks I had no sign of a pimple. I was entirely cured."

(Signed) E. Marks, Dec. 10, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

ALDRICH IS ACQUITTED

The Jury Was Out Only Five Minutes

WORCESTER, Nov. 8.—Robert E. Aldrich, an Upton boy who has been on trial in the superior court on a charge of arson, was acquitted by a jury yesterday after the jurymen had been out only five minutes.

The boy was charged with setting fire to the barn of Constable Henry T. Aldrich in Upton on July 23, 1912, and the evidence against him was an alleged confession obtained from him and signed by him after he had a six hours' session in the Upton town hall with men from a Boston detective agency.

The Aldrich boy claimed that the confession was secured from him under third degree methods and declared to the jury that he knew nothing of the fire's origin, because he was in the engine house playing cards with members of the fire company when the alarm came in and he was out of the place only five minutes. He told the court that after he had been called to the town hall by representatives of the Boston detective agency, one of the men showed him a badge and said he would give him five minutes to tell the truth. He said he told the detective he was in the engine house at the time and left it only five minutes when he went to get a drink of water.

The detective, at the end of the five minutes, said he had heard enough of that talk, according to the boy's story, and he then told another detective who was there to put the boy under arrest. Young Aldrich said the detective then said, "You'll have to own up to the truth."

After he had been taken, the boy claimed, the first detective told him he had heard enough evidence that he did it and that if he didn't own up to it he would get from 10 to 20 years. "He said he had a say with the courts and the judges are with him," said young Aldrich, "and I was kind of scared." The written statement was given him to sign and he read it through, skipping the big words, as he did not understand them. He thought he would get a long term in prison if he did not sign the paper, so he signed it, he said.

In charging the jury Judge Harrison told it to disregard the alleged confession if it thought it had been obtained from the boy under pressure. A verdict of not guilty was returned in five minutes.

INDICTMENT OF "L" ROAD

Quashed by Order of Judge Brown

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Judge Brown in superior court yesterday quashed the indictment against the Boston Elevated Railway company, charging coercion of employees. The indictment alleged the company coerced employees not to join or remain in the newly formed Carpenters' union, in violation of Section 15, Chapter 514, of the Acts of 1909.

The company contended, that the statute was similar to a federal law that had been held unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. It was agreed between counsel that if the judge found the state and federal statutes were similar he should quash the indictment. Both Attorney Henry E. Hubbard for the road and District Attorney Follett expected the judge would throw out the indictment.

The United States supreme court held that an employer could not be prevented by statute from discharging a man because he was a member of a union or was not, and such a prohibitory statute was in violation of the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution.

The judge still has under consideration the indictments against the six division superintendents accused of perjury in testifying before the state board of conciliation and arbitration.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD
Strongly Urges Harvard Men to Drill

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, addressed a large gathering of the Harvard undergraduates in the Harvard union last evening, and was enthusiastically received by the students. His subject was "The Military Policy of the United States."

He said in part:

"The military policy of the United States is the same as not getting a football eleven in shape for the big game, but trusting to luck for good results. We shall have a war in the not distant future. We are a world power and are coming into contact with the others expanding also. Six hundred thousand men must be mobilized for such a war, and yet we could mobilize but 165,000 men here quickly and 35,000 of these would be of the regular army. What a problem we are up against without a reserve force to rely upon.

"If you are prepared for war you will find it unlikely to happen. Preparation is the best preventive for war. Turkey is being defeated today chiefly through not being prepared.

"There is nothing which justifies us in believing that we are superior to other nations. We have never had single-handed a war with a first-class power. Wars come quickly without warning today and we are wholly unprepared to meet any military attack. We might lose control of the sea and then we would be subjected to attack anywhere.

"I am sorry that there is no military instruction here. Many colleges are doing this up. We are taking no precaution against useless loss of human life in battles and we have to learn to be soldiers after the war has begun. Imagine what a panic there would be if a force of 50,000 hostile troops were landed on our coast here near Boston.

"Our coast defenses are worthless without men enough to work them right. Trouble is sure to come to a growing nation and our commercial growth must be accompanied by military growth for safety."

WOODROW WILSON ROOM

Has Become Quite an Historical Place

PRINCETON, Nov. 8.—With the election of Woodrow Wilson as the 28th president of the United States a great many things in Princeton have assumed an historical value. Chief among these is the room occupied by Woodrow Wilson, Princeton, 1876. Valuable Effort, the Princeton sophomore who now occupies room number 7 in Witherspoon hall, did not know when he got it that it was historic. When he put a black coat of paint on the mantel and put up its various earrings of initials and records of athletic victories he fears that he covered up the initials of "T. W. W." for it was as "Tommy W. Wilson" that the president-elect was known in his college days. It is said that he later dropped the first name so as to have a name of 13 letters because he believed 13 a lucky number. No initials can be found, however, that mark the one-time presence of Wilson, the undergraduate. College flags and the decorations of another age adorn the walls, but above the study desk is a campaign drawing of Wilson with his signature on it.

The Woodrow Wilson room is on the second floor of Witherspoon hall, a gray stone building erected in 1877, when Wilson was a junior of college. On his walks through the campus in the last few days the president-elect has looked up affectionately at the window of his old room and pointed it out to those accompanying him.

"I did a lot of studying in that room," he said. The room overlooks the open country where the battle of Princeton was fought in revolutionary days. Only a few hundred yards away is Nassau hall, where the first president of the United States came to receive the thanks of the Continental congress for his service in the Revolution. Not far away is the building of the American White society, founded by another Princeton graduate, James Madison, who also became a president of the United States.

INJURIES WERE FATAL

Man Fell From Landing to Mill Floor

Fred Langlois, aged 25 years, a well known resident of Granville, met with a fatal accident at the Abbott Worsted Company mills in Fiskeville yesterday morning. He was at work in the mill storehouse and fell from a landing to the concrete floor 20 feet below, striking on his head, which rendered him unconscious. His left arm and left foot were also broken. Medical aid was summoned and the doctors did all in their power to relieve the young man, but their efforts were fruitless. An automobile was summoned and the unfortunate man was hurried to his home in Granville. Dr. Gage of Lowell was called in consultation with the other physicians, and while all did everything possible, the young man passed away yesterday afternoon.

The accident happened about eight o'clock in the morning and the unfortunate young man never regained consciousness. His death is particularly sad, as he leaves a young wife, Edith Cote Langlois, the couple having been married only two months. He also leaves a father and mother and several brothers and sisters in Canada. The deepest sympathy is expressed to the bereaved family.

AWARDS BIG CONTRACT

To U. S. Steel Products Company

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Beginning the execution of its extensive plans for the permanent operation of the Panama canal, the canal commission has awarded a contract to the United States Steel Products company for seven million pounds of structural steel work to cost about $410,000.

The commission's plans are for works separate entirely from the canal construction and include the facilities for the repair of ships, the upkeep of the vast canal machinery itself, the handling of coal and liquid fuel for shipping and permanent office buildings and accommodations for the small army of employees which will be required to operate the canal. There will be a large force of clerks and engineers under permanent employment.

The present contract covers machine shops, forge shops, steel storage sheds, paint and car shops, planing mills, foundries, coke sheds, boiler houses, round houses and gas houses. This is only the beginning. Among the other facilities to be supplied are one thousand feet piers for commercial use at Balboa, two wharves and one pier at Cristobal, besides a mole and breakwater, to be followed by four other piers should the traffic justify it.

There will be a great dry-dock at Balboa, 1000 feet long, capable of accommodating any vessel that could pass through the canal locks. This will be on a rock foundation, built of concrete. A smaller dry-dock at Balboa will handle vessels up to 350 feet in length. As the government is going into the business of supplying merchant vessels with fuel, water and other supplies, the commission, according to the canal record, plans to have the main coaling plant on the Atlantic side, capable of handling and storing 200,000 tons of coal, one-half of which will be kept under water, where it has been found to better retain its gaseous contents. There will be a lesser coaling plant on the Pacific side at Balboa, capable of storing 100,000 tons of coal under and above water. In recognition of the rapid substitution of oil for coal as a marine fuel, the commission has planned to erect four steel tanks of 40,000 barrels capacity each, and contracts already have been placed for their construction.

The main repair shops for merchant vessels will be at Balboa. They will be on a large scale, covering a ground space of 25,000 square feet. As far as possible, the present machinery will be utilized in the new shops. One item of equipment peculiar to the canal will be one or two powerful floating cranes capable of handling the giant steel lock gates of the canal when repairs are needed.

FIRE DAMAGE $12,000

Summer Hotel and a Building Destroyed

HARWICH, Nov. 8.—The Harwich savings bank building and the hotel Winslow, a summer boarding house, were destroyed by fire early today. A joining property was saved only by a hard struggle. The hotel was valued at $7000 and the bank building at $5000. While the fire was burning bank officials entered the building opened the safe and removed all the contents to a place of safety. The cause of fire has not been determined.

VICTORS LOOK AT PLUMS

$72,500 in Federal Jobs in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The first big question of real importance to the democratic politicians of Massachusetts is relative to the view that President-elect Wilson will take of the big plum which he within his gift.

The federal offices are now held by republicans who have been there for many years.

The plums are worth $72,500 a year. The offices are being administered without hostile comment. Some of the officers in them are exceptionally good men. One thing is certain, the new president will be urged by the Massachusetts democratic leaders to make a clean sweep.

One of the big places is the collectorship of the port of Boston, now held by Edwin U. Curtis, formerly republican mayor of Boston. He was appointed two years ago by President Taft, who promoted him from the place as sub-treasurer. The salary is $8000.

Last spring Postmaster Mansfield was appointed for a four-year term. He is well liked by all those connected with the local office and has been prominent in carrying out the reforms of Mr. Hitteloek. The salary is $8000.

Other officers whose places are now much talked of are:

United States District Attorney Asst. P. French, salary $5000. Three assistant district attorneys, William H. Garland, E. Mark Sullivan and Daniel Shea, $2500 each. United States Marshal Guy Murchie, salary $5000. Murchie was a Rough Rider and was appointed by Colonel Roosevelt. Last spring he was reappointed by President Taft.

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR

Was Elected to the New York Legislature

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A street car conductor who did all his campaigning from the rear platform of the car over which he officiates is one of the successful Brooklyn candidates for the state legislature. He is Joseph Monahan, democrat, elected from a fifth-ward rock-ribbed republican district. His opponents, two lawyers, Edward Karutz, republican and Jacob Kernfeld, progressive, figured he would be a bad third, but the result gave him a plurality of nearly 3000 votes.

The accident took place about 5 o'clock, and was witnessed by a number of people. Little John Pegrosky had toddled down the street and was standing in the centre of the tracks, when his brother saw him and at the same time heard the approaching train.

He leaped to the tracks, and seizing the little boy, threw him to one side just as the train bore down upon him. He was thrown several feet his skull fractured, and he was injured internally.

Attractive New Stockings
From Paris comes the newest thing in silk hosiery—those embroidered with dots.

This may easily be done at home, and many who cannot afford to pay the exorbitant price asked for a pair of these pretty stockings may enjoy the luxury of owning several pairs.

Embroider the dots in a triangular shape upon the instep, placing them a uniform distance apart, carefully following the outside line of the triangle which you have basted on the stocking.

PRESENTED A PURSE OF GOLD

Rev. J. N. Jacques Remembered by the
School Children

Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis' church was last night the recipient of a purse of gold and other gifts from the children attending the parochial school of his parish, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of his birth. The presentation was made in the course of a delightful entertainment which was carried out in the school hall in Boldest street, and where the parents of the pupils, numbering about 500 had gathered.

The beloved pastor of St. Louis' church was born at Vercherre, Que., on

REV. J. N. JACQUES

Nov. 2, 1862 and spent the early days of his boyhood in his native village. He received his early education in the Catholic schools at Vercherre and studied for the priesthood at the college of the Assumptionist Fathers. After being ordained to the priesthood he remained in his diocese for several years and later came to Massachusetts. In 1904 when St. Louis' parish was organized he was sent to this city as pastor after serving in the same capacity at Cohasset, Mass., for a few years. Fr. Jacques at once gained the confidence of all his parishioners and soon he became a favorite with them.

The growth of the parish was such that after a couple of years the pastor called for a curate and Rev. Fr. Lacroix was sent to his aid, but his sojourn in Lowell was short for he was made pastor of the parish Fr. Jacques had left to come to this city, that in Cohasset.

Fr. Jacques is fond of children and they in turn have much love for him and they could not let his birthday anniversary pass unnoticed, so headed by the Sisters of the Assumption, who are in charge of the school, an entertainment program was arranged and the little ones filled a purse with gold to be presented to their pastor.

Monday afternoon a dress rehearsal of the program was held in the school hall in the presence of all the pupils and last night the little ones in their pretty regalia went over the same program in the presence of their parents and their pastor.

The hall was elaborately decorated for the occasion, the stage being decorated with potted plants and shrubbery, while in the center of the platform hung a large picture of Fr. Jacques with a gold inscription "1862-1912, Ad Multos Annos."

The presentation address was read by Wilmer Demout, while the gifts which consisted of a purse, a stole and a huge bouquet, were presented by Masters Sylvio Barrette and Raymond Carreau. This was followed by a few appropriate remarks by the pastor in the course of which he thanked his little friends for their mark of esteem and assured them he would never forget their kindness.

Among those who took part in the entertainment were Misses Ondia Lussier, Alice Ducharme, Evangelina Breault, Alice Desrosiers, Isabelle Lussier, M. Anna Asselin, Alice Lapointe, Laura Marotte, Marguerite Belhomme, Lelia Bousquet, Marie Bernard, Alphonse, Alice Bernard, Irone Pepin, Ida Lussier, Laurette Champagne, Delia Thibault, M. Anne Ouellette, Jeannette Michaud, Leliane Gaudin, Gelle Bolduc, Almo Lewis, Clara Breault, Gilberte Lemerise, Yvonne Lussier and Marie Asselin. The boys taking active part in the program were: George Toulpin, Walter Bolduc, Bernard Boudreau, Edouard Desrosiers, Wilmer Demout, Raymond Carreau and Sylvio Barrette.

The program consisted of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations and the splendid way it was rendered reflects much credit on the little ones and their teachers.

LITCHFIELD IS INDICTED

Case

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Wilford J. Litchfield, 16 years old, was arrested yesterday in his apartment in Hotel Normandie within an hour after being indicted by the grand jury in connection with the death of Frederick N. Whittier, who died last Monday morning after a week of poisoning.

Related to the wealthy Litchfield family of Southbridge, Litchfield enjoyed a large income and lived in ease in the hotel.

As a result of several conferences between Medical Examiner Loring and officials of the district attorney's office, it was decided that Litchfield had acted improperly in speech and behavior for six months. Beside the indictment on this charge, the grand jury yesterday returned one other indictment against him.

The accused took his arrest calmly. At police headquarters he talked with his attorney, Cornelius A. Parker. He was photographed and Acting Inspector James Claffin took his finger prints.

Whittier was not related to the family of the poor Whittier, as had at first been given out. He had frequented Litchfield's apartment and the latter had at different times given him money.

A wife, Whittier was adopted when 7 years old by a family named Woodbury, living near Worcester. Four years ago he ran away from home. He was 24 years old.

Wilford J. Litchfield was born in Southbridge. His relatives control the Litchfield Shuttle company, a large manufacturing concern.

He graduated from the Southbridge high school at the age of 18. He then went to Canton, N. Y., where he graduated from St. Lawrence University in 1904. At college he made few friends, and he was generally regarded as a youth of none too robust physique by his fellow students. He was always plentifully supplied with money, but was considered a poor student.

He returned to Southbridge and became known as an antiquarian and historian. He wrote a history of the town of Southbridge, which is now in the town library. He also specialized in genealogy and busied himself inquiring into his own family history. He removed to Boston a number of years ago.

Litchfield has for a number of years given prizes for excellence in modern languages at St. Lawrence and he has visited Canton, N. Y., each year. He was the first secretary of the Southbridge Y. M. C. A. He last visited his native town about four weeks ago. He is unmarried.

LONGWORTH DEFEATED

He is 100 Votes Behind
His Opponent

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—Unless the official canvass of the vote cast last Tuesday in the 1st congressional district shows a different result than that produced by the unofficial count, Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, candidate on the regular republican ticket, has been defeated for reelection by about 100 votes and Attorney Stanley Bowditch, democrat, will be the next representative.

The unofficial figures, every precinct having reported, indicate that Bowditch has 22,352 and Longworth 22,167 votes. The news of the probable defeat of Longworth came as a big surprise, for until yesterday morning it was thought that Longworth had won.

The partial returns which clerks employed by the election board had tallied, were found to be so far from correct that it is surprising that so great an error could have been made without it being discovered earlier.

Up to Wednesday afternoon, when the figures indicated Longworth would win by about 1000, no comparison of the total vote was made, but it was then discovered that the figures given out could not be correct, as they indicated fully 10,000 more votes cast in the 1st district than there are voters.

A recount still unofficial, then resulted in the figures that indicated Bowditch's election. But the result may be changed by the official canvass, as until the election board completes its work, it will not be positively known what the correct figures are.

The board of elections will require considerable time in arriving at the correct vote, as it will have to go back to the ballot box itself, in which are the ballot stubs, on which the totals must be recorded.

Mr. Bowditch said last night: "From the information I received I feel absolutely certain that I have been elected by a majority of 100 votes over Mr. Longworth. This represents a shrinkage of nearly 1800 votes in the announcements promulgated as to Mr. Longworth's alleged victory. Further than this I have nothing to say until the official count is made public."

Mr. Longworth said last night: "I have nothing to say until the official count is announced."

WHEN BILLY BURKE REALLY PAINTS

Over in England they wind up everybody's biography with the information—"recreations." Well, Miss Billie Burke's recreations used to be walking, motoring, and raking any newly mown lawn. But now all these are given up for painting. "Miss Burke calls it 'daubing.'" But she says: "It doesn't matter. It teaches me concentration, patience and repose, and then at night, curiously, I have to sing 'Mind the paint, my dearest; mind the paint.'"

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED

For Three Big Boston Concerns

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—C. F. Weed of Brookline, a lawyer, and Melroy H. Gibson of this city were appointed receivers by Judge Colt in the United States circuit court late yesterday afternoon by agreement of William S. Butler & Co., incorporated, the Gilchrist company and Everybody's store, incorporated, as a result of a situation that followed the recent tragic death of William E. Butler.

The capital stock of Butler's and Everybody's store is owned by a voluntary association, styled the Butler companies, which also holds the controlling interest in the Gilchrist company.

The financial condition of William S. Butler & Co., Inc., on the corner of Winter and Washington streets, was stated to be such as to necessitate the appointment of receivers, and the affairs of that corporation were so mingled with the other two concerns—Gilchrist's and Everybody's store—that both the latter, while solvent, deemed it expedient to intervene in the receivership proceedings brought against William S. Butler & Co., Inc., by Isaac McLean Sons company, a creditor, and to ask that the receivers named for the defendant in that action also be appointed to assume charge of their stores pending the adjustment of affairs.

The Butler company admitted the truth of the allegations, and in independent petitions the other concerns set forth their relations with the former through the late William E. Butler, indebtedness alleged.

In the main proceeding by Isaac McLean Sons company it is alleged that

W. S. Butler & Co., Inc., is indebted to it for labor and materials, said to consist of store fixtures, on an open account, to the extent of $25,000, though two promissory notes for $10,000 each and not yet due.

It is alleged that the total indebtedness of the concern is approximately $700,000, while the assets, consisting of stock and merchandise, are worth about $250,000. It is stated that the corporation is without sufficient cash capital or quick assets, and because of this lack, it is alleged, it would be necessary to close the store and sacrifice its assets unless receivers were appointed to take charge and borrow money on receivers' certificates.

Accompanying this bill were the intervening petitions of the other concerns. In the petition of the Gilchrist company it was stated that on March 29, 1912, William E. Butler purposed to execute a lease in the name and on behalf of Gilchrist company of due and full performance of the covenants of a lease between William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and Butler, as treasurer and managing officer of both corporations, namely, Gilchrist company and Butler & Co., effected an agreement that if Butler & Co. should not perform the covenants of the lease but should default thereon, then the Gilchrist company would execute a new lease for the unexpired term of the original lease.

In other words, Gilchrist company guaranteed the lease executed by William E. Butler's Sons company to William S. Butler & Co., Inc., of the property on corner of Washington and Winter streets.

The petition states that William E. Butler, as treasurer of the voluntary association referred to, borrowed money from the Gilchrist company and loaned the same to William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and the latter bought merchandise and the merchandise so bought was sold by W. S. Butler & Co., Inc., and also by the Gilchrist company, so that an adjustment must be made between the Gilchrist company and W. S. Butler & Co., Inc., or its creditors.

WILL NOT STOP BUSINESS

Prediction on Result of the Election

The Boston News Bureau printed the following editorial yesterday:

"The most remarkable as well as reassuring feature during the recent presidential campaign was the continued expansion of commerce and industry in the face of the general belief that the outcome would be the success of the democratic party, the tariff policies of which have been more or less opposed by manufacturers and business in general.

"Reports were sent out from Pittsburgh last week that there had been a lull in steel buying on the eve of election, but these statements were not based upon facts. Business of the U. S. Steel corporation in the last two weeks of October was far in excess of what it was in the first two weeks. Orders for a period ran as high as $9,000,000 a day. There is every reason to believe that the tonnage statement of the Steel corporation for October, to be published Nov. 9, will show a great increase in monthly output since the improvement began.

"Consensus of opinion in business circles is that the election of Woodrow Wilson will not check the upward trend of business. One of his efforts while in office will be to effect a readjustment of tariff, but it is not believed he will go about it in such a way as to destroy confidence.

"The opinion seems to be universal that business has gained such remarkable headway that nothing is likely to check activity for the next 12 months, at least.

"Orders on the books of the steel companies are enormous, and the petroleum, copper and other industries are flourishing.

"It may be a year before the democratic party gets down to business, so that one can form a definite idea as to the plans underlying for tariff reform, the policy to be pursued in matters of so-called monopolies. In the meantime, business is likely to continue undisturbed. A development that seems to show that manufacturers expect no interruption to business in the near future is found in the fact that two corporations doing business aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars a year have contracted for their steel requirements for the entire year of 1913."

Thrown From Wagon

Peter Tremblay of Granvilleville while driving home last night about 6:30 o'clock was thrown from his wagon near the corner of Middlesex and Main streets when his horse became frightened at a passing electric car.

In falling his head struck against a tree and he was dead for a short time. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital where an examination showed that he was suffering from a bad cut on the head, a cut on the nose and a general shaking up.

ANOTHER BIG DAY

Second Saturday at King's Money Raising Clothing Sale to be a Whooper.

King's great Money Raising Clothing Sale continues with enthusiasm, the keen buying keeping up despite the unseasonable and unusual weather.

And well it might for the offerings are certainly money savers and every man who keenly feels the need of saving a cent, should not idly pass this great chance by.

Last Saturday, which was the opening Saturday of this sale, will surely be surpassed this Saturday, both in volume of business and in values. While all needed furnishing goods may be found at big reductions it is the clothing that is featured heaviest in the reduction, for it is here that the money must be raised.

So, you men who need to buy a fall suit or overcoat get busy, and go to this sale—tomorrow. Go expecting great things and you won't be disappointed. Go expecting the biggest dollar's worth that you ever received in any clothing store in Lowell and you will find it. Go expecting to find a crowd and you will see it.

This sale should interest especially the large body of men who pay the popular prices of $10 and $15 for a suit or overcoat. If you're been accustomed to pay $15, go with $10 in your pocket and you'll get a $15 garment—or if you have a $20 suit in mind, come to King's and you'll get it and go out with a $5 bill still tucked away in your pocket.

Not only in men's clothing, but in boys' and children's things can big savings be made. Twenty-five per cent. reductions are common, while 33 and 40 per cent. is not unusual.

This great sale at King's is truly a GREAT SALE. No one should miss it. Make sure you benefit by it Saturday, 31 Merrimack street.

MONTHS OF ACTIVITY

By Government in Dynamite Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Four months of activity by labor leaders on the Pacific coast preceded the explosion in Los Angeles, Calif., according to letters and telegrams introduced by the government at the trial of the 45 accused "dynamite plotters" yesterday.

From telegrams and letters read to the jury the government set forth that four months before the Times Building was blown up Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco, who was instructed to investigate labor conditions in Los Angeles, telegraphed to John J. McNamara.

"The fight is on in Los Angeles. We are going to win. Send Hocken at once."

McNamara wired Clancy: "Better get a man in Los Angeles to do the work. Hocken too busy in the east."

Clancy went to Seattle, Wash., and on Aug. 15, 1910, H. W. Pollman, a labor leader there, wrote to J. J. McNamara: "Clancy met his man here. I think I understand the situation."

James B. McNamara was in Seattle and the government charges that Clancy met him. On Aug. 31 an office building under construction there was blown up. At this time $1000 was voted by the Iron Workers' union executive board to the California building trades council for promoting the union at Los Angeles. A receipt, signed by Orla A. Tveitmo, secretary of the council, was produced.

James B. McNamara visited San Francisco and later went to Los Angeles, where he blew up the Times building Oct. 1. Clancy visited Michael J. Young, Boston, another defendant, but, according to telegrams, went back to San Francisco when he heard 21 people had been killed.

The government contends the correspondence shows that McNamara's mission to the Pacific coast was known to Clancy, Tveitmo and to J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, who is charged with harboring the dynamiter for two weeks after the explosion.

Testimony that dynamite was taken to the Iron Workers' headquarters in Indianapolis until shortly before the McNamaras were arrested was given by Chief Hyland of Indianapolis.

Man Fatally Injured PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Charles Parmenter, 68 years old, was pinned under an overturned coal wagon on Steere avenue yesterday and fatally injured when the horse he had been driving ran away. The elderly man sustained several fractured ribs and a gash over the right temple, and it is considered he has a fractured skull.

While waiting for physicians to arrive a priest administered the last rites of the Catholic church.

And They Will Walk and Walk and Walk

F. D. Underwood and Dr. J. H. Finley Plan Trip

F. D. UNDERWOOD, WALKING WITH MRS. E. H. HARRIMAN, EDWARD PAYSON WESTON, Champion Walker

JOHN H. FINLEY
The teacher and the railroad man
Walked on a hill or so.
And then they rested on a rock
Conveniently low.

—After Lewis Carroll.

Well, do you blame them for resting on a rock or anywhere else? From New York to Chicago is a long "chill" for a man of forty-nine and a man of sixty. Just think of it—a thousand miles, more or less, and all on foot. And one of the two men who are going to make the trip is Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, which runs trains between the two cities. He is the older of the two. The younger companion is Dr. John H. Finley, president of the college of the city of New York. They're going to take the walk from New York to Chicago, not because they want especially to get to the latter city nor yet because they haven't the price of the railroad fares. They're going to walk it because they like walking and because they have agreed to do so. When men of the caliber and determination of Dr. Finley and Mr. Underwood agree on a thing that is within the bounds of possibility the rest of the world may as well consider it done, having accidents. President Underwood took the same trip eighteen years ago. The two walkers got together shortly after the Finley trip and the walk to Chicago was proposed. The two men will follow as far as practicable the route of the Erie railway, that at night they may use a special car for sleeping quarters. When possible they will also turn to the car at noon for luncheon, and it will serve for bathing and change of clothing. Dr. Finley said not long ago he believed it would take him and Mr. Underwood a month to complete the trip, but it is now believed that the two men (Mr. Underwood has some of the perils of that comes to men of his age who do not engage in severe manual labor) will be able to do more than twenty-five miles a day. That would mean forty days for the "chill." This would exceed the rate made last May by Mrs. Beach Beach of New York, who walked from New York to Chicago on a route measuring 1971 miles in forty-two and a half walking days. Of course neither Mrs. Beach nor President Finley and Underwood could hope to compete with Edward Payson Weston, champion professional pedestrian of the world, who "hoofed it" from New York to the Pacific coast in the summer of 1909. On his outward journey Mr. Weston traversed 1247 miles walking days. Investigation shows that the United States has an amazingly small number of prominent men who are known as walkers. In this respect America differs from Great Britain, for the sister races of the British isles have many pedestrians of high standing in other "walks of life," so to speak. But in the United States the men of mark seem to prefer wearing out automobile tires to wearing out sole leather.

President Taft is not a poor walker, considering his girth. Colonel Roosevelt is at home at foot and on horseback. Chief Justice White and Cardinal Farley are fond of long walks, and Mayor Gaynor's trips about from his home in Brooklyn to the New York city hall have been mentioned in newspapers frequently.

Doctors say it would be a good thing for Americans and others if the example of Railroad President Underwood and College President Finley stirred others to emulation, not necessarily of the undertaking of a walk from New York to Chicago or from the latter city to the former, but of the taking of long walks. There is practical unanimity among the members of the medical profession on the benefits of walking. Many a man who sees in his expanding waist line an evidence of advancing age could ward off the feeling of alarm which the increase engenders by walking to and from his work.

Not long ago the Inspector General of the United States army declared that the staff sergeants from the Philippines are too stout and recommended long daily walks in order to reduce their weights. A newspaper commentator on the order says:

"In the brisk fall weather walking is a delight. The pity is that so many do not appreciate the joy of it. Walking has always been one of the real resources of humanity, but at present the general mental attitude of the general public is such as to discourage it. The feeling is that he who goes about has somehow failed in life. Had he succeeded he would be whisked through space by an automobile, but as he is walking he must be at least a well meaning failure. Such is the attitude which has cut off one of the splendid common delights of man."

A BLUE HOG

Is the Latest Product of the Pork Raising Industry—Result of Years of Experimenting

PEABODY, Nov. 8.—A blue hog is the latest product of the pork raising industry. The new breed is the result of years of experimenting by a Peabody livestock company. Hitherto the hog has been white, black or red, but never blue, although there were 65,000,000 porters in the United States last New Year's. Peabody now boasts of a herd of 100 blue piglets.

The animals are described as "quiet and gentle, behaving in certain cases on a display of affection for the keepers."

English System Not Liked

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The English system of refereeing boxing matches with the official sitting outside the ropes is a thing of the past at New York boxing clubs. The system has been given a four weeks' trial at the Forty-fourth street sporting club and has not with disapproval not only from the club officials, but also from the state athletic commission.

WIRE TAPPING GAME

Four Men Arrested in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—On the complaint of Dr. J. W. Powell and Durby C. Sibley, a lawyer, both of Wilmington, N. C., the New York police yesterday arrested two men on a charge of having defrauded the southerners out of $25,000 through a "wire tapping" swindle. Sibley identified one prisoner as a man who posed as a telegraph company official. The lawyer says he lost $22,000.

The prisoners gave the names of "Charles Daly" and Frank Graham. The police have then booked, however, as Charles and Frank Gendoff, 60 years old, whom they described as an international swindler and the originator of the wire tapping game.

He gave his name as John Kay, but the police say he has after posed as "Sir John Gray," and that he had been more widely known as "Paper Collar Joe."

Although "Paper Collar Joe" gave his name as Kay, his real name is Krakow. He is more than 60 years old and is said to have been a confidence man practically all his life. One of the notable cases in which he figured was the swindling of a man named Koke out of $103,000 in a fixed card game at Naples.

On complaint of Simon Jones of Pittsburgh that he lost $20,000 in the same sort of swindle as that to which the southerners fell victims and in the same house, Charles Carbol also was arrested. All of the prisoners were held in heavy bail for examination next week.

The police say it is a puzzle to them that with so much publicity given to the old wiretapping swindle, even an occasional victim is found.

In the case of the southerners, it is alleged $5000 was spent in staging the swindle. A "steerer" from New York, with his wife, took up residence in Wilmington, and entertained lavishly, and through them Dr. Powell and Sibley were told how to "beat the game" in New York.

BOOKS EXAMINED

No Known Shortage in New England Workmen Funds, Though Suicide Causes Anxiety

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Four attaches of the office of the state insurance commissioner went to work yesterday on the books of Frederick R. Phillips, general secretary of the New England Workmen, who shot and killed himself in a shed in the rear of his home in Central Falls Wednesday. It is expected several days will be taken up before the investigation will be completed.

It is not known that there is anything wrong with the books, though the suicide of Phillips after he had made an appointment to meet the commissioner has created anxiety.

Gen. Treas. William M. Moore of the New England Workmen said this afternoon that the funds of the order are held in trust in various banks throughout this city and Pawtucket, and in order to draw any amount from either institution would require an order signed by the trustees. He did not know of any way by which an individual could gain access to the funds.

The trustees announced yesterday that funds of the order to the amount of $3,536,432 are on deposit, with all claims paid and no liabilities.

ASSAULT CASE HEARD COMPANY G ANNUAL

At Afternoon Session of Police Court Pleasant Social Event at State Armory

There was an afternoon session of the police court yesterday. The cases of Timothy McDonald charged with assault and battery on Annie Sheldon and Wm. R. Lyness were called. It was alleged that both assaults took place in Pawtucketville on the night of Oct. 21. The case of assault on the Lyness boy was taken up first.

Eva Curran of 179 School street was the first witness called by the government. On the night of the assault she said she saw a crowd of boys running through Waterford street and later saw Mr. McDonald with the two Lyness boys. He had each of them by their coat collars. On cross-examination she said that she heard loud voices prior to the appearance of the boys and the latter were shouting "Cheese it; here's the old man." Subsequently Mr. McDonald came out of a nearby field with the boys. Mrs. Sheldon came up at this time and demanded that Mr. McDonald let the boys go, but he refused to do so and told Mrs. Sheldon he would take her with him, too, but she got away. Mr. McDonald then took the boys and sat them on his door steps, but they had not been there very long before they ran away.

Glady's Curran, sister of the preceding witness, offered the same testimony as that offered by her sister.

Mrs. Annie Sheldon said her attention was attracted by the screams of children in a field. She ran over to the field and saw Mr. McDonald with the two Lyness children. When she told him to leave the children alone but he refused to do so and then grabbed Mrs. Sheldon by the arm. She said "Let go your coward," and in answer he swore and added, "You will go, too," and dragged her for a distance of about three yards she said, when she succeeded in breaking away from him. She said that Mr. McDonald held her arm so tightly that it was black and blue. She showed the marks to the court.

William Lyness, aged nine years, said he and his brother were passing through a field near Mr. McDonald's house when Mr. McDonald grabbed them and started to drag them away. He said that neither he nor his brother had bothered the man during the night and were on their way to their home when the defendant grabbed them. "Another said he was told that about 30 or 40 big boys in the field but he was not with them. Some of the big boys were throwing stones at Mr. McDonald's house. Prior to throwing the stones at the house one of the boys testified that he saw Mr. McDonald in the street. When Mr. McDonald left the house the big boys ran away.

Annie Gardner, a little girl, saw some boys shooting beans at windows, run the door bell of Mr. McDonald's house and extinguish the street light, and later saw Mr. McDonald run out of the house and into the field where he grabbed the Lyness boys.

Mr. Lyness, father of the two boys, said he had known Mr. McDonald for a long time and had been very friendly with him. Witness arrived home shortly after 11 o'clock on the night of the assault and found his son William had blood on his face and hands and one of his knees was scraped. The younger boy was in an excited frame of mind. Mr. Lyness telephoned to Dr. Bennett and the latter attended the boys. He said after he learned that the boys had been beaten by their first thought was to get revenge.

The government rested its case at this point. Timothy J. McDonald of Starbird street, the defendant, testified: "After eating supper I sat down to read and smoke and had been there but a short time when I heard stones and shot hits being thrown against the house. The volley of stones continued for about five minutes when I went to the door. I found that the street light was out and I gave my son a match to light the gas. After the lamp was lighted the stones were thrown and I entered the hallway. I then ran across the street and into the field and my son followed me. I found the older Lyness boy crouching behind a fence and my son got the younger boy. I took the boys by the collars and had walked about 50 yards when Mrs. Sheldon came up behind me and grabbed me by the vest and said: 'Let go of those children.' I succeeded in breaking her hold on me and then I took her by the arm and told her she had better come along, until I saw who she was. She broke away from me and I then took the boys up my steps. A big crowd gathered outside the house and they started to shout and jeer at me.

After all of the testimony had been offered and arguments had been made by counsel Judge Barlett found McDonald guilty on both complaints and ordered him to pay a fine of $5 for assaulting the Lyness boy and $5 for assaulting Mrs. Sheldon.

PROBABLY ARRESTED

Aeronaut's May Have Been Taken For Spies

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—Friends of John Watts of Kansas City, pilot of the balloon Daedalus II in the international James Gordon Bennett trophy race again are worrying about him. Since he started in the race a week ago last Sunday only one message, a cablegram of four words has been received from him. It announced simply that he and his wife, Arthur T. Altherholt, were in Pskov, Russia, and that they were safe and free. The cablegram was received by George H. Meyers, president of the Kansas City Aero club yesterday. Mr. Meyers believes that the two aeronauts have been arrested by Russian officials who mistook them for spies.

The American embassy at St. Petersburg and the American legations at Stockholm and Copenhagen have been asked to aid in locating the missing men.

THE WAR WITH TURKEY

how to keep the world guessing as to their true intentions. The Turkish army and people apparently want the war carried on to the bitter end and on despatch from Constantinople says the Ottoman government has agreed to do this.

Kiamil Pasha, the aged grand vizier, however, will doubtless make a determined diplomatic effort to save Constantinople for his country. In fact, a German paper publishes a despatch from Sofia, which says Kiamil Pasha has already approached Bulgaria direct to begin negotiations for peace.

The situation at Constantinople itself continues to cause grave apprehension. Many foreign warships are gathering of semi-starvation and utterly demoralized, are said to have set fire to all the houses in the village.

A disease resembling cholera has broken out among the wounded Turkish soldiers arriving in Constantinople. There is every indication here now that the war against the Balkan allies will be continued to the bitter end and advised by Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief.

Officers of the army join with the Turkish press in applauding the determination of the commander-in-chief to continue the fight and it is stated that the population of the Turkish empire is ready to assist by every means in its power. At the same time many Moslems are said to have sworn to sacrifice their lives in order to safeguard the glory of Islam.

The Yeni Gazette says today: "If Europe wishes to tear up treaties garden cabinet maintains the absolute necessity of any peace negotiations with Turkey being conducted directly with the Balkan nations in order to ensure the future position of the various states involved and to prevent the danger of further conflict after the war has ceased.

The government organ, Mir, expresses surprise that Turkey recognizes her defeat but ignores the victors and continues to seek salvation from the powers. The newspaper remarks that such mediation in the past has proved costly for Turkey territorially and if persisted in now may cause her Asiatic empire to become a second Egypt.

To the other horrors threatening the Turkish capital must be added that of a disease something like cholera, which is said to have been introduced by the fugitive troops from the front.

While some quarters believe the omens are favorable for an amicable settlement of the political situation arising out of the claims of the Balkan allies and of the time-expired soldiers of the Russian army in active service with their regiments until next spring. This places the Russian army practically on a war footing as the order affects several hundred thousand men whose places would in the ordinary course have been taken by the same number of recruits, who have just been called up.

It is announced that the government has taken this step as the best means of preventing war and it is thought that this can only mean that the government foresees the possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan situation.

The detention of the time-expired men will entail a cost of many millions.

MAN COLLECTED MONEY

Says He Was on the Titanic

A man who gave the name of Elzeu Sauvageau, succeeded in collecting money among many of the local merchants during the past few days, by telling a story of his escape from death while aboard the steamship Titanic. The man claimed he was a passenger aboard the fatal ship and that while boarding a small craft which had been dropped from the large steamer, he was shot twice in the back by one of the others. He also tells that four others of the passengers were killed.

Sauvageau carries along with him a certificate from a local physician to the effect that he bears two scars on his back, probably caused by bullets, and this is what he shows as a proof of having been on the Titanic. As a matter of fact he has two bullet scars on his back, but according to the physician who examined him, the wounds were made probably years ago.

Sauvageau claims to have arrived in this city Wednesday after being confined in a hospital in New York since the fatal disaster. Yesterday afternoon he called on several business men in upper Merrimack street and after relating his story he asked for a little cash in order to keep him until Tuesday, at which time he said he would go to Canada to his sister, who would take care of him. A well known proprietor of a pool room near the corner of Cabot street, being somewhat interested in the story as told him, supplied the man with ready cash and later hired a room for him and paid his board for one week.

His neighbor, a piano dealer, was also touched for money. The supposed survivor of the Titanic disaster went into a furniture store in Allen street this morning and there again told his story. He said he was a passenger aboard the Titanic, and related a pitiful story as to how the steerage passengers were treated. He said he was playing cards with other people when the boat struck the iceberg, and a short time later they were all on the deck. He and several others got hold of a boat, he said, which was hanging on chains on the side of the ship and after dropping it to the water, he said the officers of the crew fired at them and killed four, while several others were wounded, he receiving two bullets in the back. "How ever," he finally made out his way into the small craft, continued Sauvageau, "and a few minutes later we were rowing toward the shore. The next day we were picked up by the Carpathia and brought to New York, where I was sent to a hospital."

"Last week," said Sauvageau, "the mayor of New York called on me at the hospital and when I told him I would be out in a week, he said he would see me again, and Tuesday when I came out of the institution I met him at the door and it was he who paid my fare to Lowell, for he was dead broke, having lost all of my money with my clothing on the Titanic." He also told of how one man carried along with him $60,000,000 in gold which he placed in the safe of the large ship, and which went down with the rest of the goods.

A young man who was listening to the story asked him to prove that he had been aboard the Titanic, to which Sauvageau replied he had all the necessary proofs in his room. The man from the Titanic was then apprised of the fact that begging or soliciting money in this city is strictly forbidden by law, and he made a hasty retreat, promising he would stop if he was forgiven. The little trick succeeded for a couple of days, but it is believed that Sauvageau will now have a hard time in working that game in this city.

BANDITS ENTER TRAIN

And Get Away With Loot Worth $40,000

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 8.—Bandits boarded a southbound express on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Mount Springs early today, entered the mail car, awed the clerks by a flourish of revolvers, took possession of several mail pouches and then signalled for the engineer to stop the train and escaped in the country a few miles north of Birmingham.

One report said the robbers got lost worth $40,000. Posses are on their trail.

Machine Exploded

Considerable excitement was caused at the card clothing and phonograph plant in Wilson street owned by the estate of the late Walter H. Barnshaw about 10:45 o'clock this morning when a machine used for tempering needles exploded and set fire to the interior of the building.

Word was immediately telephoned to the central fire station and when the firemen arrived on the scene the blaze was extinguished before any material damage was done.

The principal damage was to the machine which exploded, but fortunately no was injured by the flying pieces of steel.

FOUR GUNMEN ARE TO TESTIFY

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Two hundred [Herman Rosenthal at Charles Becker's] talesmen reported at the criminal building. Another murder case occurs courts building for the trial of Whitey [sic] Justice Goff's attention; this Lewis, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood and morning, but it was expected that it Dago Frank, indicted for murdering, would be concluded by noon or soon thereafter, when the selection of the jury to try the alleged gunmen was to begin. Until last night counsel for the four men had insisted on a separate trial for each, but an eleventh hour decision resulted in an agreement to try them together. It is expected that all four will take the stand in their own behalf. The state's chief witnesses will be "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgey" Webster and the other informers who figured so prominently in the Becker trial.

The new assembly room is now located over the Palmer street store, in the quarters formerly occupied by the Foresters. The carpenter work, which was in charge of Burton H. Wiggin Co. was completed this week, and now the painters are at work, placing the finishing touches on the room. The new quarters will be connected with the former rooms, and the latter also are receiving repairs. When completed the local lodge will have one of the best appointed suites in this section of the country.

CELLARS WERE FLOODED

Rain Storm Heaviest for Some Time

The rainfall last night was one of the heaviest in this city for some time, for according to the officials of the Locks & Canals Co. over an inch of water fell over Lowell in the course of the night.
A shower broke out in the latter part of the afternoon and the result was that the mill people, who did not expect it, were drenched almost to the skin. It was a continuous downpour until shortly after 8 o'clock, when the rain ceased, to again resume its downpour later in the evening.
As a result of the heavy rain at 6 o'clock the no-school signal was sounded for the evening schools. The rain poured again in torrents at midnight and this was continued until late this morning.
Many cellars were flooded and a number of sidewalks and streets in the city suffered considerable damage, which was caused by the flowing of a heavy stream which carried along dirt and stones. The rain brought forth a warm spell, and this was so unexpected that many reported this morning they could not sleep, the atmosphere being so heavy. However, there was a big change this morning, for a cold wind was blowing and the streets were soon dried.

THE TINSMITHS BUSY

Plenty of Business This Season

The tinsmiths report a rushing business these days and all are wearing that "smile that won't come off." The members of this craft have about three busy months during the year, these being September, October and November, and during that time they are obliged to work hard to meet their orders.
The cause of the extra business at this time of the year is due to the fact they all are preparing for the winter months and are fixing up before the snow flies. Copings, gutters, drainage pipes, stove pipes, etc., are in great demand and all dealers are kept on the go. The employees, however, understand the situation and are willing to exert themselves for during the other months their business is dull.
With the erection of a number of buildings at present, the tin and copper business is much better than ordinarily during the three busy months, but the dealers are meeting their orders and filling them satisfactorily.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

Given By the Bachelor Club in Associate Hall Last Evening Under the Auspices of the Athols

The members of the 20th Century Bachelor club gave an excellent concert in Associate hall last evening, the group appearing under the auspices of the Athols, at the annual social and dancing party of that organization. Despite the inclement weather there was a good crowd present and all enjoyed the evening's program. The concert was given under the direction of Charles D. Slattery, with Richard Noonan accompanist and the program was as follows:
Opening chorus, entire company: "The Girl I Call My Sweetheart Must Look Like You," John Devlin; "You're My Baby," "Babe" Rogers; "The Song Divine," Gene McCarthy; "The Syncopated Boogie Woogie," James Roane; "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," James E. Donnelly; "I'm the Guy," William Marren; "In the Shadows," William Gookin; "Mr. Flanagan," Ed. Shea; "Good Bye, My Love, Good Bye," John Dalton; "Waiting for the Robert L. Lee," Walter Davis; finale, "Mary Was My Mother's Name," John Gleason.
After the concert dancing was enjoyed to music by Kittredge's orchestra. The officers in charge of the party were:

High School Football
South Boston, an old and friendly rival of the Lowell high school will be the opponent of the latter in a football game on the Washington park gridiron tomorrow afternoon.
It appears that the Hub boys are not especially strong this year, although nothing definite is known to substantiate this statement and the locals should bring down another victory. Lowell high has been scored on but once so far this season, the only team able to accomplish that feat being Manchester. Coach Mahoney feels that this far the team has been experiencing too little difficulty against the lighter teams and as a consequence a hard contest has been arranged for next Friday afternoon when Lawrence Academy of Groton will come here with a heavy and fast eleven. This promises to be "some game" and should put the home team in condition for the still bigger contest against Haverhill on November 22.
It is thought that Leggat, former captain of Lowell high and now playing with Rock Ridge academy, will attempt to bring the latter team to Lowell on the morning of Thanksgiving day and if he succeeds it will prove a fitting wind up for a successful season. Game tomorrow starts at three o'clock. Admission is as usual 25 cents and automobiles will be allowed within the grounds.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

All who desire to attend the school should meet Mr. Nelson at the Old Moody school, East Merrimack street, opposite High street tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Memorial Lest ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 3.—A huge bar of granite with the freight car that contains it has been lost or stolen between North Chiles, N. Y., and the quarry in Vermont. The shaft holds the memorial monument to Rev. T. B. Roberts, founder of the Cheshire seminary and one of the first bishops of the Free Methodist church. Churchmen and college presidents gathered at North Chiles when the monument was to be unveiled. When the crowd reached the site of the memorial they found only the foundation and the ceremony had to be postponed.

DAKOTA DAN ASKS JURY PROBE

His Attorney Also Pleaded for an Inquiry But Both Requests Were Denied

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The sessions of the hearing of the Russell identity case at East Cambridge yesterday were quite exciting, the main features of the day being Attorney William R. Scharton's attempt to have the case taken up by the grand jury and his declaration in the open court that the counsel for the estate are using unfair methods in conducting the case.

"Dakota Dan," who contends that he is the real Daniel Blake Russell, heir to half the estate, himself went to the foreman of the grand jury, now in session, and earnestly pleaded that some action be taken to settle the matter as soon as possible.

Mr. Scharton, "Dakota Dan's" counsel, asked District Attorney Higgins to place both "Dakota Dan" under heavy bonds as a preliminary proceeding to action by the grand jury. He argued that perjury has been committed by either one or the other.

The district attorney declined to take up the matter, saying that it would be unwarranted interference on his part to do so, while the case is in the civil court. He intimated that the appearance of the two "Daks" before the grand jury may be required just as soon as the present hearing is ended.

Foreman Benjamin Taft of Ayer was seen by the "Dakota" and he said that the jury could not consider the matter unless it came to them through the office of the district attorney.

The slowness with which the case is progressing caused an outburst from Atty. Scharton. It occurred while Mr. Nason was reading from a two-page newspaper article a portion which had to do with Daniel Blake Russell's desire for a new suit of clothes, and during the reading of which Mr. Scharton had entered many objections.

"There have been unfair methods used in this case right along," shouted Mr. Scharton.

He declared that Mr. Upton of the counsel for the estate was sitting up hours every night seeking out some trifling matter in the former records, and when he or his clerks found it it was given to Mr. Nason, who "obeyed the mandate of Mr. Upton," and introduced it in court the next day.

The matter of dimples and the formation of lobes of ears was given considerable attention in the afternoon session. Mr. Nason entering as exhibits photographs of faces and ears of Wm. C. Russell, members of the Rousseau family and of the claimant.

The claimant admitted that he had refused to answer questions in Melrose when he returned in 1909, because he found that his brother was not allowed to talk. He would not answer questions, he said, unless he was permitted to talk with William.

Mr. Nason finished his cross examination of the claimant, which has been in progress 33 court days, and Mr. Scharton began his redirect examination.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

Thanks Municipal Council for Resolutions

Some time ago the municipal council passed resolutions upon the occasion of Archbishop O'Connell's elevation to the cardinalate. The resolutions were very beautifully gotten up, the work being done by James Shanley, teacher of penmanship in the Lowell High School. The work was exquisite, the binding was faultless and the colors appropriate. In order to insure safe delivery, Mayor O'Donnell despatched the city messenger to Boston with the resolutions and they were delivered at the archbishop's house. A few days ago Mayor O'Donnell received a very nice letter from Cardinal O'Connell. The letter was accompanied by an autographed photograph and bronze medal of his eminence, and was as follows:

Archbishop's House, Boston, November 2, 1912.
To His Honor, James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell:

Your Honor—

I can scarcely express in words the gratification I feel upon receiving the noble gift of the resolutions passed by the city government upon the occasion of my elevation to the cardinalate. The sight of such a generous testimonial to my poor merits, illuminated so exquisitely as it is, and so beautifully bound, fills my heart with gratitude to your honor, the city government and the people of my native city. May God's choicest blessings be upon you all. I am, Your Honor, very gratefully yours,

W. Card. O'Connell, App., Boston.

To His Honor, Mr. James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell.

PHOTOS OF SCOTLAND

To Illustrate Work of Sir Walter Scott

Some very fine photographic views of Scotland are being exhibited at the public library. They represent scenes in the novels and poems of Sir Walter Scott and were taken by Charles S. O'Leary for the Houghton Mifflin company's new edition of Scott's works, including the Waverley novels and the poems. Even though one must strain a point it is well worth one's while to see these beautiful photographs. They fill one with the romance and beauty of the scenes so vividly described by Scott in his novels and in his great poems, "The Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Marmion" and "The Lady of the Lake," and others that remain today among the most popular narrative poems in the language.

The photographs are being exhibited in the exhibition room on the first floor. They were placed in position yesterday and they have already attracted a great deal of attention. The Waverley novels, as was remarked at the library this morning, have maintained their popularity through generation after generation, until now, 100 years after they were written, the picture of a place mentioned by the author possesses fascination greater than if the scene were new instead of old. The pictures are supposed to represent the scenes very much as Scott saw them. The natural scenery: mountains, woods, lakes, rivers, sea-shore and the like—is nearly the same as in Scott's day. The ruins of ancient abbeys and castles are said to correspond very closely with his descriptions. In many instances, it is true, Scott in imagination rebuilt these ruins and filled them with the children of his fancy, but it is extremely interesting to know just what he used as the basis of the imaginary structures. The pictures exhibited at the library include scenes in "Woodstock," "Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Bride of Triermain," "Rokeby," "Lord of the Isles," "Fair Maid of Perth," "Rob Roy," "Old Mortality," and other of Scott's works that have held the attention of the English-speaking world for a century. The very historic spots include "Dundrennan Abbey," where Mary, Queen of Scots, passed her last night in Scotland; the entrance to Warwick Castle, where Queen Elizabeth stopped on her way to Leicester's reception at Kenilworth; and Coningsburgh castle, a typical Norman keep, the home of Athelstone in "Ivanhoe."

There was a regular pyrotechnic display for a short time, but the members of Engine 5 were summoned and they soon succeeded in disintangling the debris from the wire.

The firemen were called to the premises of Henry A. Lamhart at 283 Paw-nuck street about 9 o'clock to extinguish a fire in a pile of rubbish in the yard. A fire had been started in the afternoon and it was thought that the heavy rain in the latter part of the night had extinguished it, but evidently it had been smoldering and broke out again about 9 o'clock. The fire was extinguished before any damage was

Grace Church

A supper was held at the Grace Universalist church last night which was followed by a most pleasing entertainment. The evening's program was managed by the Ladies' Alliance of the church. A good sized crowd was present in spite of the rainy weather. The supper was served at 6.30 o'clock and was in charge of Mrs. J. L. Joyce and Mrs. F. M. Lazelle. The dining room was presided over by Mrs. C. N. Woodward and an able corps of assistants.

The entertainment, which was given under the personal supervision of Mrs. Dazelle Dunlap Brown, provided the most enjoyable feature of the evening. It consisted of a program of music given by "The Meister Singers," and included several pleasing numbers. The opening was a series of popular songs by the entire company, and then followed the numbers: Song, "The Bell in the Deep Blue Sea," Harry Needham; "In the Vale of Tears," Harold Patten; "Dreams, Just Dreams," W. R. Henderson; "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Osmond Long; "Good Night, Little Girl," Good Night, Mr. Henderson; "Mind Your Own Business," Mr. Patten; "The Glow Worm," Mr. Long; Miss Kathrine Jeannotte was the accompanist of the evening.

WOOD HOLDS SHUT OUT RECORD

"Smokey Joe" Twirled Ten
Goose Egg Games During
the Season of 1912

Joe Wood of the Boston Red Sox, who was the American league's greatest distributor of goose eggs last season, blanked five of the seven teams that faced him, Cleveland and Philadelphia alone escaping. Smokey Joe whitewashed the Highlanders three, the Nationals, Browns and White Sox each twice and the Tigers once.

Three of the Bostonian's wins were marked by the narrowest possible deciding score, 1 to 0, the pitchers he conquered being Walter Johnson, Edgar Willett and George McConnell. When Wood kept the Tigers from the plate he had to toil for 11 innings and then a tumble by Jim Delahanty was of great assistance to the Red Sox in getting their one run.

Wood was the lone American leaguer to reach double figures in whitewashes. Walter Johnson of the Nationals was the runner up to Wood in using the brush, Ed Walsh of Chicago third, another Eddie—the left-handed Plank of Philadelphia—being No. 4.

Boston was the hardest team to whitewash and Chicago the easiest. All told there were 79 games in which one team was whitewashed and one contest in which both drew cypers.

Below will be found the pitchers' records in shut-outs for 1912:

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Pennsylvania will try to find its way back to the football map by defeating Michigan at Franklin field, Nov. 9. For the past few days the coaches have been strengthening the weak points on the eleven, and now they believe it is strong enough to take the Wolverines into camp. Roy Mercer, captain of the team and one of the best backs of the football world a year ago is literally

"shot to pieces," as the saying goes. Constant training for almost a year is beginning to tell. The Quakers have three games left to play with Michigan, Carlisle and Cornell. They may win one of the three, but the season already has been stamped a failure almost a disgrace. It is more than likely that Harrington will take Mercer's place at fullback. He has played a consistently good game at right halfback in all the games.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The main event of 12 rounds between Terry Brooks of New York and Jack Redmond of Milwaukee at the Unity club last night was a fizzle as both men, although repeatedly warned by referee Jim Crilly, refused to deliver the goods and stalled through the seven rounds they went, at the end of which Brooks dropped to the floor, claiming his neck was injured.

Brooks tried to lose on a foul in the fifth, but referee Crilly refused to allow it, and after telling the men for the sixth time to go in and fight, they resumed, but continued stalling until Brooks went down. A large number of members were much disappointed with the bout. It was clearly no fault of the management of the club.

The semi-final was the star bout between Fighting Joe Carroll and Young Delmont, both of Lawrence. They went eight fast rounds, fighting hard all the way through, and Carroll was awarded the decision.

Joe Sears of Lawrence defeated Young Harrington of Amesbury in the third round of their scheduled six-round bout. Noah Brusso of Boston will meet Kid Mercer of Lawrence at the club next Thursday.

Busting Soccer Notes
The opponents of the Bunting Soccer Football team tomorrow afternoon on Bunting field in South Lowell will be Andover united, the game starting at 3 o'clock. As a great deal of rivalry exists between these two teams, a good game is expected and should be treated as it was on the last occasion by a good crowd. The local team will be selected from the following players: Birwistle, Smith, Kelly, Smith, Mahon, Moserian, Graham, Burrows, J. Kelly, Gregg, Mitchell, C. Walker, Clayton, Caniffie, O'Brien, Carman, Linesman Kennedy. All players are requested to report at the ground at 2:30.

The following games will be played in the Lowell, Lawrence and District league tomorrow afternoon: Lawrence vs. the Manchester Blues at Manchester; referee, Ritchie. Andover vs. the Bunting club at South Lowell; referee, Stockley. Clive McPherson vs. Methuen at Methuen; referee, Schofield. Manchester United vs. the Lawrence Olympics at Lawrence; referee, Houston.

Foreign Missions
The Woman's Board of Missions (Congregational) will hold its annual meeting at Andover in the South church, Nov. 13 and 14. Delegates from the principal parts of New England are to be present and a very interesting program has been arranged.

The sessions will begin at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. with a meeting Wednesday evening. The students of Abbot academy will then give a Chinese play for the benefit of all delegates to the conference.

On Wednesday the speakers include officers of the board (Miss Day and Miss Stanwood), Dr. Harriet E. Parker of Madison, Ind., Miss E. Gates and Miss Helen H. Culler, Abbotacademy, Ind., at the morning session; and in the afternoon Mrs. I. S. Enrich, Turkey; Miss Margaret Slattery, Boston; Mrs. W. O. Belandine, Ind.; Miss Kate G. Lamson, Boston.

On Thursday morning Dr. Kate C. Woodhull of China, Miss Mabel M. Blake, Atlanta, Turkey, and Mrs. Chas. S. Anson, South Africa, will speak, while the afternoon session will include Mrs. Emily L. Hissell, Abbotacademy, Ind., Miss Alice Gleason, Mexico, and Rev. Enoch F. Bell, associate secretary of the American board.

It is expected that large numbers of women from the churches of Lowell and vicinity will be present.

Arthur Lavigne, who at the big league drafting session was drafted by the St. Louis Americans may be back with Lowell next season, owing to the fact that the draft has been cancelled. While this procedure is an injustice to the clever player, owing to the fact that the draft by St. Louis interfered with his chances with other teams, his chances are slim at being taken by another team, now that the draft is cancelled. The Lowell catcher who was without doubt the best in the league last season, is entitled to promotion, but another season in the minors ought to prove beneficial to him. His recent exhibition in Rhode Island, where he caught the shots of Walter Johnson, the Washington star, demonstrates that he is there with the stuff. He will be heard from later.

Manager Gray will attend the minor league meeting and is of the opinion that he can consummate a deal, where he will secure a man in the place of John Boulton, who Mr. Gray considers has outlived his usefulness as a member of the Lowell team. Jake is a good ball player, and will undoubtedly make good in another field, but he is all done at Spaulding park.

The retirement of Boulton from the Lowell team will mean the selection of a new captain and there are many conjectures as to who will be Jake's successor. According to the "straight dope" it looks like Eddie McGowan. The latter is one grand ball player, and it would be difficult for the management to select a better man. He knows the game from A to Z and is a conservative player. He understands the inside workings of the game, and is well liked by all the members of the team, as well as being popular with the fans.

CHANCE AS MANAGER

N. Y. Americans' Owner

Offers Him $18,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The receipt of the news from New York to the effect that Harry Wolverton is to be supplanted as manager of the Highlanders yesterday brought forth the information from an authoritative source that Frank Chance, former leader of the Cubs, has been offered a five-year contract to take charge of the New York American league team at the highest salary ever paid a baseball official. It was stated positively that Chance, prior to his departure for the west, was in receipt of a most flattering offer from President Farrell, which he was unable to take advantage of, owing to his inability to secure his release from the local National League club.

Farrell's proposition was a five-year contract at $18,000 per year and 5 per cent. of the net earnings of the team. The Yankee owner, in making the offer, stated that he would turn the club over to Chance and let him run it as he saw fit, without interfering in the slightest way, even so far as offering a suggestion of any kind.

The Farrell proposition was kept secret at the time it was made, as Chance believed he would be able to secure an unconditional release from the Cubs if Murphy were under the impression that he would be unable to land any kind of a job in the big leagues. It is almost certain that Murphy will refuse to release Chance.

Next year's playing schedule will consist of 126 games to be disposed of in 118 playing days. It will begin on Wednesday, April 30, and close Saturday, Sept. 12. These dates are one week earlier and one week later, respectively, than those last year. The committee appointed to draw up the schedule was chosen as follows: Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester, Brockton and Lynn clubs. President Louis F. Pieper of Lawrence was selected chairman.

The salary limit was the subject of a lengthy debate, following which it was voted that $2000 shall be the maximum amount of salaries to be paid by each club monthly, including the salary of a player-manager. It was voted to require each club to deposit a surety bond of $1000 before the schedule meeting to cover its responsibilities in this connection.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the league, which preceded the league meeting, the championship pennant for the season of 1912 was formally awarded to the Lawrence club.

At this meeting the books of the treasurer were audited, and approved, and a protest of the Brockton club regarding a game in Haverhill of Sept. 17 was withdrawn.

Secretary Morse announced at the league meeting that the umpires next season would not be allowed to umpire college games after the league season opens. It was explained that this action was found necessary owing to the fact that on Wednesdays and Saturdays last season league umpires frequently absented themselves from the places of assignment to fill college jobs.

In the absence of President T. H. Morse, who is confined to his home with an attack of grip, Secretary Morse presided. All the clubs of the league were represented as follows:

Lowell, A. J. Roach, J. J. Kennedy, J. J. Gray, Lynn, E. B. Frazer, P. J. Leonard, New Bedford, Jas. T. Smith, James Shanks, Fall River, Manager J. H. O'Brien, Brockton, J. W. McCune, Joseph Burns, Lawrence, T. J. Pieper, D. D. Noonan, Haverhill, D. F. Clochee, Sherman H. Marshall, Worcester, J. J. Burckett, J. J. O'Donnell, Paul McFalle.

Other Baseball Men Present
The meeting was attended by other well known baseball men. Included in the assemblage were President McKeeler of the Red Sox, Palsey Donovan and other big league men, and William Peters, official scorer of the N. E. league, John H. Cull, secretary of the Lowell team, and many others. The meeting was a very successful one, and the Lowell men were well pleased with the progress made.

BANON CHRISTMASTREES A CHAT WITH THE COOK

Quarantine Hits New Oyster Dishes During England Hard Next Few Months

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Thirty-two Massachusetts cities as well as scores of horticultural centers in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut, have been placed under a quarantine in an effort to dispose of the gypsy and brown-tail moth.

Under the order issued yesterday by Acting Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Hays Christmas trees are going to be scarce and evergreens that grace the windows as the yuletide approaches as well will be short because of the ban.

Mr. Hays in the order issued yesterday says:

"The fact has been determined that two injurious insects, the brown-tail and the gypsy moth, new to and not heretofore widely distributed within and throughout the United States, exist in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont and Connecticut.

"I do order a quarantine to prevent the interstate movement of coniferous trees, such as spruce, fir, hemlock, pine, juniper and arbor vitae, known and described as 'Christmas trees,' and decorative plants, such as holly and laurel, known as 'Christmas greens,' forest plant products, including logs, tanbark, posts, poles, railroad ties, cord wood and lumber."

The quarantine is also made to apply to field grown florists' stock, trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings and other plants. The following territory in Massachusetts is quarantined for the brown-tail moth:

Leyden, Greenfield, Deerfield, Whitefield, Hatfield, Northampton, Easthampton, Holyoke, North Adams, Clarkburg, West Springfield, Springfield, Longmeadow and Hampden.

The following Massachusetts territory is quarantined for the gypsy moth:

Warwick Orange, Athol, Petersham, Barre, Oakham, Spencer, Sturbridge, Charlton, Dudley, and Webster.

Excitement Too Great

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Excitement caused by the election is believed to have been responsible for the death of Mrs. Ida Graham, 33 years old, wife of William Graham, democratic committeeman from 2d ward.

She sat in her home all night reading election returns and early yesterday morning remarked:

"I am glad Wilson won, because he is a good man."

A moment later she fell to the floor and died of heart disease before a physician could be summoned.

First Spiritualist Society

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the First Spiritualist society met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harvey, No. 13 West Fifth street, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Harvey is the president of the association. Supper was served from 5 until 7 o'clock, which was followed by the regular business meeting. Readings were given by Mrs. James Arthur, which were unusually good.

New Pannier Model

Taupe is a color that is being affected this winter by women who dress well. Particularly chic is the gown illustrated, carried out in this delightful shape in taupe charmeuse.

A pannier tunic is draped over a plaited skirt, and a wide collar of

Plush Hats the Rage

The manufacturers this year, realizing that plush hats had "caught on," have turned them out in many attractive models.

The charming hat pictured is of ivory white plush with an upturned

brim bound with black and white velvet ribbon.

The only trimming on this fetching creation is a winged effect carried out in the mangle ribbon.

The "great-grandfather" stock worn with the hat is a favorite piece of neckwear this season.

The Pawtucket Motor Boat Club May Meet the Haverhill Club in a Series of Races

MOTOR BOATS ON THE MERRIMACK RIVER JUST BELOW THE HAVERHILL BRIDGE, HAVERHILL.

The parties which have been thus far held under the auspices of the Pawtucket Motorboat club have in every case been most successful and featured by large attendances. It is planned to hold more of these during the coming months. These events take place in the Pawtucket boathouse on the Merrimack.

It is said by prominent members of the organization that Haverhill in a recent number of the Motorboat magazine of the fast hydroplane, will replace the blue claimed the championship of the Merrimack river in motorboat racing. Haverhill is reputed to have some very fast boats. It is true, but the local on-case been most successful and featured by large attendances. It is planned to hold more of these during the coming months. These events take place in the Pawtucket boathouse on the Merrimack.

Several members plan to build speed boats during the winter which they will launch next spring to be entered in the Labor day races. Mr. Holmes, owner of the fast hydroplane, will replace the blue engine with a new and much larger

LODGE OUT OF FIGHT

He is Not Interfering With Senatorial Contest

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge told some of the republican leaders yesterday that he would not be drawn into the contest over the senatorship in which Congressman John W. Weeks and Samuel W. McCall and ex-Gov. Eben S. Draper are actively engaged.

The senior senator was willing to cooperate in every way possible to secure a republican legislature, but he announced that he does not propose to take sides in the selection of the party candidate. His relations with the three leading republican candidates have been very close. Ex-Gov. Draper was chairman of the state committee and actively supported him when he was first elected to the senate. The two congressmen have come much in contact with him at Washington.

The attitude of the progressives on the senatorship will be determined in a few days. There will be a meeting of the bull moose state committee tomorrow preceding the Tremont Temple meeting and the matter will be talked over then informally. The decision will be made after the sentiment of the full membership has been sounded.

Representative Russell D. Crane of Cambridge, chairman of the organization committee of the progressives, said yesterday that a number of republicans in the legislature of 1913 have agreed to support a senatorial candidate satisfactory to the progressives. The republican leaders deny that there has been any pledging done to interfere with the party representatives in the legislature deciding the question in their party caucus. In their efforts to get the balance of power in the legislature the progressive managers are willing that republican candidates should not be opposed if they could support Col. Roosevelt and vote for the progressive candidate for senator. Their margin is so wide, the republicans assert, that there is no chance of the progressives interfering in the choice.

Congressman Weeks is giving his entire time to the senatorial contest and had a string of calls yesterday at his office in the Hornblower & Weeks building which has been devoted to campaign purposes since the opening of the primary campaign.

Both ex-Gov. Draper and Congressman McCall have been getting in touch with the republican members of the legislature personally and through friends. Congressman McCall is recovering from an attack of bronchitis which has laid him up at his home in Winchester for the past three weeks, but is now able to be out and will get into the campaign activity in a few days.

SELECTMEN ARE GUILTY

Of Illegally Granting Inholder's License

WORCESTER, Nov. 8.—Selectmen John J. Dwyer and James H. McCooley of Black River were fined $30 each in superior court yesterday on pleas of guilty to illegally granting an inholder's license in Blackstone.

Deputy Sheriff Emery A. Bacon made the complaint. He alleged that the selectmen named issued a license to James O'Garra and Nicholas O'Neil on premises that were not properly equipped for supplying food and lodging to the public.

Verdicts of not guilty were returned in the cases of Harold White and Roy E. Morey, Worcester boys, charged with being accessories after the fact in the larceny of two horses, a buggy and harnesses from the stable of Alphonse L. Hayden of Worcester, Sept. 22. The boys were found with the stolen property in Spencer. They claimed they had been engaged by one Walter Butler, to drive with him to New York and were to receive expenses on the trip out and $15 for expenses back.

Charges of assault and battery against Stephen Kanecki, John S. Kieckieff and Mike Valan, all of Milford, were filed by Assistant District Attorney Edward T. Esty. The defendants pleaded guilty of each of the crime and were fined $50 each.

TARIFF REDUCTION BY SLIDING SCALE

Governor Wilson has taken an early opportunity to announce that no legitimate business in the country need have any fear of disturbance from any policy to be inaugurated by the new administration. That is exactly what was expected from Governor Wilson because he had stated previous to election that he would not disturb any honest business by radical action.

The sudden removal of the tariff from various products now controlled by trusts would undoubtedly cause serious industrial disturbance. When anything of this kind is done, it might be well to adopt a sliding scale for the reduction of the tariff, so that the interests affected would know in advance when the tariff reductions would take effect, and the amount of each.

Much of the trouble resulting from the reduction of the tariff arises from the fact that the schedules are as a rule cut down too abruptly. When an industry is protected by a tariff of 40, 50 or 60 per cent it would not be a wise policy to remove such tariff completely at one blow. Rather would it be advisable to reduce it by gradual stages.

There are certain items such as beef and coal from which the tariff should be removed at once without any delay. Particular attention should also be paid to the industries that sell their products cheaper abroad than at home. Those who will revise the tariff will, of course, take due notice of these abuses, and will place the tariff low enough to invite reasonable but not ruinous competition.

NOW FOR CITY ELECTION

The time has now arrived for the filing of papers by candidates for municipal offices. There will occur two vacancies in the municipal board on the first Monday in January and three in the school board. There does not seem to be such a rush of candidates for the offices as there was last year and thus far the new candidates are not all desirable. It seems that if the new charter is to be made a success either the desirable men must be more ready to become candidates or else some organization will be needed to induce such men to run for office. Under the charter anybody who can get the necessary signatures is free to run and the voters will require considerable patience in tolerating the perennial candidate. This is one of the evils that must be borne, but the presence of undesirable men on the ticket should not prevent good men from becoming candidates so that the citizens will have an opportunity to show just what kind of men they want, whether they favor men of business experience and unquestioned integrity or men who are conspicuously lacking in both these essentials. The new charter is all right and will prove a great benefit to the city if the people only exercise good judgment in selecting men who are honest, capable and interested in the welfare of the city.

Tomorrow is the last day for filing papers and it is to be hoped that a sufficient number of good men will enter the contest in order that the city and its interests will not be abandoned, so far as this election can do it, to a lot of incompetents.

CLEAN-UP DAY

The local board of trade is interesting itself to promote the observance of clean-up or fire prevention day. This idea has proved useful in the city of Hartford, Conn., where a whole week instead of one day was devoted to the work. The health department too co-operated and invited notice of any yard, alley or cellar requiring its attention. It is well to remove all the rubbish that may feed the flames in case of fire or that if left untouched may become the source of disease.

PENSIONS FOR WIDOWS

The proposition to pension widows left with large families of minor children is a good one. How often has it happened that a widow left with a large family of small children has had to go out to work daily, leaving the children to shift for themselves or run the streets as they please during the day. Is it any wonder under such circumstances the children go astray?

Ex-Alderman Daniel Cosgrove is well pleased with the result of his run as candidate for lieutenant-governor on the Bull Moose ticket. Although he hardly expected election he conducted a vigorous campaign and proved a source of strength to the progressive party in this state.

The campaign was strenuous but Dan finds some satisfaction in his large vote, the fact that he made no personal attack on any man and no attempt was made upon his life.

President Taft has a plan to keep the republican party alive and Col. Roosevelt has a plan to kill it. The G. O. P. will have to unload the standpipes, the trusts and the speculative combines. Just at present it needs a great large dose of soothing syrup to prepare it for a long period of journeying in the wilderness. Col. Roosevelt's party is like a balloon inflated with hot air and that will collapse under a chill current or just as soon as the Colonel ceases to keep up the inflation process.

Had it not been for the announced candidacy of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston for the United States senate, the democratic party might have secured control of the legislature. The republicans hold the fort by a small majority and it is likely that McCall will go to the senate. If they are looking for fit men, he is able and better than Ex-Governor Draper, who is an avowed candidate.

Now that the election excitement is over, would it not be well to ascertain why the water pressure on Rogers street proved so low that the stream was hardly sufficient to reach to the eave of the Lithuanian church burned last week. If the pressure is so low and engines slow to get to work, we may expect other large structures to burn down.

Turkey wants to buy a new battleship from Clark. Such a ship can be of no use to her in this war as the Greek fleet would capture it as soon as it arrived within the war zone. Besides the Turks would require years in which to learn how to man such an engine of war so as to use its power effectively.

General Suvoff's artillery is not using more dynamite in pursuing the Turks than Contractor Conlon in removing the ledge in Paige street on the site of the underground comfort station. The whole station must be cut from the hardest ledge ever encountered in this city.

Governor Wilson plans to be a good listener and he will certainly have a vast amount of advice as to the right policy to pursue and the right men to appoint to cabinet and other positions. He says his mind will be open until he makes the final announcements.

The Bulgarians are today doing what the Crusaders tried in vain to do by great sacrifice and untold heroism. Thus the fons of Christianity are eventually swept away to permit the spread of the gospel for the benefit of all mankind.

The Etter trial is dragging along slowly but so far as newspaper reports indicate, there is no very serious evidence to show that he was directly responsible for the murder.

Jack Johnson is indicted and is likely to go to jail for his efforts to hold a young girl against the wishes of her parents and without even the formality of marriage.

Seen and Heard

"Why is it," asked the curious guest, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?"
"Well, sir," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de po', man don't want nobody to find out he's po', and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."

Mrs. Nettie Kirby, the brilliant conductor of the Sons of Temperance, said in an independence day address some years ago in Worcester, apropos of moderate drinking:

"The moderate drinker's attitude seems to me most foolish and illogical. Doesn't the moderate drinker say just this:

"As long as I find I can stop, I won't stop; but as soon as I find I can't stop, I will!"

Many inquiries have been made as to the trouble with the telephone service Monday night between Lowell and Boston. The cause of the mixup was discovered by a lineman who found a partridge tangled in the wires. The explanation given by the lineman is that the partridge alighted on the wires and was instantly killed, its body then becoming entangled in the wires, thus spoiling the telephone service on that particular line.

The 8th birthday of Lord Roberts, the veteran field marshal of the British army, occurred on the last day of September and was fully celebrated. Rob as he is affectionately called by his fellow-soldiers, has been foremost in keeping up the German scare in Britain and to him is due the interest now displayed in military training. "If I could be told on my birthday," he said, "short time ago, that compulsory military training should begin on that day it would be the only present I should require." He is of Irish lineage, born at Cawnpore, India, the son of a soldier, and his name and titles are: Field marshal the Right Hon. Frederick Sleigh Earl Roberts of Kandahar, Pretoria and Waterford, V. C., K. G. G., C. B., G. M., G. C. S. I., E. etc. He is the youngest veteran of the Indian mutiny and the hero of a hundred fights.

There's a bird's nest on the branch of a tree that, when influenced by the wind, almost touches a window in Mayor O'Donnell's office. This summer two broods of sparrows first saw the light of day from the nest in question and, yesterday, as The Sun reporter looked out of the window he noticed a little sparrow in the nest with others close about him.

"I wonder what those birds are doing in and about that nest?" said the reporter.

"I think they have leased it for the winter. They have been very busy there of late," replied the mayor's athletic secretary.

REGRETS

I left you standing 'way back there, Day's dying shadows on your hair. Breveting where it caught the gold Of the sunset and seemed to hold it trembling for a little space; The sunset's light was to your face, And there was in your shining eyes A light that ne'er on seas or skies Has shone; and oh, your lips were red And something that you would have said.

Seemed trembling on them, and I tried To say something; then turned aside.

And then I went. The city called—The city, tunneled, paved and walled, The city with its chimneys high That belched their clouds against the sky.

Those clouds the wind brought swooping down To send them sweeping through the town.

Till church and factory and hut Seemed nothing but black walls of smut, And men groped blindly to and fro The daily ways 'twix theirs to go; And once a country bred, strove through Long days and nights and dreamed of you.

Through years and years he saw you stand, The clean green fields on either hand, The way all hellebore and gold; The air, pink-tinted, seemed to fold You in its glory, seemed to spare A bit of shadow—just to trace The rounded outline of your face; Some of the blueness of U's skies Seemed to have settled in your eyes, Love entered and possessed your heart.

And so you stood there lips apart, And I—oh! I turned away Afraid of what I longed to say.

Trudging down the country road With absurd hopes, and absurd load—That load—that burden! what—ah, love.

I could laugh at the memory, But that my heart grows tender now To think of that brave boy and how He started out to win his way, Went down the road that yesterday To us the city called him to— Leaving behind love, peace and you!

CHINESE CASTS VOTE

But He is Not an American Citizen

LINCOLN, Neb. Nov. 8.—After serving the United States 30 years as a soldier and being retired on a pension, Edward D. Cahola of Valentine, Neb., presents an illustration of a man literally without a country. He finds to his dismay that he cannot be a citizen unless Congress by special act shall so declare him. His service includes the latter part of the Civil war, wherein he fought with Gen. Grant at Cold Harbor, Petersburg and Appomattox.

Mr. Cahola is a Chinese. Until recently he supposed he was an American citizen. He has always exercised his rights as a voter, and had no doubt he was a full-fledged American. Recently, however, he desired to take up a homestead, and filed at the government office at Valentine, paid his filing fee of $14, and expected soon to take up his residence on the land.

The government officials, upon looking into the application, notified Cahola that he is not a citizen of this country, could probably not become a citizen, and therefore could never prove up on his homestead. His $14 was returned, but he was informed that no court in this country could grant him citizenship papers.

Cahola recalls that he left China when he was about five years old, and he cannot speak any of the Chinese dialects. His father was then dead, having been drowned in a flood of the Yangtze-Kiang river. The little Chinese boy wandered down to the dock and was there picked up as an stray by an American sea captain, whose name was S. S. Day. This was about the year 1852. Capt. Day in his sloop sailed back around Singapore, Calcutta and the Cape of Good Hope to New York city. The captain's home was Gloucester, Mass., and he took the Chinese boy with him, where he became a favored favorite and was reared as Capt. Day's son.

In 1864 Cahola, then about 17 or 18 years of age, enlisted in the 23d Massachusetts regiment and immediately went into service under Gen. Grant in his final victorious campaign. At the close of the Civil war he returned to his home at Gloucester, but in 1866 re-enlisted in the regular army and served continuously until his retirement 30 years later.

He remembers that on his trip from Shanghai to New York he was treated very kindly by John Martin, who was first mate on Capt. Day's boat. Years later, when Cahola was a private in the regular army, and paying a visit to San Francisco, he recognized in a roughly dressed man on the street his former benefactor, then in need and seeking shelter. Cahola provided for the needs of his old friend, and received in return his cordial blessing.

While at a fort in South Dakota, Cahola married a young woman from Norway. Five children of that union are living. One of his sons is with him in the restaurant business at Valentine, Neb. One of his daughters was a school teacher in Cherry county, Nebraska, for a number of years, and is now a teacher in Wyoming.

On a recent visit to Valentine, Frank E. Edgerton, assistant attorney-general of Nebraska, talked with Cahola, and he has taken the matter up with Senator Norris Brown, asking him to introduce a special bill in congress to grant citizenship. Cahola's enlistment papers are regular and his record is clean. He is a respected citizen of Valentine, and its people almost unanimously will petition congress to act favorably in his peculiar case.

BASEBALL NOTES

Jimmy Archer has added his name to the list of holdouts who up to the time Jimmy's joining the club numbered but one—that one being Ty Cobb, the Tiger star. James says that he is not being paid as much money as he should be and will not join the Cubs next season until he gets a substantial increase in salary. Jimmy is probably the best pitcher in the game today and was the only one in the National league who could stop the Giants' base-stealing.

President Comiskey of the White Sox announces the dates for the training trip next spring. Special cars bearing the players will leave Chicago for Paso Robles, Cal., on Feb. 20 and will return about April 10.

One man who did a vast amount of work during the world's series and did it well was John Heydler the National league secretary. Most of the actual work of handling the tickets, if not the planning by which they were distributed, fell to him, and he toiled day and night. The ticket scaler was a negligible factor. There never was a series in which there were fewer complaints on that score, and the good work done by Heydler, as well as Joe O'Brien, the Giants' secretary, had much to do with this pleasing state of affairs.

All kinds of business chances have been hurled in California at Frank Chance in the event of his retirement from base ball. One of these propositions has been made by Eddie Meyer, the Los Angeles brewer, in which the Peerless Leader is asked to accept, with Jim Jeffries, the control of Meyer pier, now being built at Venice.

McGraw and Marquard are the only members of the Giants who are going into vaudeville. Mathewson turned down several offers, notwithstanding the fact that he could have commanded his own terms.

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, will again leave early in February for Texas, with his young pitchers and Whitford Robinson, the coach. He adopted this plan some time ago, and found it of great advantage.

"Praise from Sir Hubert is praise indeed," Manager Stahl, of the Red Sox said in Chicago the other day. "I am glad we won the world's series, but I want to say right here that in my opinion Mathewson pitched the grandest ball I ever saw and it was too bad he did not win his game. I will say that McGraw is a good support as Marquard. In the games which Marquard won there were two phenomenal catches which meant defeat for him had the balls not been caught. Mathewson pitched the best ball of any pitcher on either side."

The release of George Simmons to Rochester evidently means that Claude Derrick has been selected as regular second baseman for the Highlanders next season. Chase, Derrick, McMillan and McKiff will undoubtedly make up the Yankee infield when the starting bell rings in April.

Wood and Speaker, the Red Sox stars, were each offered $1000 a week to go into vaudeville this winter. Wood refused to consider the matter, but Speaker thinks pretty well of the stage at that price.

In the first world's series he has taken part in, Forest Clair, the Red Sox young catcher, displayed the nerve of a veteran.

President Comiskey, of the White Sox, is off on his annual hunting trip at Camp Arden, Trade Lake, in Northern Wisconsin, accompanied by a host of friends.

John O'Dowd, the sensational fielding wonder, who was tried out by the Highlanders last summer before the advent of McMillan, was released to the Brockton club, of the New England league, last week. O'Dowd was originally purchased from Brockton.

U. S. Warships Ordered To Turkey

PRISONERS WERE APPLAUDED

Welcomed on Their Arrival
at Courthouse

SALEM, Nov. 8.—Witness rooms at the courthouse were crowded early today before court opened with millworkers from Lawrence prepared to be called as witnesses for the defense in the murder trial of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, who was charged with responsibility for the death of Anna Lopizzo in a strike riot last winter.

Interest in the trial has increased since the defense began, many being turned away from the crowded courtroom. Witnesses from Lawrence lined up in front of the courthouse before court convened and a crowd applauded the prisoners when they arrived in carriages from the jail.

Sabato Gauge, a mill worker, was the first witness of the day. Gauge testified that he heard Ettor and Giovannitti speak several times during the strike, always urging the people to stand firmly together, to keep away from the mills and not to use violence. The witness gave his recollection of Giovannitti's much discussed speech on the Lawrence common. In this he said the defendant urged the strikers to go home and rest after the parade and to keep away from the police and soldiers in Canal street "because they are looking for your blood like wild animals." Gauge further said that Giovannitti threatened to leave the strikers and return to his home in New York if they did not heed his advice. This version of the speech conforms to that given by several other witnesses of the defense in contradiction of witnesses for the commonwealth, who testified that Giovannitti told the strikers to "prowl like animals and seek the blood of the scabs."

On cross examination Gauge said that during the parade of Jan. 29 Ettor urged the strikers not to molest the soldiers on guard on the streets leading to the mills. "The parade," said Gauge, "there were soldiers lined up with bayonets fixed. Ettor had up his hands to us and said: 'Don't throw ice at the soldiers. They are here commanded to do their duty. Don't disturb them.'"

Louis Pittacelli, a clerk in the Italian post office in Lawrence, testified that Joseph Caruso came to the post office on the evening of January 23 and got some mail. His wife was with him. This was the night Anna Lopizzo was killed.

"Caruso came in that night just about six o'clock," said Pittacelli. "I remember the time because it was the same night Anna Lopizzo was killed." The woman was shot about 5.15 that afternoon and the commonwealth charges that Caruso was in the crowd from which the shot was fired that killed her.

Caruso was in the Italian post office about 6 o'clock on the night of the shooting, according to testimony brought out by the defense today. Caruso it was declared entered the post office with his wife and got some mail and while there offered to aid a policeman in looking for the Lopizzo woman's relatives. Giuseppe Catarini, an employee of the Italian postoffice, testified that he saw Caruso come into the office. It was some time after he had heard shots fired in the distance. Police Officer Marshall came into the office trying to trace relatives of the woman who had been shot, said Catarini. "Caruso was there too and got some mail. I heard him say he would go and help find her relatives and he went out when the policeman did."

Whether Caruso accompanied the officer in search for the information sought Catarini did not know. Louis Pittacelli, also employed in the post office, testified that he gave Caruso a letter about six o'clock that night.

Gertrude Marvin of New York, a New York newspaper writer, who was in Lawrence during the strike, testified that the defendant urged the strikers to be peaceful.

"He told them to forget their national differences," said the witness. "He said that if they would keep their hands in their pockets and refuse to work they would win because cloth could not be woven with policemen's clubs or soldiers' bayonets."

Miss Marvin said she attended a meeting of the strike committee when it was reported that the electrical and gas workers might go out on a sympathetic strike.

"At that meeting," said Miss Marvin, "Ettor said the electrical workers' strike would be of great value because it would leave the city in darkness. Then he said they might get the freight handlers to strike, cut off supplies from Lawrence and isolate the city. Then he said Lawrence would be an unhappy city."

Miss Marvin also testified that Ettor on the day dynamite was found in Lawrence declared it had been planted by the mill owners.

VESSELS ABOUT READY TO SAIL TO PROTECT AMERICANS' INTERESTS

Tennessee and Colorado Should Reach Constantinople About November 25—Greek Army Has Taken Saloniki

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Two big armored battleships, the Tennessee and Colorado, have been given rush orders to proceed to Turkish waters to look after the interests of Americans. The vessels are now in reserve at the Philadelphia yard, the Tennessee being the flagship of Rear Admiral Austin Knight. They should be ready to sail within 24 hours and under ordinary conditions should reach Constantinople about November 25 if they proceed with dispatch.

BIG BATTLE IN PROGRESS

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A great battle is in progress between the Bulgarians and Turks along the line to the Tchatalja fortifications, only some 25 miles outside of Constantinople. It is generally believed that this will be the last of the remarkable series of combats which have been going on for upwards of a fortnight with little or no breathing space.

One report received from Sofia last night said that the Bulgarians had occupied the Tchatalja line, but this remains without confirmation. It probably arose from a despatch sent by Lieut. Wagner to the Vienna Reichspost in which he said the Bulgarians had occupied the town of Deliyunus, outside the fort of the same name, which forms one of the Tchatalja defenses. The same correspondent added that a fresh battle had started and was spreading along the Tchatalja line, the fall of which might be expected at any moment. While the Turks had another and more modern line of fortifications between Tchatalja and Constantinople there is little chance in the opinion of military experts that they will make a stand there if they are defeated at Tchatalja. It is reported, however, that the famous Damascus regiment of the Turkish army has been reserved for this last effort to save the capital.

There is no fresh news today from Adrianople, which was reported last night to have surrendered. The position at Monastir and at Saloniki, where large Turkish armies are concentrated is unchanged so far as the outside world is concerned. Neither of these fortresses can hold out long, according to military experts, despite the fact that the Greek army marching on Monastir has been checked by meeting a superior force of Turkish troops on the way and having to wait for reinforcements from the army commanded by the crown prince of Greece.

The Montenegrins are finding the Turkish fortress of Scutari a hard nut to crack and it is again reported today that they have had to retire across the Boyana river because heavy rains and floods had made it impossible for them to keep up their commissariat service. The Turks, like true Orientals, know

THREE MEN WERE INJURED

They Were at Work on the Foundation of New Knights of Columbus Building

Three men employed in the construction of the new Knights of Columbus headquarters on Anne street were injured this noon when a brick wall which formed part of the foundation of the rear of the house facing on Kirk street collapsed and buried them to the shoulders.

The injured men, whose names are Tony Walas, Dennis Keefe and David Hubert, were at work digging in a ditch about the foundation of the K. of C. building and very near the brick foundation of a house in the rear, when without warning the wall collapsed upon them. It seemed to be in decidedly poor condition for it crumbled to small pieces, and these, including bricks, stone and sand, fell like an avalanche upon the workmen.

Their fellows at once rushed to their aid and began digging them out. This proved to be a difficult job for the bricks and earth had wedged them in very tightly and made it a delicate matter to extricate them without adding to their injuries. Walas and Keefe were first set free and it was found that their injuries were not serious for they limped away from the place unassisted. The authorities, however, sent them in an ambulance, one of three which had been summoned, to St. John's hospital, where it was found that they had sustained minor sprains to their ankles and nothing more serious.

Considerable difficulty, however, was experienced in liberating David Hubert from his painful position, for it was at first thought that his leg was badly crushed.

His rescuers worked quickly and carefully until he could finally be lifted out. He was carried on a stretcher to the ambulance and taken to St. John's hospital. He was found to be suffering with a badly fractured pelvis and though his conditions are serious, nevertheless, the doctors are of the opinion that he will recover.

Several of the others about the place had very narrow escapes when the cave-in occurred and it was a wonder that those who were caught were not more seriously injured for the mass of earth and brick which fell upon them was exceedingly large and heavy. It appeared that the wall had decayed and as soon as the supporting sand and earth was removed it collapsed. The three men were crowded together in a very small space and their position must have been very painful. Hubert was buried to his neck by the debris and those who witnessed the accident said that it was miraculous that none of them sustained fractured limbs.

Precautions will be taken at once to prevent a recurrence of an accident of this kind.

VERDICT FOR THE DEFENDANT

Was Reported by the Jury in Case of Sullivan vs. Smith—
New Case Called

At the opening of the superior civil court at ten o'clock this morning, the jury which was out last night on the case of Sullivan vs. Smith, returned a verdict for the defendant. The jury for the next case was then chosen and the other excused until Monday morning.

The next case to be called was that of Philip Emund, per pro. aml, Remi Emund vs. The Massachusetts Cotton mill in an action of tort to recover for injuries, the ad damnum clause demanding the amount of $25,000.

The plaintiff stated in his declaration, that he was employed in the cloth room of the Massachusetts Cotton mill, operating a shearing machine, the function of which is to cut from the web of cloth threads which were left there in the weaving. In the process the webs are first sewed together by the ends and they are then passed over several rollers suspended near the ceiling to straighten and smooth out the cloth before passing it into the shearing machine. The plaintiff charges that while engaged in this work and while in exercise of due care, through defects in the machinery connected with the sewing and shearing of the cloth, the cloth was caused to part so that it would not pass over the rollers. It was then necessary to bring the two ends of the webs down to the sewing machine in order to sew them together and fit them to pass over the rollers to the shearing machine.

The plaintiff stated that the only way to bring the ends together was to pass one end by hand over one of the upper rollers or supports and he says that this roller was within eight or ten inches from a rapidly revolving shaft. While attempting to pass the end of the cloth over the roller in the only way it could be done on account of the alleged improper construction and placing of the shafting, the plaintiff charges, the cloth was caught in the revolving shaft and he, the plaintiff, was caught in the machine and carried around the shaft. His left arm, he alleges was torn off and his right arm broken in two places and he sustained other severe injuries. The accident, he claims was due to the defects in the condition and ways of the machinery, which arose as a consequence of the negligence of the employer or the agents of the employer, and further that this caused the cloth to be imperfectly sewed. Again, he charges that he was put to work in a dangerous place, where he was liable to injury and was not given proper warning and that he did not know the danger of being caught when he placed the cloth over the roll.

The declaration of the defendant consisted of a denial of all the material allegations contained in the statement of the plaintiff. The jury was taken to view the scene of the accident and court was then adjourned to Monday morning.

WOULD PUT ALL COST ON ROADS

Grade Crossings Bill Favored
by Towns—Railroad Men
Say It Was Unjust

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Both towns and railroads were well represented at the hearing given yesterday by the railroad and highway commissions sitting jointly as a special commission created by the last legislature to inquire into the question of reapportioning the expense of abolishing the grade railroad crossings.

Under the present law 25 per cent. of the cost of abolishing a grade crossing is borne by the commonwealth, 10 per cent. by the city or town in which the crossing is located, and the remaining 65 per cent. by the railroad, save that if a street railway uses the crossing it pays 15 per cent.

The representatives of the towns generally argued that as the railroad gets most or all of the benefit of the abolition of a crossing it should pay all the expense of all except that now borne by the commonwealth and shared by the municipalities in the form of a state tax. They wished the towns relieved of their present 10 per cent. share.

The railroad representatives argued that to increase their share of the expense would be unjust and would only have the effect of delaying the desired abolitions of crossings. Joseph J. Corbett, corporation counsel for the city of Boston, said that although this city has paid out more than $2,500,000 for grade crossing abolition it offers no complaint against the present law.

Representative C. A. Barnes of Mansfield opened the hearing by explaining the proposed bill, which would free municipalities from any expense except where they petitioned for the abolition, in which case their share would be 5 per cent.

Town Counsel William M. Noble of Mansfield said that the crossings abolished have been mostly in the cities, and that for them the 10 per cent. share was not so bad, but that now the principal work is by the towns whose smaller resources are unable to stand the strain. The towns themselves, he thought, should have something to say about the cost, and he favored their representation on special apportionment commissions.

CLIDEN, HYDE & CO., Boston

wished to add city aldermen to the special commissions.

Others who favored changes to relieve the towns and cities were Mayor Scanlon and Aldermen O'Brien and Hanagan of Lawrence, Senator Chas. S. Chase of Dighton, Mayor Rivers of Chicopee, Town Counsel Edmund A. Talbot of Sharon, George H. Carpenter of Seekonk, where there are two grade crossings, but no railroad station; Walter M. Lowney of Mansfield, Jeremiah J. Desmond of Randolph, Town Counsel Albert P. Weather of Weymouth, Herbert S. Kimball of Foxboro, Selectman Louis E. Flye of Holbrook, George E. Tisbury of the Ashland board of trade, Lewis H. Bulard of Wareham, Town Counsel Walter Adams, Selectman David C. Ahern, ex-Representative Samuel O. Staples and George L. Avery, president of the board of trade of Framingham; Representative William N. Howard of Easton and A. C. Sampson of Sharon.

William H. Coolidge, representing the Boston & Maine railroad, urged that the small attendance at this widely-attended hearing indicated the absence of any widespread demand for change in the present method of apportionment, which he considered fair to all parties concerned.

Each grade crossing commission, he pointed out, now has authority to provide that the town need pay nothing, while in no case is its share more than 10 per cent. If any change is made, he said, it would be better to remove the limit and allow the commission to assess the costs in accordance with the benefits to be derived.

Woodward Hudson, representing the Boston & Albany railroad, held that grade crossing abolition would be retarded by the passage of a bill such as was suggested, because railroad and town would sit still and wait for each other to make the first move, as either would only penalize itself by asking for the abolition of a crossing.

Melvin O. Adams, president of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn railroad, said that although the capital of his road is only $850,000, the abolition of the Orient Heights grade crossing is going to cost it $225,000, and that other projects asked for would bring the total cost up to two-thirds of the capitalization, so that to increase the burden on the road would be preposterous.

A plea for reduction of the street railways' share from 15 per cent. was made by Everett W. Burdett, representing the Bay State Street Railway Company.

The commission took the matter under advisement, and will report to the incoming legislature.

Men Charged With Robbing Post Offices

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Two men whom the federal authorities accuse of being members of a gang which has been robbing postoffices in southern New England were held under heavy bonds by United States Commissioner Wm. B. Cross yesterday.

The prisoners are Joseph Kramer, alias Thomas Campbell, and Charles T. Hart. Kramer's bail was fixed at $15,000 and that of Hart at $10,000.

Kramer has already been indicted by the federal grand jury in Massachusetts on a charge of robbing the North Abington postoffice. Hart is charged with breaking into the postoffice safe at West Barnstable, Mass.

Both men were taken to Boston yesterday afternoon and locked up in the Middlesex county jail at East Cambridge.

The federal officials say Kramer is a companion of James Kelley, recently arrested in New York on a charge of committing postoffice robberies in Massachusetts.

Have Color in Your Cheeks—Be Better Looking—Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod-liver-oil—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels, yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like cod-liver-oil, yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

MANY CHANGES CERTAIN

In Committees of the House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Although democratic control of the house of representatives by a greatly increased majority is assured, a general shakeup of the personnel of the important house committees in the next congress will be necessary.

The all-important ways and means committee, which will shape into bills the tariff policies of the Wilson administration, was riddled by the election. Of the 14 democrats on the committee, four will not return. Two of these, however, Hughes of New Jersey and James of Kentucky, go to the senate.

Ramsdell of Texas and Brantley of Georgia are retired. Out of the seven republicans on the committee but two apparently will remain. John McCall of Pennsylvania and Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, for years shapers of the republican tariff policy, were not candidates at the polls and Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, James C. Needham of California, and probably Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, were beaten.

Sereno E. Payne of New York, and Joseph W. Forney of Michigan may be the only republicans left.

The election of Representative Sulzer as governor of New York leaves vacant

the chairmanship of the important foreign affairs committee. Flood of Virginia is ranking member of the committee, but he declined the chairmanship two years ago to accept the less important territories committee. Either he or Garner of Texas is expected to get the place.

The election of Morris Sheppard of Texas to the senate, if seniority is followed, will move Representative Burnett of Alabama to the chairmanship of the public buildings and grounds committee, which handles the big public buildings so-called "pork barrel" bill.

The vacancy at the head of the public lands committee, caused by the failure of Representative Robinson of Arkansas to return, will probably be filled by moving up Representative Graham of Illinois, at present chairman of the committee on expenditures in the interior department.

The banking and currency committee, investigating the so-called money trust, will be without a head. Representative Pulp of Louisiana having retired. Representative Carter Glass of Virginia is the ranking member of the committee.

The retirement of Representative Lamb of Virginia as head of the committee on agriculture opens this place for Representative Lever of South Carolina, but Mr. Lever would be forced to give up the chairmanship of the education committee, which would probably be mentioned as cabinet possibilities.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—What promises to be one of the greatest divorce cases of a decade was up for argument today before the supreme court. It concerned the domestic difficulties of Charles N. and Mrs. Thompson, the former a principal of a school in the District of Columbia. The case derives its importance from the fact that it raises for the court a much disputed question as to the jurisdiction of the separate states to grant divorces.

Mrs. Thompson applied for a divorce in the District of Columbia but before her suit came to trial Thompson obtained a divorce in Virginia on the ground of desertion. When Mrs. Thompson's suit came on for hearing in the District of Columbia, Thompson claimed that Thompson cannot be held to a place of constructive domicile and the Virginia divorce was a bar to the action. Mrs. Thompson then took the case to the supreme court.

Thompson who voted and had lived part of the year in Virginia, claims that Virginia was the matrimonial domicile of himself and wife. His case is governed, he contends, by the famous case of Atherton vs. Atherton in which the supreme court held that New York was bound under the federal constitution to accept a divorce granted by Kentucky, the matrimonial domicile of the Athertons without inquiring into Kentucky's jurisdiction. Mrs. Thompson relies upon the case ofaddock vs.addock, another famous divorce case, claiming that Thompson cannot be held to a place of constructive domicile and

"HAMILTON DUTCH"

Alleged Safe Blower is Under Arrest Again

Charles Hamilton, alias Hamilton Dutch, reputed to be one of the cleverest safe blowers in the country, also a member of the notorious gang of yeggs, was arrested in this city a year ago February, was arrested in Boston yesterday by Police Inspectors Smith and Concanon and later arraigned before United States Commissioner Hale and held under $5000 bonds for a hearing on Nov. 11th. He is wanted in connection with the blowing of the safe in the post office in Claremont, N. H., where $1100 was stolen.

Hamilton is one of the pals of Frank White, otherwise known as Lowell Whitey, who is now serving two years in the federal prison at Atlanta. It is thought that the $1000 deposited in one of the Lowell banks early last year by the gang of yeggs who were living in Appleton street was the major portion of the haul at the Claremont postoffice for the safe in that place was blown open and robbed shortly before the yeggs migrated to this city.

Owing to lack of evidence of breaks the men were charged with being vagrants in the local court and Hamilton was sentenced to three months in jail. After serving his time he remained around Lowell and on two occasions was brought before the court for drunkenness.

FURTHER RECOVERY

WAS MADE BY THE MARKET IN THE FINAL HOUR

The Closing Was Irregular—Higher Money Was Partly Offset By the Favorable Crop Report—It Was Especially Beneficial to the Grangers

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The stock market opened with an irregular tone today. Canadian Pacific yielded a point and Southern Pacific, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and other active issues were down material fractions. The few slender gains were limited to the unimportant stocks.

Fractional recoveries caused renewed selling by the professional element and some of the principal issues went lower than at the outset. Marked weakness was shown by Canadian Pacific, Louisville & Nashville, Steel and Best Sugar.

The reactionary trend of the market yesterday became more pronounced today on mixed selling of long and short stocks. Bearish sentiment was intensified by rumors of an extra session of congress and cables from abroad suggested further uneasiness at leading centers. London's level of prices for our securities was decidedly lower.

The report of the copper producers showing a large gain in supplies for October was without marked effect on these metal issues.

Irregular advances occurred in the afternoon on reduced dealings, but few stocks got back to yesterday's closing figures. China issues reached record figures, the bonds fetching 300.

The closing was irregular. The market made further recovery in the final hour, higher money being partly offset by the favorable crop report, which was especially beneficial to the grangers.

Business Conditions

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Dun's Review says today: Bank clearings continued to reflect a remarkably large volume of payments through the banks, notably uniformity in the gains indicating well-maintained business at nearly all the leading trade centers of the country. This week total bank exchanges at all principal cities in the United States as compiled by Dun's Review aggregated $4,002,566,788, an increase of 9.1 per cent. as compared with the same week last year, and of 18.7 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week in 1910.

Forming Republican Clubs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Taft today received the first assurance of cooperation in his plan to perpetuate the principles of the progressive party by the organization of branch clubs throughout the country. The president received a telegram from Kansas City, Mo., stating that Jackson county republicans met last night and formed such a club.

Useful Economies

If a lemon is warmed before squeezing nearly double the quantity of juice will be obtained.

For us in an ironing holder a piece of leather cut from the top of an old shoe will protect the hand from the heat, also save callous spots from the grip if one uses the patent handle iron.

A pinch of soda in the fruit jar after it is washed will sweeten it. This, of course, is to be put in the jar before being sealed or rinsed out, leaving it sweet and free from odor.

To clean Irish crochet or any delicate fabric which will not stand rubbing, put it into a fruit jar (or any jar that can be tightly sealed), with enough gasoline to cover the article, seal the jar and shake about three minutes. Let stand 15 minutes or more and shake again, open the jar, take out the article being treated and let drain a moment. If the dirt is not all removed rub lightly with the gasoline, replace and shake again. When dry the article will look like new. This method saves not only the article, but the gasoline, which will not evaporate or explode while sealed. It also saves the hands from becoming roughened and sore. Do not use gasoline near a stove or lighted lamp or gas.

TOWN NEARLY WIPED OUT FOUND DEAD IN BED

Lawrence Man and Child Asphyxiated

BROOKNEAL, Va., Nov. 8.—Fire of unknown origin almost wiped out this little town early today and caused a loss of approximately $100,000, hardly one-fourth insured. No lives were lost. Twenty-five buildings, including the post office, a bank, 11 stores, a tobacco warehouse and the Baptist church were burned.

Peter Parus sustained a gash in his forehead while at work in the Lowell Machine shop foundry this afternoon. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where he received treatment.

LAWRENCE, Nov. 8.—Charles Bouillard, aged 46, and his daughter, Blanche, seven years old, were found dead in bed today and the wife and mother, Mrs. Jennie Bouillard, was found in an unconscious condition by a neighbor. The deaths were caused by asphyxiation and were pronounced as accidental.

California Still Doubtful
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—With 135 precincts missing and Roosevelt leading Wilson on the face of the returns by 180, California was still in the doubtful column today. Indications were that whatever the findings, the winner's margin would be so small that an official recount of the entire state probably would be necessary.

May Delay Bridge Work
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The construction of the great bridge with which the Pennsylvania and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad systems proposed to span the East river at Hell Gate may be delayed by a temporary injunction restraining the contracting company from further work on the bridge.

Attorney Gen. Carmody obtained the injunction today on the ground that the law forbids the erection of any structure on Ward's Island where an insane asylum is situated without special legislative enactment. The question of the permanence of the injunction will be argued next Tuesday.

Mitchell Starts the Clothing Panic

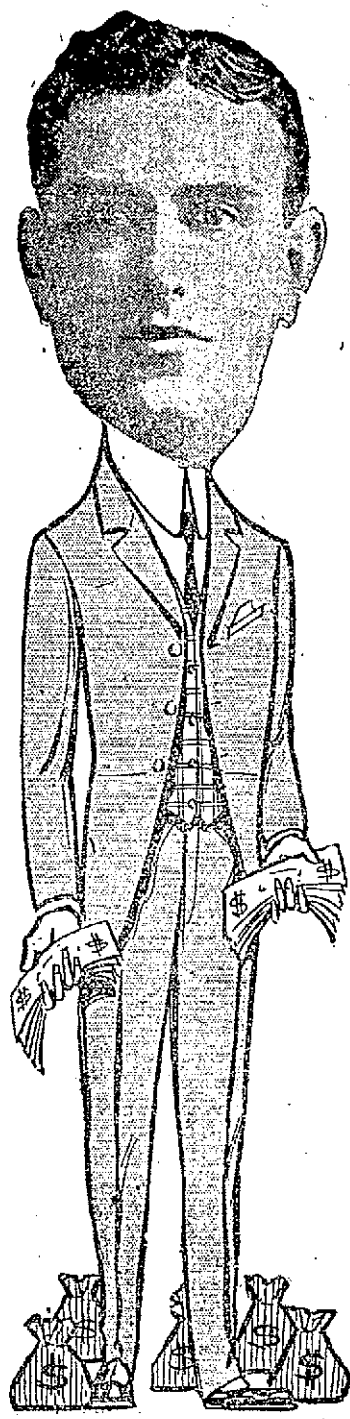

I can't lick nature—that is I can't lick unnatural weather with natural prices. So I quit to the weather, and today announce prices that all will admit are unnatural.

I don't know that I can lick the weather very long with unnatural prices, because it seems to me I shall soon have lots of company unless it turns cold. But I must lick it long enough to reduce my enormous stock of winter overcoatings and suitings.

In announcing this appeal for your trade now—Today and Tomorrow—I depart from usual merchandising. I am not going to take my low priced specialties and by marking them lower force their sale. That would not remedy my embarrassment of riches. It is not that I am carrying too much medium-priced woollens—it is that I am choked with the lines I have to sell for $18.00 and $20.00. Through these high priced fabrics my stock reduction must take place if I would not carry them over till next season.

Therefore, instead of tempting you with average goods, at extremely low prices, I will tempt you with extremely high class goods—double and twisted worsted, than which money can buy no better—at prices you know are unnaturally low. Look them over on my recommendation. Buy them on the advantage which this warm weather makes it necessary for me to extend to you.

JOHNSON IS INDICTED

Held Under $30,000 Bail on Four Counts

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Jack Johnson, the negro prize fighter, was arrested by federal officers last night charged with a violation of the Mann white slave law. His arrest followed the return by the federal grand jury of an indictment charging him with having caused the transportation of Belle Schreiber, a white woman, 26 years old, from Pittsburgh to Chicago, Aug. 10, 1910, for an unlawful purpose.

Federal officers searched the South Side several hours before Johnson was found hiding in a hotel surrounded by four negro guards. An attempt was made by the guards to prevent the officers from entering Johnson's rooms but they were pushed aside and the warrant served on the fighter without serious difficulty.

At the federal building, tears came to Johnson's eyes as the officers put handcuffs on his wrists.

"You don't have to do this. I'm not going to run away," he said. "I'm square; you ought to know that."

His bonds were fixed at $30,000, but all the federal judges had left the building for the night and declined to leave their homes to go through the formality of accepting bail.

After several hours Johnson found a court clerk willing to act, and the fighter was taken to the home of his aged mother on the South Side, who signed the bonds, along with several others, and Johnson was released from custody.

The jury heard the testimony of Lucille Cameron of Minneapolis, whose mother charged Johnson with abduction, and she was held as a witness in $15,000 bail. In the indictment Johnson is charged with the violation of the Mann act on four counts.

Max and David Weber offered a $15,000 bond for Miss Cameron, but Judge Landis refused to accept it. He gave an explanation for his refusal. Plans were made to return Miss Cameron to Rockford, Ill., where she has been held in jail.

Accordingly, he started the machinery yesterday by instructing the various city and town chairmen to prepare their recount petitions.

Out in the 4th Middlesex senatorial district Charles M. Cox, the bull moose candidate, claims that he beat Senator Claude Allen. The latter alleges that he was elected by 62 votes. Cox claims that 32 votes in ward 3, Malden, were wrongfully counted for Allen. A recount will be asked for.

Representative Dean of Wakefield, who was elected on the face of the returns, will have to face a recount. His republican opponent, George E. Walker, is the petitioner.

Senator Barlow of Lowell, who represents the 8th Middlesex district, was declared elected Tuesday night by eight votes. His democratic opponent, Henry J. Draper of Lowell, asks that the vote be recounted.

Papers for recounts in Boston for representative contests have been taken out in wards 24 and 26; also in ward 12, where Henry A. Savage was defeated by 210, Edward P. McLaughlin winning out as the lowest democrat. Francis M. Cummings of ward 23, democrat, was defeated by W. P. Babb by 39 votes. He, too, took out papers for a recount.

Shewlin Beats Fleming
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Eddie Shewlin, the Boston welterweight, outpointed Bill Fleming of Oldtown, Me., in a 10-round bout last night at the 44th street Sporting club. Fleming had an advantage of five pounds on the Bostonian, but the latter earned the honors in nine of the 10 sessions. Shewlin's head only reached Fleming's shoulder, but this lack of height proved an advantage as he was able to duck many of Fleming's swings and plant his right into the Oldtown lad's mid-section. Shewlin landed the greater number of clean punches.

In a one-sided bout that lasted 10 rounds Johnny Lord of New York hammered and smashed Young Rally, another local lightweight. Chick Lawler knocked out Young Foley in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

It was announced that the English method of refereeing would be discontinued and that the old style would take its place. The Lewis-Maloney and Brown-Hogan fights were declared off.

HOME TREATMENT FOR NERVOUSNESS

It is never too late to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for nervous troubles.

You can be certain that a breakdown or exhaustion of your nerves is due to a lack of nourishment caused by thin or impure blood. The starved nerves break down after any unusual strain. This condition is easily remedied with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They start at once to build up the blood, making it richer and purer with every dose, thereby checking further wear on the nerves and the progress of the disease. The new blood makes the nerves more fit every day to do their work.

The thoroughness with which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People act is seen in the clear complexion, better appetite, improved digestion, gain in weight and the freedom from restlessness, sleeplessness, irritability and headaches.

Mrs. J. L. Brennan, of No. 69 Parker street, Brewer, Maine, says: "For three years I suffered with nervousness and was confined to bed one time for six weeks. I couldn't sleep as I was constantly imagining that I saw all sorts of things when I closed my eyes. My stomach was in bad shape and I could eat nothing but light foods. I was troubled with gas on my stomach. I had awful headaches. The pains were through my forehead and were like neuralgia. I became so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor and had to give up my work. My heart would palpitate when I exerted myself, like going up stairs."

"Our doctor said I was nervous and run down but he did not give me enough help and I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a month's time I had been greatly benefited and I took the pills until cured. I am now free from nervousness and can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a grand blood and nerve tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have given gratifying results in nervous debility, nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

We will send free upon request our new booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," to anyone interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct by mail, postpaid, 60 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

WILL ASK RECOUNTS SECRETARY MACVEAGH

Democratic Candidates Completes Rules on Free Ship Imports

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Because of the closeness of the vote for attorney general, state auditor and treasurer, between the democratic and republican candidates, Chairman Thomas P. Riley of the democratic state committee yesterday decided that he would ask for a recount of the votes cast for these offices.

Accordingly, he started the machinery yesterday by instructing the various city and town chairmen to prepare their recount petitions.

Out in the 4th Middlesex senatorial district Charles M. Cox, the bull moose candidate, claims that he beat Senator Claude Allen. The latter alleges that he was elected by 62 votes. Cox claims that 32 votes in ward 3, Malden, were wrongfully counted for Allen. A recount will be asked for.

cordence with the act passed at the last session of congress.

The regulations will be made public in a day or two, and provide, it is understood, for a free entry of wireless apparatus, sails and rigging as part of the equipment of a ship. These have been disputed points.

It was necessary for the department to define what is equipment and what is a vessel. The law applies only to "vessels." According to reliable authority, it is held that a vessel is a craft of five tons or more, that is, a documented or registered ship. Consequently free entry is not accorded to materials for racing shells and other small craft.

The regulations, it is said, will admit bolts, nuts, rivets, plates and the like which go into the construction of a ship or its machinery. Engines or auxiliary machinery, such as pumps, dynamos, etc., set up or knocked down, will not come in free because the law specifies materials for the construction of machinery. Furniture, china and glassware will be admitted as equipment.

Dealers, it is declared, will not be permitted to stock their places with free ship materials, but must make the importations for specific purposes. The treasury department will undertake the mammoth task of tracing the articles into consumption.

Free equipment will be allowed only once, it is said. That is, a vessel cannot from time to time replace its equipment as it is worn out.

Issued by Pres. Taft This Afternoon—Nov. 28 is Day Set for the Observance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—President Taft this afternoon issued the following Thanksgiving day proclamation:

"By the president of the United States of America.

"A God-fearing nation like ours owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All-Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the national executive to call upon his fellow countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in earnest supplication for their continuance.

"The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamities that have afflicted other peoples; rich in harvests so abundant and industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government, bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired but rather improved by good use to our children and our children's children from all time to come, the people of this country have abundant cause for contented gratitude.

"Therefore, I, William Howard Taft, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of long established usage and in response to the wish of the American people, invite my countrymen wherever they may sojourn to join in Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November, in appropriate ascription of praise and thanks to God for the good gifts that have been our portion and in humble prayer that his great mercies toward us may endure.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twelve, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundredth and thirty-seventh.

(Signed) "William H. Taft,"
"Alva A. Adco,"
"Acting Secretary of State."

On Hand. Scratched So They Bled, Spread to Other Hand and Face, Ashamed to Go Out. Cured By Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

316 5th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.—"About a year ago I noticed a pimple on the back of my hand. I picked it, and the next day my hand became full of pimples. They came in blotches, about a half dozen together. When they first appeared they were red and inflamed and itched very much. I scratched them so they bled and then they developed into sores. The disease spread to my other hand, and face. As I could not sleep or eat. Finally when I began to despair of getting better a friend told me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for samples and used them. I took a hot bath, using Cuticura Soap, and then applied the Cuticura Ointment to the affected parts before going to bed. When I woke up the next morning the itching had stopped. Within three weeks I had no sign of a pimple. I was entirely cured."

(Signed) E. Marks, Dec. 10, 1911.

ALDRICH IS ACQUITTED
The Jury Was Out Only Five Minutes

WORCESTER, Nov. 8.—Robert E. Aldrich, an Upton boy who has been on trial in the superior court on a charge of arson, was acquitted by a jury yesterday after the jury had been out only five minutes.

The boy was charged with setting fire to the barn of Constable Henry T. Aldrich in Upton on July 23, 1911, and the evidence used against him was an alleged confession obtained from him and signed by him after he had a six hours' session in the Upton town hall with men from a Boston detective agency.

The Aldrich boy claimed that the confession was secured from him under third degree methods and he declared to the jury that he knew nothing of the fire's origin, because he was in the engine house playing cards with members of the fire company when the alarm came in and he was out of the place only five minutes. He told the court that after he had been called to the town hall by representatives of the Boston detective agency, one of the men showed him a badge and said he would give him five minutes to tell the truth. He said he told the detective he was in the engine house at the time and left it only five minutes when he went to get a drink of water.

The detective, at the end of the five minutes, said he had heard enough of that talk, according to the boy's story, and he then told another detective who was there to put the boy under arrest. Young Aldrich said the detective then said, "You'll have to own up to the truth."

After he had been taken, the boy claimed, the first detective told him he had heard enough evidence that he did it and that if he didn't own up to it he would get from 10 to 20 years. "He said he had a way with the courts and the judges are with him," said young Aldrich, "and I was kind of scared." The written statement was given him to sign and he read it through, skipping the big words, as he did not understand them. He thought he would get a long time in prison if he did not sign the paper, so he signed it, he said.

In charging the jury Judge Ralston told it to disregard the alleged confession if it thought it had been obtained from the boy under pressure. A verdict of not guilty was returned in five minutes.

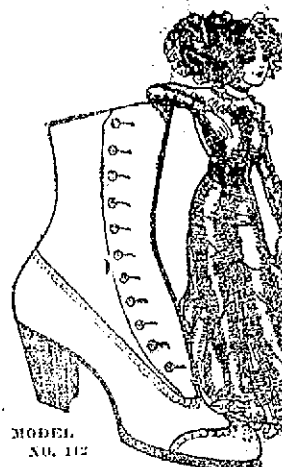

INDICTMENT OF "L" ROAD
Quashed, by Order of Judge Brown

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Judge Brown in superior court yesterday quashed the indictment against the Boston Elevated Railway company, charging coercion of employees. The indictment alleged the company coerced employees not to join or remain in the newly formed Carpenters' union, in violation of Section 13, Chapter 514, of the Acts of 1909.

The company contended that the statute was similar to a federal law that had been held unconstitutional by the supreme court of the United States. It was agreed between counsel that if the judge found the state and federal statutes were similar he should quash the indictment. Both Attorney Henry P. Hough for the road and District Attorney Pelletier expected the judge would throw out the indictment.

"The United States supreme court held that an employer could not be prevented by statute from discharging a man because he was a member of a union or was not, and such a prohibitory statute was in violation of the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution."

The judge still has under consideration the indictments against the six division superintendents accused of perjury in testifying before the state board of conciliation and arbitration.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD

Strongly Urges Harvard Men to Drill

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, addressed a large gathering of the Harvard undergraduates in the Harvard union last evening, and was enthusiastically received by the students. His subject was "The Military Policy of the United States."

He said in part: "The military policy of the United States is the same as not getting a football eleven in shape for the big game, but trusting to luck for good results. We shall have a war in the not distant future. We are a world power and are coming into contact with the others expanding also. Six hundred thousand men must be mobilized for such a war, and yet we could mobilize but 100,000 men here quickly and 35,000 of these would be of the regular army. What a problem we are up against without a reserve force to rely upon."

"If you are prepared for war you will find it unlikely to happen. Preparation is the best preventive for war. Turkey is being defeated today chiefly through not being prepared."

"There is nothing which justifies us in believing that we are superior to other nations. We have never had single-handed a war with a first-class power. Wars come quickly without warning today and we are wholly unprepared to meet any military attack. We might lose control of the sea and then we would be subjected to attack anywhere."

"I am sorry that there is no military instruction here. Many colleges are doing this and we hope to interest you young fellows, and when war comes the young men who have received instructions and are prepared will be the officers. We want to see military organization and instruction in colleges of this country."

"The militia is opposed by the labor unions and we have a hard time keeping this on. We are taking no precaution against useless loss of human life in battles and we have to learn to be soldiers after the war has begun. Imagine what a panic there would be if a force of 50,000 hostile troops were landed on our coast here near Boston."

"Our coast defenses are worthless without men enough to work them right. Trouble is sure to come to a growing nation and our commercial growth must be accompanied by military growth for safety."

WOODROW WILSON ROOM

Has Become Quite an Historical Place

PRINCETON, Nov. 8.—With the election of Woodrow Wilson as the 28th president of the United States a great many things in Princeton have assumed an historical value. Chief among these is the room occupied by Woodrow Wilson, Princeton sophomore who now occupies room number 7 in Witherspoon hall, did not know when he got it that it was historic. When he put a black coat of paint on the mantel and put up his various carvings of initials and records of athletic victories he fears that he covered up the initials of "W. W. W." for it was as "Tommy W. Wilson" that the president-elect was known in his college days. It is said that he later dropped the first name so as to have a name of 13 letters because he believed 13 a lucky number. No initials can be found, however, that mark the one-time presence of Wilson, the undergraduate. College flags and the decorations of another age adorn the walls, but above the study desk is a campaign drawing of Wilson with his signature on it. The Woodrow Wilson room is on the second floor of Witherspoon hall, a gray stone building erected in 1871, when Wilson was a junior of college. On his walks through the campus in the last few days the president-elect has looked up affectionately at the window of his old room and pointed it out to those accompanying him. "I did a lot of studying in that room," he said. The room overlooks the open country where the battle of Princeton was fought in revolutionary

Man Fell From Landing to Mill Floor

Fred Langlois, aged 25 years, a well known resident of Grantville, met with a fatal accident at the Abbot Worsted Company mills in Forge Village yesterday morning. He was at work in the mill storehouse and fell from a landing to the concrete floor 20 feet below, striking on his head, which rendered him unconscious. His left arm and left foot were also broken. Medical aid was summoned and the doctors did all in their power to relieve the young man, but their efforts were fruitless. An automobile was summoned and the unfortunate man was hurried to his home in Grantville. Dr. Gage of Lowell was called in consultation with the other physicians, and while all did everything possible, the young man passed away yesterday afternoon. The accident happened about eight o'clock in the morning and the unfortunate young man never regained consciousness. His death is particularly sad, as he leaves a young wife, Edith Cote Langlois, the couple having been married only two months. He also leaves a father and mother and several brothers and sisters in Canada. The deepest sympathy is expressed to the bereaved family.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Beginning the execution of its extensive plans for the permanent operation of the Panama canal, the canal commission has awarded a contract to the United States Steel Products company for seven million pounds of structural steel work to cost about $400,000. The commission's plans are for works separate entirely from the canal construction and include the facilities that the government is to provide for the repair of ships, the upkeep of the vast canal machinery itself, the handling of coal and liquid fuel for shipping and permanent office buildings and accommodations for the small army of employees which will be required to operate the canal. There will be a large force of clerks and engineers under permanent employment. The present contract covers machine shops, forge shops, steel storage sheds, paint and car shops, planing mills, foundries, coke sheds, boiler houses, round houses and gas houses. This is only the beginning. Among the other facilities to be supplied are one thousand feet piers for commercial use at Balboa, two wharves and one pier at Cristobal, besides a mole and breakwater, to be followed by four other piers should the traffic justify it. There will be a great dry-dock at Balboa, 1000 feet long, capable of accommodating any vessel that could pass through the canal locks. This will be on a rock foundation, built of concrete, a smaller dry-dock at Balboa will handle vessels up to 350 feet in length. As the government is going into the business of supplying morchant vessels with fuel, water and other supplies, the commission, according to the canal record, plans to have the main coaling plant on the Atlantic side, capable of handling and storing 500,000 tons of coal, one-half of which will be kept under water, where it has been found to better retain its gaseous contents. There will be a lesser coaling plant on the Pacific side at Balboa, capable of storing 100,000 tons of coal under and above water. In recognition of the rapid substitution of oil for coal as a marine fuel, the commission has planned to erect four steel tanks of 40,000 barrels capacity each, and contracts already have been placed for their construction. The main repair shops for merchant vessels will be at Balboa. They will be on a large scale, covering a ground space of 50,000 square feet. As far as possible, the present machinery will be utilized in the new shops. One item of equipment peculiar to the canal will be one or two powerful floating cranes capable of handling the giant steel lock gates of the canal when repairs are needed.

Summer Hotel and a Building Destroyed

HARWICH, Nov. 8.—The Harwich savings bank building and the hotel Winslow, a summer boarding house, were destroyed by fire early today. Adjacent property was saved only by a hard struggle. The hotel was valued at $7000 and the bank building at $6000. While the fire was burning bank officials entered the building opened the safe and removed all the contents to a place of safety. The cause of fire has not been determined.

VICTORS LOOK AT PLUMS

$72,500 in Federal Jobs in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The first big question of real importance to the democratic politicians of Massachusetts is relative to the view that President-elect Wilson will take of the big plums which lie within his gift. The federal offices are now held by republicans who have been there for many years. The plums are worth $72,500 a year. The offices are being administered without hostile comment. Some of the offices in them are exceptionally good men. One thing is certain, the new president will be urged by the Massachusetts democratic leaders to make a clean sweep. One of the big places is the collectorship of the port of Boston, now held by Edwin U. Curtis, formerly republican mayor of Boston. He was appointed two years ago by President Taft, who promoted him from the place as sub-treasurer. The salary is $8000. Last spring Postmaster Mansfield was appointed for a four-year term. He is well liked by all those connected with the local office and has been prominent in carrying out the reforms of Mr. Hitchcock. The salary is $3000. Other offices whose places are now much talked of are: United States District Attorney and P. French, salary $5000. Three assistant district attorneys, William H. Garland, E. Mark Sullivan and Daniel Shea, $2500 each. United States Marshal Guy Murchie, salary $5000. Murchie was a Rough Rider and was appointed by Colonel Roosevelt. Last spring he was reappointed by President Taft.

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR

Was Elected to the New York Legislature

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A street car conductor who did all his campaigning from the rear platform of the car over which he officiates is one of the successful Brooklyn candidates for the state legislature. He is Joseph Monahan, democrat, elected from a litherto rock-ribbed republican district. His opponents, two lawyers, Edward Ka-rutz, republican and Jacob Kernofol, progressive, figured he would be a bad third, but the result gave him a plurality of nearly 3000 votes. He leaped to the tracks, and seizing the little boy, threw him to one side just as the train bore down upon him. He was thrown several feet, his skull fractured, and he was injured internally.

HE SAVED HIS BROTHER

But Young Boy Lost His Own Life

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Michael Pegrosky, 14, of 74 Everett avenue, Chelsea, was instantly killed while rescuing his four-year-old brother yesterday afternoon on the Everett avenue crossing of the Boston & Maine railroad in Chelsea. Young Pegrosky succeeded in pushing the child from the tracks where he was standing, but was struck and instantly killed by an inward bound train. The accident took place about 5 o'clock, and was witnessed by a number of people. Little John Pegrosky had toddled down the street and was standing in the center of the tracks, when his brother saw him and at the same time heard the approaching train. He leaped to the tracks, and seizing the little boy, threw him to one side just as the train bore down upon him. He was thrown several feet, his skull fractured, and he was injured internally.

Attractive New Stockings

From Paris comes the newest thing in silk hosiery—these embroidered with dots. This may easily be done at home, and many who cannot afford to pay the exorbitant price asked for a pair of these pretty stockings may enjoy the luxury of owning several pairs. Embroider the dots in a triangular shape upon the instep, placing them a uniform distance apart, carefully following the outside line of the triangle which you have basted on the stocking.

PRESENTED A PURSE OF GOLD

membered by the

REV. J. N. JACQUES

Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis' church was last night the recipient of a purse of gold and other gifts from the children attending the parochial school of his parish, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of his birth. The presentation was made in the course of a delightful entertainment which was carried out in the school hall in Boisvert street, and where the parents of the pupils, numbering about 500 had gathered.

The beloved pastor of St. Louis' church was born at Verchere, Que., on

Nov. 2, 1862 and spent the early days of his boyhood in his native village. He received his early education in the Catholic schools at Verchere and studied for the priesthood at the college of the Assumptionist Fathers.

After being ordained to the priesthood he remained in his diocese for several years and later came to Massachusetts. In 1904 when St. Louis' parish was organized he was sent to this city as pastor after serving in the same capacity at Cohasset, Mass., for a few years. Fr. Jacques at once gained the confidence of all his parishioners and soon he became a favorite with them.

The growth of the parish was such that after a couple of years the pastor called for a curate and Rev. Fr. Lacroix was sent to his aid, but his sojourn in Lowell was short for he was made pastor of the parish Fr. Jacques had left to come to this city, that in Cohasset.

Fr. Jacques is fond of children and they in turn have much love for him and they could not let his birthday anniversary pass unnoticed, so headed by the Sisters of the Assumption, who are in charge of the school, an entertainment program was arranged and the little ones filled a purse with gold to be presented to their pastor.

Monday afternoon a dress rehearsal of the program was held in the school hall in the presence of all the pupils and last night the little ones in their pretty gowns went over the same program in the presence of their parents and their pastor.

The hall was elaborately decorated for the occasion, the stage being decorated with potted plants and shrubbery, while in the center of the platform hung a large picture of Fr. Jacques with a gold inscription "1862-1912, Ad Multos Annos."

The presentation address was read by Wilmer Deaneau, while the gifts which consisted of a purse, a stole and a huge bouquet, were presented by Masters Sylvia Barrette and Raymond Garneau. This was followed by a few appropriate remarks by the pastor in the course of which he thanked his little friends for their mark of esteem and assured them he would never forget their kindness.

Among those who took part in the entertainment were Misses Ouida Lusler, Alice Ducharme, Evangeline Breault, Alice Desrosiers, Isabelle Lebrun, M. Anna Asselin, Alice Lapointe, Laura Marcotte, Marguerite Delorme, Lella Bousquet, Marie Renaud, Alma Soudard, Alice Bertrand, Irene Pepin, Ida Lorange, Lauretta Champagns, Della Thibault, M. Anne Ouellette, Jeannette Michaud, Lellanne Golin, Cecile Boiteau, Alma Lewis, Clara Breault, Gilbert Lomede, Yvonne Lefebvre and Maria Asselin. The boys taking active part in the program were: George Toupin, Walter Bolduc, Bernard Boudreau, Edouard Desrosiers, Wilmer Deaneau, Raymond Garneau and Sylvia Barrette.

The program consisted of vocal and instrumental selections and recitations and the splendid way it was rendered reflects much credit on the little ones and their teachers.

LITCHFIELD IS INDICTED

Case

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Wilford J. Litchfield, 46 years old, was arrested yesterday in his apartment in Hotel Navarre within an hour after being indicted by the grand jury in connection with the death of Frederick X. Whittier, who expired last Monday morning from cyanide of potassium poisoning after becoming ill in the rooms of the accused.

Related to the wealthy Litchfield family of Southbridge, Litchfield enjoyed a large income and lived in ease in the hotel.

As a result of several conferences between Medical Examiner Leary and officials of the district attorney's office, it was decided that Litchfield had acted improperly in speech and behavior for six months. Beside the indictment on this charge, the grand jury yesterday returned one other indictment against him.

The accused took his arrest calmly. At police headquarters he talked with his attorney, Cornelius A. Parker. He was photographed and Acting Inspector James Chaffin took his finger prints.

Whittier was not related to the family of the poet Whittier, as had at first been given out. He had frequented Litchfield's apartment and the latter had at different times given him money.

A wife, Whittier was adopted when 7 years old by a family named Woodbury, living near Worcester. Four years ago he ran away from home. He was 24 years old.

Wilford J. Litchfield was born in Southbridge. His relatives control the Litchfield Shuttle company, a large manufacturing concern.

He graduated from the Southbridge high school at the age of 18. He then went to Canton, N. Y., where he graduated from St. Lawrence University in 1894. At college he made few friends, and he was generally regarded as a youth of none too robust physique by his fellow students. He was always plentifully supplied with money, but he considered a poor student.

He returned to Southbridge and became known as an antiquarian and historian. He wrote a history of the town of Southbridge, which is now in the town library. He also specialized in genealogy and busied himself inquiring into his own family history. He removed to Boston a number of years ago.

Litchfield has for a number of years given prizes for excellence in modern languages at St. Lawrence and he has visited Canton, N. Y., each year. He was the first secretary of the Southbridge Y. M. C. A. He last visited his native town about four weeks ago. He is unmarried.

LONGWORTH DEFEATED

His Opponent

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—Unless the official canvass of the vote cast last Tuesday in the 1st congressional district shows a different result than that produced by the unofficial count, Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, candidate on the regular republican ticket, has been defeated for reelection by about 100 votes and Attorney Stanley Bowditch, democrat, will be the next representative.

The unofficial figures, every precinct having reported, indicate that Bowditch has 22,255 and Longworth 22,157 votes. The news of the probable defeat of Longworth came as a big surprise, for until yesterday morning it was thought that Longworth had won.

The partial returns which clerks employed by the election board had tallied, were found to be so far from correct that it is surprising that so great an error could have been made without it being discovered earlier.

Up to Wednesday afternoon, when the figures indicated Longworth would win by about 1000, no comparison of the total vote was made, but it was then discovered that the figures given out could not be correct, as they indicated fully 10,000 more votes cast in the 1st district than there are voters.

A recount, still unofficial, then resulted in the figures that indicated Bowditch's election. But the result may be changed by the official canvass, so, until the election board completes its work it will not be positively known what the correct figures are.

The board of elections will require considerable time in arriving at the correct vote, as it will have to go back to the ballot box itself, in which are the ballot stubs, on which the totals must be recorded.

Mr. Bowditch said last night: "From the information I received I feel absolutely certain that I have been elected by a majority of 100 votes over Mr. Longworth. This represents a shrinkage of nearly 1500 votes in the announcements promulgated as to Mr. Longworth's alleged victory. Further than this I have nothing to say until the official count is made public."

Mr. Longworth said last night: "I have nothing to say until the official count is announced."

The fight is still on and we are still selling the best Trust pianos, new, lower—lower—than ever before.

WHEN BILLY BURKE REALLY PAINTS

Over in England they wind up everybody's biography with the information—"recreations." Well, Miss Billie Burke's recreations used to be walking, motoring, and raking any newly mown lawn. But now all these are given up for painting. Miss Burke calls it "daubing." But she says: "It doesn't matter. It teaches me concentration, patience and repose, and then at night, curiously, I have to sing 'Mind the paint, my dearest; mind the paint.'"

"New England's Great Cash Store"

Boston, Mass.

For Three Big Boston Concerns

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—C. F. Wood of Brookline, a lawyer, and Melroy H. Gibson of this city were appointed receivers by Judge Colt in the United States circuit court late yesterday afternoon by agreement of William S. Butler & Co., incorporated, the Gilchrist company and Everybody's store, incorporated, as a result of a situation that followed the recent tragic death of William E. Butler.

The capital stock of Butler's and Everybody's store is owned by a voluntary association, styled the Butler companies, which also holds the controlling interest in the Gilchrist company.

The financial condition of William S. Butler & Co., Inc., on the corner of Winter and Washington streets, was stated to be such as to necessitate the appointment of receivers, and the affairs of that corporation were so mingled with the other two concerns—Gilchrist's and Everybody's store—that both the latter, while solvent, deemed it expedient to intervene in the receivership proceedings brought against William S. Butler & Co., Inc., by Isaac McLean Sons company, a creditor, and to ask that the receivers named for the defendant in that action also be appointed to assume charge of their stores pending the adjustment of affairs.

The Butler company admitted the truth of the allegations, and in independent petitions the other concerns set forth their relations with the former through the late William E. Butler.

Indebtedness Alleged

In the main proceeding by Isaac McLean Sons company it is alleged that

W. S. Butler & Co., Inc., is indebted to it for labor and materials, said to consist of store fixtures, on an open account, to the extent of $25,000, though two promissory notes for $10,000 each are not yet due.

It is alleged that the total indebtedness of the concern is approximately $700,000, while the assets, consisting of stock and merchandise, are worth about $250,000. It is stated that the corporation is without sufficient cash capital or quick assets, and because of this lack, it is alleged, it would be necessary to close the store and sacrifice its assets unless receivers were appointed to take charge and borrow money on receivers' certificates.

Accompanying this bill were the intervening petitions of the other concerns. In the petition of the Gilchrist company it was stated that on March 29, 1912, William E. Butler purported to execute a lease in the name and on behalf of Gilchrist company of due and full performance of the covenants of a lease between William E. Butler's Sons company and William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and Butler, as treasurer and manager, of both corporations.

Accompanying this bill were the intervening petitions of the other concerns. In the petition of the Gilchrist company it was stated that on March 29, 1912, William E. Butler purported to execute a lease in the name and on behalf of Gilchrist company of due and full performance of the covenants of a lease between William E. Butler's Sons company and William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and Butler, as treasurer and manager, of both corporations.

The petition states that William E. Butler, treasurer of the voluntary association referred to, borrowed money from the Gilchrist company and loaned the same to William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and the latter bought merchandise from time to time with the money so loaned. It is alleged that the money was used by William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and also by the Gilchrist company, so that an adjustment must be made between the Gilchrist company and W. S. Butler & Co., Inc., or its creditors.

your suffering and hawking and discharge of obnoxious mucus will cease entirely. Then continue until every germ is destroyed; until the soreness and dryness in the throat have disappeared. WILL NOT STOP BUSINESS

The Boston News Bureau printed the following editorial yesterday:

"The most remarkable as well as reassuring feature during the recent presidential campaign was the continued expansion of commerce and industry in the face of the general belief that the outcome would be the success of the democratic party, the tariff policies of which have been more or less opposed by manufacturers and business in general.

"Reports were sent out from Pittsburgh last week that there had been a lull in steel buying on the eve of election, but these statements were not based upon facts. Business of the U. S. Steel corporation in the last two weeks of October was far in excess of what it was in the first two weeks of the month.

"There is every reason to believe that the tonnage statement of the Steel corporation for October, to be published Nov. 9, will show largest increase in monthly output orders since the improvement began.

"Consensus of opinion in business circles is that the election of Woodrow Wilson will not check the upward trend of business. One of his efforts while in office will be to effect a readjustment of tariff, but it is not believed he will go about it in such a way as to destroy confidence.

"The opinion seems to be universal that business has gained such remarkable headway that nothing is likely to check activity for the next 12 months, at least.

"Orders on the books of the steel companies are enormous, and the steel, iron, copper and other industries are flourishing.

"It may be a year before the democratic party gets down to business so that one can form a definite idea as to the plans underway for tariff reform, and the policy to be pursued in matters of so-called monopolies.

"A development that seems to show that manufacturers expect no interruption to business in the near future is found in the fact that two corporations doing business aggregating hundreds of millions of dollars a year have contracted for the steel requirements for the entire year of 1913."

Thrown From Wagon

Peter Tremblay of Graniteville while driving home last night about 8:30 o'clock was thrown from his wagon over the corner of Middlesex and Mangham streets when his horse became frightened at a passing electric car.

In falling his head struck against a tree and he was dazed for a short time. The ambulance was summoned and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital where an examination showed that he was suffering from a bad cut on the head, a cut on the nose and a general shaking up.

ANOTHER BIG DAY

Second Saturday at King's Money Raising Clothing Sale to be a Whopper.

King's great Money Raising Clothing sale continues with enthusiasm, the keen buying keeping up despite the unseasonable and unusual weather.

And well it might for the offerings are certainly money savers and every man who keenly feels the need of saving a cent, should not idly pass this great chance by.

Last Saturday, which was the opening Saturday of this sale, will surely be surpassed this Saturday, both in volume of business and in values. While all needed furnishing goods may be found at big reductions it is the clothing that is featured heaviest in the reduction, for it is here that the money must be raised.

So, you men who need to buy a fall suit or overcoat get busy, and go to this sale tomorrow. Go expecting great things and you won't be disappointed. Go expecting the biggest dollar's worth that you ever received in any clothing store in Lowell and you will find it. Go expecting to find a crowd and you will see it.

This sale should interest especially the large body of men who pay the popular prices of $10 and $15 for a suit or overcoat. If you've been accustomed to pay $15, go with $10 in your pocket and you'll get a $15 garment—or if you have a $20 suit in mind, come to King's and you'll get it and go out with a $5 bill still tucked away in your pocket.

Not only in men's clothing, but in boys' and children's things can big savings be made. Twenty-five per cent. reductions are common, while 33 and 40 per cent. is not unusual.

This great sale at King's is truly a GREAT SALE. No one should miss it. Make sure you benefit by it Saturday, 31 Merrimack street.

By Government in Dynamite Trial

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Four months of activity by labor leaders on the Pacific coast preceded the explosion in Los Angeles, Calif., according to letters and telegrams introduced by the government at the trial of the 45 accused "dynamite plotters" yesterday.

From telegrams and letters read to the jury the government set forth that four months before the Times Building was blown up Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco, who was instructed to investigate labor conditions in Los Angeles, telegraphed to John J. McNamara:

"The fight is on in Los Angeles. We are going to win. Send Hookin at once."

McNamara wired Clancy: "Better get a man in Los Angeles to do the work. Hookin too busy in the east."

Clancy went to Seattle, Wash., and on Aug. 16, 1910, H. W. Pohlman, a labor leader there, wrote to J. J. McNamara: "Clancy met his man here. I think I understand the situation."

James B. McNamara was in Seattle and the government charges that Clancy met him. On Aug. 31 an office building under construction there was blown up. At this time $1000 was voted by the Iron Workers' union executive board to the California building trades council for promoting the union at Los Angeles. A receipt, signed by Olaf A. Frelimo, secretary of the council, was produced.

And They Will Walk and Walk and Walk

F. D. Underwood and Dr. J. H. Finley Plan Trip

not walk from New York to Chicago for bathing and change of clothing. Dr. Finley said not long ago he believed it would take him and Mr. Underwood a month to complete the trip, but it is not believed that the two men (Mr. Underwood has some of the perthness that comes to men of his age who do not engage in severe manual labor) will be able to do more than twenty-five miles a day. That would mean forty days for the "trip." This would exceed the rate made last May by Mrs. Beach of New York, who walked from New York to Chicago on a route measuring 1871 miles in forty-two and a half walking days.

Of course neither Mrs. Beach nor Presidents Finley and Underwood could hope to compete with Edward Payson Weston, champion professional pedestrian of the world, who "hoofed it" from New York to the Pacific coast in the summer of 1892, on his outward journey Mr. Weston traversed 1243 miles from New York to Chicago in thirty walking days. Investigation shows that the United States has an amazingly small number of prominent men who are known as walkers. In this respect America differs from Great Britain, for the sister races of the British Isles have many pedestrians of high standing in other "walks of life," so to speak. But in the United States the men of mark seem to prefer wearing out automobile tires to wearing out sole leather.

President Taft is not a poor walker, considering his girth. Colonel Roosevelt is at home afoot and on horseback. Chief Justice White and Cardinal Farley are fond of long walks, and Mayor Gaynor's trips afoot from his home in Brooklyn to the New York city hall have been mentioned in newspapers frequently.

Doctors say it would be a good thing for Americans and others if the example of railroad President Underwood and College President Finley stirred others to emulation, not necessarily of the undertaking of a walk from New York to Chicago or from the latter city to the former, but of the taking of long walks. There is practical unanimity among the members of the medical profession on the benefits of walking. Many a man who sees in his expanding waist line an evidence of advancing age could ward off the feeling of alarm which the increase engenders by walking to and from his work.

Not long ago the inspector general of the United States army declared that the staff sergeants from the Philippines are too stout and recommended long daily walks in order to reduce their weights. A newspaper commentator on the order says: "In the brisk fall weather walking is a delight. The pity is that so many do not appreciate the joy of it. Walking has always been one of the real resources of humanity, but at present the general mental attitude of the general public is such as to discourage it. The feeling is that he who goes afoot has somehow failed in life. Had he succeeded he would be whizzing through space by an automobile, but as he is walking he must be at best a well meaning failure. Such is the attitude which has cut off one of the splendid common delights of man."

A BLUE HOG

Is the Latest Product of the Pork Raising Industry—Result of Years of Experimenting

PEABODY, Nov. 8.—A blue hog is the latest product of the pork raising industry. The new breed is the result of years of experimenting by a Peabody livestock company. Hitherto the hog has been white, black or red, but never blue, although there were 65,000,000 porkers in the United States last New Year's. Peabody now boasts of a herd of 100 blue pigs.

The animals are described as "quiet and gentle, bordering in certain cases on a display of affection for the keepers." English System Not Liked NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The English system of refereeing boxing matches with the official sitting outside the ropes is a thing of the past at New York boxing clubs. This system has been given a four weeks' trial at the Forty-fourth street sporting club and has met with disapproval not only from the club officials, but also from the state athletic commission.

WIRE TAPPING GAME

Four Men Arrested in New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—On the complaint of Dr. J. W. Powell and Durby C. Sidbury, a lawyer, both of Wilmington, N. C., the New York police yesterday arrested two men on a charge of having defrauded the southerners out of $25,000 through a "wire tapping" swindle. Sidbury identified one prisoner as a man who posed as a telegraph company official. The lawyer says he lost $22,000.

The prisoners gave the names of "Charles Daly" and Frank Graham. The police have then booked, however, as Charles and Frank Gondorf. The police later arrested a third man, 60 years old, whom they described as an international swindler and the originator of the wire tapping game.

He gave his name as John Kay, but the police say he has often posed as "Sir John Gray," and that he had been more widely known as "Paper Collar Joe."

Although "Paper Collar Joe" gave his name as Kay, his real name is Krakowski. He is more than 60 years old and is said to have been a confidence man practically all his life. One of the notable cases in which he figured was the swindling of a man named Krole out of $105,000 in a fixed card game at Naples.

On complaint of Simon Jones of Pittsburgh that he lost $20,000 in the same sort of swindle as that to which the southerners fell victims and in the same house, Charles Carbobol also was arrested. All of the prisoners were held in heavy bail for examination next week.

The police say it is a puzzle to them that with so much publicity given to the old wiretapping swindle, even an occasional victim is found.

In the case of the southerners, it is alleged $5000 was spent in staging the swindle. A "gleeter" from New York, with his wife, took up residence in Wilmington, and entertained lavishly, and through them Dr. Powell and Sidbury were told how to "beat the game" in New York.

BOOKS EXAMINED

No Known Shortage in New England Workmen Funds, Though Suicide Causes Anxiety

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 8.—Four attaches of the office of the state insurance commissioner went to work yesterday on the books of Frederick E. Phillips, general secretary of the New England Workmen, who shot and killed himself in a shed in the rear of his home in Central Falls Wednesday.

It is expected several days will be taken up before the investigation will be completed.

It is not known that there is anything wrong with the books, though the suicide of Phillips after he had made an appointment to meet the commissioner has created anxiety. Gen. Treas. William M. Moore of the New England Workmen said this afternoon that the funds of the order are held in trust in various banks throughout this city and Pawtucket, and in order to draw any amount from either institution would require an order signed by the trustees. He did not know of any way by which an individual could gain access to the funds.

The trustees announced yesterday that funds of the order to the amount of $3,536,432 are on deposit, with all claims paid and no liabilities.

MAN COLLECTED MONEY SAYS HE WAS ON THE TITANIC

A man who gave the name of Elzear Sauvageau, succeeded in collecting money among many of the local merchants during the past few days, by telling a story of his escape from death while aboard the steamship Titanic. The man claimed he was a passenger aboard the fatal ship and that while boarding a small craft which had been dropped from the large steamship, he was shot twice in the back by one of the officers. He also tells that four others of the passengers were killed.

Sauvageau carries along with him a certificate from a local physician to the effect that he bears two scars on his back, probably caused by bullets, and this is what he shows as a proof of having been on the Titanic. As a matter of fact, he has two bullet scars on his back, but according to the physician who examined him, the wounds were made probably years ago.

Sauvageau claims he arrived in this city Wednesday after being confined in a hospital in New York since the fatal disaster. Yesterday afternoon he called on several business men in upper Merrimack street and after relating his story he asked for a little cash in order to keep him until Tuesday, at which time he said he would be in Canada to his sister, who would take care of him. A well known proprietor of a pool room near the corner of Cabot street, being somewhat interested in the story as told him, supplied the man with ready cash and later hired a room for him and paid his board for one week. His neighbor, a piano dealer, was also touched for money.

The supposed survivor of the Titanic disaster went into a furniture store in Alken street this morning and there again told his story. He said he was a passenger aboard the Titanic, and related a pitiful story as to how the steamer passengers were treated. He said he was playing cards with other people when the boat struck the iceberg, and a short time later they were all on the deck. He and several others got hold of a boat, he said, which was hanging on chains on the side of the ship and after dropping it, the boat sank. He said the officers of the crew fired at them and killed four, while several others were wounded, he receiving two bullets in the back. "However, we finally made our way into the small craft," continued Sauvageau, "and a few minutes later we were rowing away from the ship. The next day we were picked up by the Carpathia and brought to New York, where I was sent to a hospital."

"Last week," said Sauvageau, "the mayor of New York called on me at the hospital and when I told him the story he said in a week he said we would make a game and Tuesday when I came out of the institution I met him at the door and it was he who paid my fare to Lowell, for I was dead broke, having lost all of my money with my clothing on the Titanic. He also told me he had a small amount of money and he gave me a check for $50,000 in gold which he placed in the safe of the large ship, and which went down with the rest of the goods.

A young man who was listening to the story asked him to prove that he had been aboard the Titanic, to which Sauvageau replied he had all the necessary proofs in his room. The man from the Titanic was then apprised of the fact that begging or soliciting money in this city is strictly forbidden by law, and he made a hasty retreat, promising he would stop if he was forced. The little attack succeeded for a couple of days, but it is believed that Sauvageau will now have a hard time in working that game in this city.

Aeronauts May Have Been Taken for Spies

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—Friends of John W. Wainwright, pilot of the balloon Dusseldorf II in the International James Gordon Bennett trophy race again are worrying about him. Since he started in the race a week ago last Sunday only one message, a cablegram of four words, has been received from him. It announced simply that he and his aide, Arthur T. Atherholt, were in Pskov, Russia, and that they were safe and free. The cablegram was received by George M. Meyers, president of the Kansas City Aero club, last Sunday.

Mr. Meyers believes that the two aeronauts have been arrested by Russian officials who mistook them for spies.

The American embassy at St. Petersburg and the American legations at Stockholm and Copenhagen have been asked to aid in locating the missing men.

COMPANY G ANNUAL Pleasant Social Event at State Armory

Company G, 6th regiment, M. V. M. held its annual entertainment and banquet at the armory last night and in spite of the weather conditions a large crowd was on hand, including about every member of the company and guests.

The regular semi-monthly drill was held at 8.30 and proved to be very interesting both to military officers and guests present. The drill was under the direction of Captain Jeyes, First Lieutenant Doyle and Second Lieutenant Waller.

When the drill was dismissed the company went to their quarters and after a 10 minute rest they marched to the mess room where a banquet provided by Henderson Brothers occupied about 45 minutes of the boys' time. Following the banquet the entertainment opened with a three round boxing match between Barton and Kelly. Barton started some fast work in the last round and the bout proved very interesting both to the company and guests. John Walsh acted as referee. James Donnelly was introduced by Captain Jeyes as one of Lowell's well known singers and he pleased the audience by singing some of his famous Scotch songs. Edward Shea and John J. Dalton sang in their usual manner and were given long applause by those present. Another boxing bout was held between McEllan and Stone and proved to be even faster than the first one. Each boxer had their followers and were encouraged by the cheering crowd. Donald Hanson and Frank Connelly sang with their usual success. Mr. Maurice O'Donnell and Mr. Joseph Ellis of North Billerica gave several recitations and "Piker" John Walsh, the well known corporal of the company entertained in his usual funny way. A recitation was given by Mr. Stone and he was well applauded.

how to keep the world guessing as to their true intentions. The Turkish army and people apparently want the war carried on to the bitter end and in fact a German paper publishes a despatch from Sofia, which says Kiamil Pasha has already approached Bulgaria direct to begin negotiations for peace.

Kiamil Pasha, the aged grand vizier, however, will doubtless make a determined diplomatic effort to save Constantinople for his country. In fact, a German paper publishes a despatch from Sofia, which says Kiamil Pasha has already approached Bulgaria direct to begin negotiations for peace.

The situation at Constantinople itself continues to cause grave apprehension. Many foreign warships are gathered there while battleships are being placed on the heights to the north of the city and machine guns on the bridges between Pera, the foreign residential quarter, and Stamboul. With a fanatical armed mob running loose, however, the lives of Christians would, it is thought, be in serious peril.

To the other horrors threatening the Turkish capital must be added that of a disease something like cholera, which is said to have been introduced by the fugitive troops from the front.

While some quarters believe the omens are favorable for an amicable settlement of the claims of the Balkan allies and of the determination of Austria that their ambitions shall not be realized it is difficult to adjust the two points of view. It is said that Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy will agree to let Servia have a port on the Aegean sea but Servia wants parts of Albania and a port on the Adriatic sea and her armies are now pushing in that direction.

In other quarters it is believed the only hope for a settlement is for Servia to give way.

TURKISH SOLDIERS SAID TO HAVE MASSACRED MANY INHABITANTS OF SILIVARI

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 8.—Fugitive Turkish soldiers are reported to have massacred many of the inhabitants of the village of Silivari on the coast of the Sea of Marmara to the southwest of the Tuhajala forts. The fleeing soldiers, who were in a state of semi-starvation and utterly demoralized, are said to have set fire to all the houses in the village.

A disease resembling cholera has broken out among the wounded Turkish soldiers arriving in Constantinople. There is every indication here now that the war against the Balkan allies will be continued to the bitter end and that the Turkish line of forts at Tuhajala will be simultaneous with the taking of the fortress of Adrianople.

Officers of the army join with the Turkish press in applauding the determination of the commander-in-chief to continue the fight and it is stated that the population of the Turkish empire is ready to assist by every means in its power. At the same time many Moslems are said to have sworn to sacrifice their lives in order to safeguard the glory of Islam.

The Yeni Gazette says today: "If Europe wishes to tear up treaties it may do so but we will not allow the Koran and the history of Osman to be torn up. All the Turkish ministers with the grand vizier at their head as well as our high dignitaries, our soldiers and the whole nation have sworn to shed their blood in that cause. Those who entertain the idea of abandoning the fatherland will incur the malediction of the Almighty Prophet."

RUSSIA TO RETAIN ALL THE TIME-EXPIRED SOLDIERS IN ACTIVE SERVICE

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 5.—The Russian government has decided to retain all the time-expired soldiers of the Russian army in active service with their regiments until next spring. The Russian army practically places the war footing as the order affects several hundred thousand men whose places would in the ordinary course have been taken by the same number of recruits, who have just been called up.

It is announced that the government has taken this step as the best means of preventing war and it is thought that this can only mean that the government foresees the possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan situation.

The detention of the time-expired men will entail a cost of many millions.

BULGARIAN CABINET WANTS PEACE NEGOTIATIONS CONDUCTED

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 8.—The Bulgarian cabinet maintains the absolute necessity of any peace negotiations with Turkey being conducted directly with the Balkan nations in order to ensure the future position of the various states involved and to prevent the danger of further conflict after the war has ceased.

The government organ, Mr. Express, surprise that Turkey recognizes her defeat but yet ignores the virtues and continues to seek salvation from the powers. The newspaper remarks that such mediation in the past has proved costly for Turkey territorially and it persisted in how may cause her Asiatic empire to become a second Egypt.

THE PORTO HAS PROPOSED TO BULGARIA TO BEGIN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

COLOGNE, Germany, Nov. 8.—It is reported in Sofia, Bulgaria, that the Porto has proposed to Bulgaria to begin peace negotiations without the mediation of the powers, according to a despatch to the Cologne Gazette.

WILL NOT INTERVENE IN THE BALKAN SITUATION AT PRESENT, AT LEAST

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy will not intervene in the Balkan situation so long as their special interests are not affected and unless they are requested to do so by the belligerent powers.

This determination was reached during a series of conferences held here between the Marquis Di San Giuliano, Italian foreign minister, the imperial chancellor and the German foreign secretary at which the Austrian ambassador was also present.

In semi-official statement issued today it was announced that the three powers belonging to the triple alliance will follow a common course in regard to the Balkans, while at the same time keeping in friendly touch with the other powers.

CROWN PRINCE CALLS UPON TURKISH STRONGHOLD TO SURRENDER

ATHENS, Nov. 8.—Crown Prince Constantin of Greece has called upon the Turkish stronghold of Saloniki to surrender. The army under his command has crossed the Vardar river and is now before Saloniki. The Turkish garrison, which is believed to be composed of 15,000 men has made preparations to resist the Greek attack but it is not believed that any serious opposition will be met with by the Greek army, which will probably enter the fortress today.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE SURRENDER OF CONSTANTINOPLE ENTERED UPON

VIENNA, Nov. 8.—Informal negotiations for the surrender of Constantinople already have been entered upon, according to the correspondent of the Reichspost with the Bulgarian army. He adds that the Bulgarians hope the fall of the Turkish line of forts at Tuhajala will be simultaneous with the taking of the fortress of Adrianople.

GREEK ARMY TOOK SALONIKI, THE TURKISH STRONGHOLD, TODAY

ATHENS, Nov. 8.—The Greek army commanded by Crown Prince Constantin occupied Saloniki, the Turkish stronghold in southwestern Turkey in Europe at noon today.

FORMULA OF "ALBANIA FOR THE ALBANIANS" TO BE PROPOSED

ROME, Nov. 8.—The representatives of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy during their conferences in Berlin decided to propose to Great Britain, France and Russia the formula of "Albania for the Albanians" as a solution for the Balkan situation, according to information received here. Both Austria-Hungary and Italy are represented as having agreed not to make any territorial claims for themselves and jointly to bar Servia from reaching the sea through Albania.

Machine Exploded

Considerable excitement was caused at the card clothing and photograph pin plant in Wilson street owned by the estate of the late Walter H. Bagshaw about 10.45 o'clock this morning when a machine used for tempering strings exploded and set fire to the interior of the building.

Word was immediately telephoned to the central fire station and when the firemen arrived on the scene the blaze was extinguished before any material damage was done.

The principal damage was to the machine which exploded, but fortunately no was injured by the flying pieces of steel.

Johnson Wants Bail Reduced

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Jack Johnson, the prize fighter, indicted as a violator of the Mann act, was held for several hours in the United States district court today until Judge Landis was ready to consider his appeal for a reduction of the $30,000 bail given by the pugilist's mother, Mrs. Tina Johnson, for her son's release.

United States Attorney Wilkerson said the federal investigation of Johnson's relations with white women insistent as they might or might not relate to violations of the Mann act had "only begun."

POLICE AFTER BOUCHER

He is Wanted on an Assault Charge

French street was the scene of considerable excitement shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon, when two policemen armed with a warrant for a man named Boucher, endeavored to place him under arrest. The officers of the law were Lieut. Maher and Court Officer Peter Cawley.

They went to the man's home in French street, but Joseph saw them coming and he "beat" it, inasmuch as he was wanted on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on his wife. The officers gave chase. Soon they lost sight of him and Lieut. Maher went towards Kirk street, while Officer Cawley directed his footsteps toward the Boot mill. In a short time a large crowd had gathered in the vicinity and then came along Patrolman Lemay, and he, too, joined the searchers.

Boucher was later seen in Amory street by Constable John McManus who gave the alarm. Officers Cawley and Lemay were soon on the trail, but Boucher managed to again give them the slip, and at the time of going to press the officers were still searching the vicinity of French street for their man. It is alleged that Boucher gave his wife a severe thrashing this morning and after she consulted with her lawyer the warrant was issued.

BANDITS ENTER TRAIN

And Get Away With Loot Worth $40,000

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 8.—Bandits boarded a southbound express on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Blount Springs early today, entered the mail car, awed the clerks by a flourish of revolvers, took possession of several mail pouches and then signalled for the engineer to stop the train and escaped in the country a few miles north of Birmingham.

One report said the robbers got loot worth $40,000. Posses are on their trail.

JOE CHRISTO

Starts Training Tomorrow for Race to Be Held in Worcester on November 23rd

Joe Christo, Lowell's well known long distance runner, starts training tomorrow for a 15-mile race to be held at Worcester on Nov. 23. Among the list of entries are many of the best runners in New England, and the local sprinter, realizing that he will have to be in good condition if he is to cop a prize, will train carefully for the race. Joe feels confident that his time has come, and will enter the race determined to take first place. He will train in the vicinity of Andover street, taking long runs every evening. He has engaged the services of several well known trainers, who will accompany him on all his trial runs. He will cut the Meccas, and also the dome until after the race, when he returns home with first prize tucked in his inside pocket.

GLASS BROKEN

When Blast Was Set Off at the Excavation for the Comfort Station in Paige Street

A blast was set off at the excavation for the comfort building in Paige street this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock and for the first time pieces of rock flew into the air and smashed a couple of panes of glass in the windows of the press room of the Courier-Citizen Co.

The blast was fully covered with a large rope mat and timber, but the force of the dynamite was so strong that the sharp rocks pierced through and blew into the windows. The report was very loud and attracted the attention of many people who were in the vicinity. The foreman in charge of the work said this was the first time any damage was caused by blasting since the job was started and it is slight at that.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Met His Cabinet in Regular Session Today For the First Time Since August

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Taft met his cabinet in regular session today for the first time since August when he started for Beverly on his vacation. With the exception of the secretary of state, Mr. Knox, and the secretary of the navy, Mr. Meyer, every member was in his seat. Stenographers do not report cabinet meetings, but the laughter which penetrated the walls and was heard in the corridor of the executive offices indicated that Tuesday's deficit had not brought gloom to Mr. Taft's official family.

Subjects considered at today's meeting were many. From the election to the filling of several vacancies the discussion covered much ground. The messages which Mr. Taft expects to write in the next few weeks were taken up and ideas for them presented by members of the cabinet.

It was understood in Washington today that at present no cabinet member intended to quit office until March 4. Several members let it be known months ago that they expect to retire March 4 even if Mr. Taft were elected and several were known to be anxious to get back to private life before that date. The feeling of loyalty to the president, however, is expected to keep every cabinet officer at the head of his department until the administration itself goes out of power.

Wilson Takes the Lead

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Wilson took the lead again with a majority of 55 over Roosevelt with the filing of complete returns from Los Angeles county. The three precincts missing this morning showed a Wilson gain of 210 instead of the expected Roosevelt gain.

After recuperating he was assigned to mission work in that place and eighteen months ago he was transferred to Campbell, Neb., where he was doing church work with Rev. Arthur Bernache, O. M. I., formerly of this city.

Some time ago he was again taken ill and removed to a hospital in Omaha. For some time it was believed he would recover, but yesterday Rev. Fr. Dubreuil, O. M. I., provincial in this district, received a telegram that Fr. Dubreuil was dying. No news has been received today.

FOUR GUNMEN ARE TO TESTIFY

Trial of Alleged Murderers of Herman Rosenthal Likely to Prove an Interesting One

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Two hundred talesmen reported at the criminal courts building for the trial of Whitey Lewis, Lefty Louis, Cyp the Blood and Dago Frank, indicted for murdering thereafter, when the selection of the jury to try the alleged gunmen was to begin. Until last night counsel for the four men had insisted on a separate trial for each, but an eleventh hour decision resulted in an agreement to try them together. It is expected that all four will take the stand in their own behalf. The state's chief witnesses will be "Blond Jack" Rose, "Bridge" Weber and the other informants who figured so prominently in the Becker trial.

Wagon, was completed this week, and now the painters are at work, placing the finishing touches on the room. The new quarters will be connected with the former rooms, and the latter also are receiving repairs. When completed the local lodge will have one of the best appointed suites in this section of the country.

Rain Storm Heaviest for Some Time

The rainfall last night was one of the heaviest in this city for some time, according to the officials of the Locks & Canals Co. over an inch of water fell over Lowell in the course of the night.

A shower broke out in the latter part of the afternoon and the result was that the mill people, who did not expect it were drenched almost to the skin. It was a continuous downpour until shortly after 8 o'clock, when the rain ceased, to again resume its downpour later in the evening.

As a result of the heavy rain at 6 o'clock the no-school signal was sounded for the evening schools. The rain poured again in torrents at midnight and this was continued until late this morning. Many cellars were flooded and a number of sidewalks and streets in the city suffered considerable damage, which was caused by the flowing of a heavy stream which carried along dirt and stones. The rain brought with it a warm spell, and this was so unexpected that many reported this morning they could not sleep, the atmosphere being so heavy. However, there was a big change this morning, for a cold wind was blowing and the streets were soon dried.

THE TINSMITHS BUSY

Plenty of Business This Season

The tinsmiths report a rushing business these days and all are wearing that "smile that won't come off." The members of this craft have about three busy months during the year, these being September, October and November, and during that time they are obliged to work hard to meet their orders.

The cause of the extra business at this time of the year is due to the fact they all are preparing for the winter months and are fixing up before the snow flies. Copings, gutters, drainage pipes, stove pipes, etc., are in great demand and all dealers are kept on the go. The employees, however, understand the situation and are willing to exert themselves for during the other months their business is dull.

With the erection of a number of buildings at present, the tin and copper business is much better than ordinarily during the three busy months, but the dealers are meeting their orders and filling them satisfactorily.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT

Given By the Bachelor Club in Associate Hall Last Evening Under the Auspices of the Athols

The members of the 22nd Century Bachelor club gave an excellent concert in Associate hall last evening, the troupe appearing under the auspices of the Athols, at the annual social and dancing party of that organization. Despite the inclement weather there was a good crowd present and all enjoyed the evening's program. The concert was given under the direction of Charles D. Slatery, with Richard Noonan accompanist and the program was as follows:

Opening chorus, entire company; "The Girl I Call My Sweetheart" Miss Look Like You, John Devlin; "Tears My Baby," "Babe" Rogers; "The Song Divine," Gene McCarthy; "The Syncope Boogie Woogie," James Roscoe; "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," James E. Donnelly; "I'm the Guy," William Warren; "In the Shadows," William Gookin; "Mr. Flanagan," Ed Shea; "Good Bye, My Love, Good Bye," John Dutton; "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," Walter Davis; finale, "Mary Was My Mother's Name," John Gleason.

After the concert dancing was enjoyed to music by Kittredge's orchestra. The officers in charge of the party were:

High School Football

South Boston, an old and friendly rival of the Lowell high school will be the opponent of the latter in a football game on the Washington park gridiron tomorrow afternoon.

It appears that the Hub boys are not especially strong this year, although nothing definite is known to substantiate this statement and the locals should bring down another victory. Lowell high has been scored on but once so far this season, the only team able to accomplish that feat being Manchester. Coach Mahoney feels that thus far the team has been experiencing too little difficulty against the lighter teams and as a consequence a hard contest has been arranged for next Friday afternoon when Lawrence Academy of Groton will come here with a heavy and fast eleven. This promises to be "some game" and should put the home team in condition for the still bigger contest against Haverhill on November 23.

It is thought that Leggat, former captain of Lowell high and now playing with Rock Ridge neighbors, will attempt to bring the latter team to Lowell on the morning of Thanksgiving day and if he succeeds it will prove a fitting wind up for a successful season. Game tomorrow starts at three o'clock. Admission is as usual, 25 cents and automobiles will be allowed within the grounds.

DAKOTA DAN ASKS JURY PROBE

His Attorney Also Pleaded for an Inquiry But Both Requests Were Denied

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The sessions of the hearing of the Russell identity case at East Cambridge yesterday were quite exciting. The main feature of the day being Attorney William B. Scharton's attempt to have the case taken up by the grand jury and his declaration in the open court that the counsel for the estate are using unfair methods in conducting the case.

"Dakota Dan," who contends that he is the real Daniel Blake Russell, heir to half the estate, himself went to the foreman of the grand jury, now in session, and earnestly pleaded that some action be taken to settle the matter as soon as possible.

Mr. Scharton, "Dakota Dan's" counsel, asked District Attorney Higgins to place both "Duns" under heavy bonds as a preliminary proceeding to action by the grand jury. He argued that perjury has been committed by either one or the other.

The district attorney declined to take up the matter, saying that it would be unwarranted interference on his part to do so while the case is in the civil court. He intimated that the

The matter of dimes and the formation of lobes of ears was given considerable attention in the afternoon session, Mr. Nason entering as exhibits photographs of faces and ears of Wm. C. Russell, members of the Rousseau family and of the claimant.

The claimant admitted that he had refused to answer questions in Melrose when he returned in 1905, because he found that his brother was not allowed to talk. He would not answer questions, he said, unless he was permitted to talk with William.

Mr. Nason finished his cross examination of the claimant which has been in progress 42 court days, and Mr. Scharton began his redirect examination.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

Thanks Municipal Council for Resolutions

Some time ago the municipal council passed resolutions upon the occasion of Archbishop O'Connell's elevation to the cardinalate. The resolutions were very beautifully gotten up, the work being done by James Shanley, teacher of penmanship in the Lowell High school. The work was exquisite, the binding was faultless and the colors appropriate. In order to insure safe delivery, Mayor O'Donnell despatched the city messenger to Boston with the resolutions and they were delivered at the archbishop's house. A few days ago Mayor O'Donnell received a very nice letter from Cardinal O'Connell. The letter was accompanied by an autographed photograph and bronze medal of his eminence, and was as follows:

Archbishop's House, Boston, November 2, 1912.
To His Honor, James B. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell:

Your Honor:—
I can scarcely express in words the gratification I feel upon receiving the noble gift of the resolutions passed by the city government upon the occasion of my elevation to the cardinalate. The sight of such a generous testimonial to my poor merits, illuminated so exquisitely as it is, and so beautifully bound, fills my heart with gratitude to your honor, the city government and the people of my native city. May God's choicest blessings be upon you all. I am, Your Honor, very gratefully yours, W. Card. O'Connell.

Abp. Boston.
To His Honor, Mr. James B. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell.

A. officers and the workmen. It is hoped that all of the furniture will be ready and the building will be entirely finished by the first of December.

PHOTOS OF SCOTLAND

To Illustrate Work of Sir Walter Scott

Some very fine photographic views of Scotland are being exhibited at the public library. They represent scenes in the novels and poems of Sir Walter Scott and were taken by Charles S. O'Leary for the Houghton Mifflin company's new edition of Scott's works, including the Waverley novels and the poems. Even though one must strain a point it is well worth one's while to see these beautiful photographs. They fill one with the romance and beauty of the scenes so vividly described by Scott in his novels and in his great poems, "The Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Marmion" and "The Lady of the Lake" and others that remain today among the most popular narrative poems in the language. The photographs are being exhibited in the exhibition room on the first floor. They were placed in position yesterday and they have already attracted a great deal of attention. The Waverley novels, as was remarked at the library this morning, have maintained their popularity through generations. They are now, 100 years after they were written, the picture of a place mentioned by the author possesses fascination greater than if the scene were new instead of old.

The pictures are supposed to represent the scenes very much as Scott saw them. The natural scenery, mountains, woods, lakes, rivers, sea-shore and the like—is nearly the same as in Scott's day. The ruins of ancient abbeys and castles are said to correspond very closely with his descriptions. In many instances, it is true, Scott in imagination rebuilt these ruins and filled them with the children of his fancy, but it is extremely interesting to know just what he used as the basis of these imaginary structures. The pictures exhibited at the library include scenes in "Woodstock," "Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Bride of Triermain," "Rokeby," "Lord of the Isles," "Maid of Perth," "Rob Roy," "Old Mortality," and other of Scott's works that have held the attention of the English-speaking world for a century. The very historic spots include "Dundrennan Abbey," where Mary, Queen of Scots, passed her last night in Scotland; the entrance to Warwick Castle, where Queen Elizabeth stopped on her way to Leicester's reception at Kenilworth, and Coningsburgh castle, a typical Norman keep, the home of Athelstone in "Ivanhoe."

the corner of Mammoth road and Varum avenue broke and fell on a cross arm on a pole bearing an electric feed wire and then came in contact with the trolley wire. There was a regular pyrotechnic display for a short time, but the members of Engine 5 were summoned and they soon succeeded in disarranging the debris from the wire.

The firemen were called to the premises of Henry A. Lambert at 283 Pawtucket street about 9 o'clock to extinguish a fire in a pile of rubbish in the yard. A fire had been started in the afternoon and in the latter part of the afternoon and early part of the night had extinguished, but evidently it had been smoldering and "broke out" anew about 9 o'clock. The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

About 10.20 o'clock the department was called to extinguish fire in a tree in Mammoth road which had been caused by an electric wire coming in contact with one of the limbs.

Grace Church
A supper was held at the Grace Universalist church last night which was followed by a most pleasing entertainment. The evening's program was managed by the Ladies' Alliance of the church. A good sized crowd was present in spite of the rainy weather. The supper was served at 6.30 o'clock and was in charge of Mrs. J. H. Joyce and Mrs. E. M. Luzzelle. The dining room was presided over by Mrs. C. N. Woodward and an able corps of assistants.

The entertainment, which was given under the personal supervision of Mrs. Duleze Dunlap Brown, provided the most enjoyable feature of the evening. It consisted of a program of music given by "The Meister Singers," and included several pleasing numbers. The opening was a series of popular songs by the entire company, and then followed the numbers: "Sing, 'The Bell in the Deep Blue Sea,' Harry Needham; 'In the Vale of Tears,' Harold Patten; 'Dreams, Just Dreams,' W. T. Henderson; 'Silver Threads Among the Field,' Osmond Long; 'Good Night, Little Girl, Good Night,' Mr. Henderson; 'Mind Your Own Business,' Mr. Patten; 'The Glow Worm,' Mr. Long. Miss Katharine Jennette was the accompanist of the evening.

WOOD HOLDS SHUT OUT RECORD

"Smokey Joe" Twirled Ten
Goose Egg Games During
the Season of 1912

Joe Wood of the Boston Red Sox, who was the American league's greatest distributor of goose eggs last season, blanked five of the seven teams that faced him, Cleveland and Philadelphia alone escaping. Smokey Joe whitewashed the Highlanders three, the Nationals, Browns and White Sox each twice and the Tigers once.

Three of the Bostonian's wins were marked by the narrowest possible deciding score, 1 to 0, the pitchers he conquered being Walter Johnson, Edgar Willett and George McConnell. When Wood kept the Tigers from the plate he had to toil for 11 innings and then a fumble by Jim Delahanty was of great assistance to the Red Sox in getting their one run.

Wood was the lone American leaguer to reach double figures in whitewashes. Walter Johnson of the Nationals was the runner up to Wood in using the brush, Ed Walsh of Chicago third, another Eddie—the left-handed Plank of Philadelphia—being No. 4.

Boston was the hardest team to whitewash and Chicago the easiest. All told there were 23 games in which one team was whitewashed and one contest in which both drew ciphers.

Below will be found the pitchers' records in shut-outs for 1912:

Penn. Will Try Hard to Get Back

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Pennsylvania will try to find its way back to the football map by defeating Michigan at Franklin field, Nov. 9. For the past few days the coaches have been strengthening the weak points on the eleven, and now they believe it is strong enough to take the Wolverines into camp. Roy Mercer, captain of the team and one of the best backs of the football world a year ago is literally

"shot to pieces," as the saying goes. Constant training for almost a year is beginning to tell. The Quakers have three games left to play with Michigan, Carlisle and Cornell. They may win one of the three, but the season already has been stamped a failure, almost a disgrace. It is more than likely that Harrington will take Mercer's place at fullback. He has played a consistently good game at right halfback in all the games.

BROOKS QUILTS IN BOUT

He Did Not Attempt to Box

LAWRENCE, Nov. 8.—The main event of 12 rounds between Terry Brooks of New York and Jack Redmond of Milwaukee at the Unity club last night was a fizzle as both men, although repeatedly warned by Referee Jim Crilly, refused to deliver the goods and stalled through the seven rounds they went, at the end of which Brooks dropped to the floor, claiming his neck was injured.

Brooks tried to lose on a foul in the fifth, but Referee Crilly refused to allow it, and after telling the men for the sixth time to go in and fight, they resumed, but continued stalling until Brooks went down. A large number of members were much disappointed with the bout. It was clearly no fault of the management of the club.

The semi-final was the star bout between Fighting Joe Carroll and Young Harrington of Amesbury in the third round of their scheduled six-round bout. Noah Hrusso of Boston will meet Kid Mercer of Lawrence at the club next Thursday.

Bunting Soccer Notes

The opponents of the Bunting Soccer Football team tomorrow afternoon on bunting field in South Lowell will be Andover united, the game starting at 3 o'clock. As a great deal of rivalry exists between these two teams, a good game is expected and should be featured as it was on the last occasion by a good crowd. The local team will be selected from the following players: Birlewiste, Smith, Kelly, Smith, Mahon, Meserian, Graham, Burrows, J. Kelly, Chagge, Mitchell, C. Walker, Clayton, Charlie, O'Brien, Carmen, Linesman Kennedy. All players are requested to report at the ground at 2.30.

The following games will be played in the Lowell, Lawrence and District League tomorrow afternoon: Lawrence vs. the Manchester Blues at Manchester; referee, Ritchie. Andover vs. the Bunting club at South Lowell; referee, Stockley. Clan McPherson vs. Methuen at Methuen; referee, Schenck. Manchester United vs. the Lawrence Olympics at Lawrence; referee, Houghton.

CHANCE AS MANAGER

N. Y. Americans' Owner
Offers Him $18,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The receipt of the news from New York to the effect that Harry Wolverton is to be supplanted as manager of the Highlanders yesterday brought forth the information from an authoritative source that Frank Chance, former leader of the Cubs, has been offered a five-year contract to take charge of the New York American league team at the highest salary ever paid a baseball official. It was stated positively that Chance, prior to his departure for the west, was in receipt of a most flattering offer from President Farrell, which he was unable to take advantage of, owing to his inability to secure his release from the local National League club.

Farrell's proposition was a five-year contract at $18,000 per year and 5 per cent. of the net earnings of the team. The Yankee owner, in making the offer, stated that he would turn the club over to Chance and let him run it as he saw fit, without interfering in the slightest way, even so far as offering a suggestion of any kind.

The Farrell proposition was kept secret at the time it was made, as Chance believed he would be able to secure an unconditional release from the Cubs if Murphy were under the impression that he would be unable to land any kind of a job in the big leagues. It is almost certain that Murphy will refuse to release Chance.

BUSY NIGHT ON ALLEYS

Several Matches Rolled Last Evening

Several interesting matches were rolled on the local alleys last evening. In the Barons league series two good games were rolled. On the Crescent alleys the Immanuel Baptist team won from the Gorham Street P. M. church team, the score being 1303 to 1155. Switlock of the winning team was high man with a three-string total of 379. The Highland M. E. quintet won from the St. Paul M. E. team by the score of 1254 to 1233, taking two strings and the total. K. K.patrick of the victorious team captured the high single of 131 and he also rolled the high three-string total, 602. His bowling was the feature of the game.

The Bowls team and the Hamilton mills five had it on the Crescent alleys and the former won by the score of 1310 to 1218. Holgate of the winners did the best bowling of the game, having a single of 108 and a total of 284.

On the Moody bridge alleys the Tandems and the Mt. Groves clashed and each team took two points. The Mt. Groves won the first and third strings and the Tandems took the second string and the total. The game was very interesting and many good scores were put up. Holgate of the Tandems captured the high single of 96 and W. Silcox of the Mt. Groves howled the best three string total, which was 279.

MEETING OF THE N. E. LEAGUE

Held in Boston—Circuit Remains Unchanged—Salary Limit and Sunday Games Favored

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The New England league of baseball clubs at its annual meeting held in the New American house yesterday, voted to sanction a movement to secure the passage of a bill allowing the playing of professional baseball in Massachusetts on Sunday.

The meeting was marked by the announcement of a change of ownership of the Fall River franchise, which was declared forfeited. Upon the payment of certain debts, the franchise will go to Messrs. Pieper of Lawrence, Roach and Gray of Lowell and Frazier of Lynn, who advanced money to pay the salaries of the Fall River players. They plan to dispose of the franchise to one of several bidders, but it was said last night that it probably will stay in Fall River. No change in the league circuit of next season is probable, Secretary Jacob C. Morse said after the meeting.

Next year's playing schedule will consist of 125 games to be disposed of in 113 playing days. It will begin on Wednesday, April 30, and close Saturday, Sept. 13. These dates are one week earlier and one week later, respectively, than those last year. The committee appointed to draw up the schedule was chosen as follows: Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester, Brockton and Lynn clubs. President Louis P. Pieper of Lawrence was selected as chairman.

The salary limit was the subject of a lengthy debate, following which it was voted that $2000 shall be the maximum amount of salaries to be paid by each club monthly, including the salary of a player-manager. It was voted to require each to deposit a surety bond for $1000 before the schedule meeting to cover its responsibilities in this connection.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the league, which preceded the league meeting, the championship pennant for the season of 1912 was formally awarded to the Lawrence club.

At this meeting the books of the treasurer were audited and approved and a protest of the Brockton club regarding a game in Haverhill of Sept. 17 was withdrawn.

Secretary Morse announced at the league meeting that the umpires next season would not be allowed to umpire college games after the league season opens. It was explained that this action was found necessary owing to the fact that on Wednesdays and Saturdays last season league umpires frequently absented themselves from the place of assignment to fill college jobs.

In the absence of President T. H. Murrary, who is confined to his home with an attack of grip, Secretary Morse presided. All the clubs of the league were represented as follows:

Lowell, A. J. Roach, J. J. Kennedy, T. J. Gray, Lynn, E. B. Frazier, E. J. Leonard, New Bedford, J. T. Smith, James Shanks, Fall River, Manager J. H. O'Brien, Brockton, J. W. McCune, Joseph Burns, Lawrence, T. J. Pieper, D. D. Noonan, Haverhill, D. F. Clough, Sherman H. Marshall, Worcester, J. J. Burckett, J. J. O'Donnell, Paul McHale.

Other Baseball Men Present

The meeting was attended by other well known baseball men. Included in the assemblage were President McAleer of the Red Sox, Patsey Donovan and other big league men, and William Peers, official scorer of the N. E. league, John H. Cull, secretary of the Lowell team, and many others. The meeting was a very successful one, and the Lowell men were well pleased with the progress made.

CLEMENS WANTED BY MILWAUKEE

Lowell Management Offered $1,000 for the Center Fielder

The management of the Lowell New England league team is now busy getting ready for the season of 1913, and already has secured the contract of a man to play second base in the event of Miller not being turned over to the team. Miller, while a very clever man, is hardly fast enough for the big league yet. He is still in his teens and needs to make good in the big show after a little seasoning. At the end of the season, when he went to St. Louis, he was played in practically every position in the Browns' infield and made good as a defender, but his hitting was not up to the standard. Manager Stoen, however, thinks well of the former Lowell second sacker, and will take him on the spring training trip. If "Doggie" falls down he will in all probability come back to Lowell. The return of the clever man to Lowell would be welcomed by the fans, for not only is he a fine player, but he is a perfect gentleman on and off the diamond.

During the present week the Lowell management has received an offer of $1000 from the Milwaukee club for Pete (Scoot) Clemens, last year's center fielder. The Milwaukee club is known as the farm of the Chicago White Sox, and President Clevelley generally has the Milwaukee team to do the seasoning. The local management is considering the offer, and the owners and managers are of the opinion that this fast "scoot" is worth more money. They will not terminate a deal until after the annual meeting of the minor leagues of America which will soon be held in Milwaukee.

Clemens is a very fast man on the bases, and was a good hitter. His fielding was also of the A1 variety and he was a very valuable man to the team. Regardless of the price offered, the management will not consider selling him unless a capable successor can be secured.

Manager Gray will attend the minor league meeting and is of the opinion that he can consummate what he has set on foot by getting a man in the place of Jake Bouttes, who Mgr. Gray considers has outlived his usefulness as a member of the Lowell team. Jake is a good ball player, and will undoubtedly make good in another field, but he is all done at Spalding park.

The retirement of Bouttes from the Lowell team will mean the selection of a new captain and there are many conjectures as to who will be Jake's successor. According to the "straightest dope" it looks like Eddie McManiswell. He has been one of the grand ball players, and it would be difficult for the management to select a better man. He knows the game from A to Z and is a conservative player. He understands the inside workings of the game, and is well liked by all the members of the team, as well as being popular with the fans.

Arthur Lavigne, who at the big league drafting session was drafted by the St. Louis Americans may be back with Lowell next season, owing to the fact that the draft has been cancelled. While this procedure is an injustice to the clever player, owing to the fact that the draft by St. Louis interfered with his chances with other teams, his chances are also at being taken by another team, now that the draft is finally cancelled. The Lowell catcher who was without doubt the best in the league last season, is entitled to promotion, but another season in the minors, ought to prove beneficial to him. His recent exhibition in Rhode Island, where he caught the shots of Walter Johnson, the Washington star, demonstrates that he is there with the stuff. He will be heard from later.

BAN ON CHRISTMAS TREES A CHAT WITH THE COOK

Quarantine Hits New Oyster Dishes During England Hard Next Few Months

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Thirty-two Massachusetts cities as well as scores of horticultural centers in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut, have been placed under a quarantine in an effort to dispose of the gypsy and brown-tail moth.

Under the order issued yesterday by Acting Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Hays Christmas trees are going to be scarce and evergreens that grace the windows as the yuletide approaches as well will be short because of the ban.

Mr. Hays in the order issued yesterday says:

"The fact has been determined that two injurious insects, the brown-tail and the gypsy moth, new to and not heretofore widely distributed within and throughout the United States, exist in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont and Connecticut.

"I do order a quarantine to prevent the interstate movement of coniferous trees, such as spruce, fir, hemlock, pine, juniper and arbor vitae, known and described as 'Christmas trees,' and decorative plants, such as holly and laurel, known as 'Christmas greens,' forest plant products, including logs, tanbark, posts, poles, railroad ties, cord wood and lumber."

The quarantine is also made to apply to all grown florists' stock, trees, shrubs, vines, cuttings and other plants. The following territory in Massachusetts is quarantined for the brown-tail moth:

Leyden, Greenfield, Deerfield, Whiteley, Hatfield, Northampton, East Hampton, Holyoke, North Adams, Gardner, West Springfield, Springfield, Longmeadow and Hampden.

The following Massachusetts territory is quarantined for the gypsy moth:

Warwick, Orange, Athol, Petersham, Barre, Oakham, Spencer, Northbridge, Chariton, Dudley, and Webster.

Excitement Too Great

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Excitement caused by the election is believed to have been responsible for the death of Mrs. Ida Graham, 35 years old, wife of William Graham, democratic committeeman from 24 ward.

She sat in her home all night reading election returns and early yesterday morning remarked:

"I am glad Wilson won, because he is a good man."

A moment later she fell to the floor and died of heart disease before a physician could be summoned.

First Spiritualist Society

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the First Spiritualist society met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harvey, No. 43 West Fifth street, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Harvey is the president of the association. Supper was served from 5 until 7 o'clock, which was followed by the regular business meeting. Readings were given by Mrs. James Arthur, which were unusually good.

During the next few months oyster lovers may legitimately enjoy their favorite shellfish with safety.

Oyster soup, or stew, as it is often called, is universally liked. Did you ever try making it this way? Take equal quantities of oysters and chicken stock. Cook the oysters in half their own liquor for about five minutes, adding a little salt and paprika. Let the chicken stock come to a boil and then put all in a large dish with enough hot milk to make the requisite amount of soup. Cook just long enough to be sure that the oysters are thoroughly done, then serve with crackers.

Oyster pie is a delicious dish and not difficult to make. Line a pudding dish with pastry made of one pint of flour, sifted, one teaspoonful baking powder, a pinch of salt and one egg mixed with a little cold water. It should be stiff enough to roll. Use one quart of oysters and cover the bottom of the dish. Sprinkle over with salt, pepper, bits of parsley and thyme, pieces of butter and one hard-boiled egg cut in pieces. Over this lay bits of dough rolled thin. Repeat this, then add enough of the oyster liquor and milk almost to cover it and put on the upper crust. Bake one hour in a moderate oven.

Did you ever combine oysters and bacon except as "pies in blankets"? Try cutting bacon thin into narrow strips and lay them across oysters on the half shell. Put in the oven under the gas flame for about ten minutes or so. You will have a most delicious dainty.

Here's a perfectly good recipe for an oyster loaf, also a one-half cupful of melted butter for each person to be served, also six or eight oysters for each. Cook the oysters in their own liquor with salt and pepper for about five minutes. Drain and add to them a rather thick cream sauce. Chop some parsley fine, a clove or two, half of a small onion, a bay leaf and a dozen small mushrooms and fry in butter. Remove the bay leaf and add some chopped chicken, one tablespoonful being allowed for each person. Put this mixture into the cream sauce with the oysters. Mash the potatoes very smooth, using a little milk. It is a good idea to add a well beaten egg, but this is not a necessity. Fill a buttered pan with the potato, hollowing out the center, and then put in the creamed oysters. Cover them with potato and bake until the top is brown and crisp. Individual loaves baked in buttered muffin pans are very attractive when garnished with a sprig of parsley.

A delicious dish of creamed oysters may be made somewhat after this order. Put oyster liquor, milk and chicken stock into a saucepan and thicken it with cornstarch or flour. Add the oysters and cook until the edges curl, about two minutes. This is particularly appetizing when served in hot pattypans.

New Pannier Model

Taupe is a color that is being affected this winter by women who dress well. Particularly chic is the gown illustrated, carried out in this delightful shape in taupe charmeuse.

A pannier tunic is draped over a plaited skirt, and a wide collar of

Plush Hats the Rage

The manufacturers this year, realizing that plush hats had "caught on," have turned them out in many attractive models.

The charming hat pictured is of ivory white plush with an upturned

brim bound with black and white velvet ribbon.

The only trimming on this fetching creation is a winged effect carried out in the magpie ribbon.

The "great-grandfather" stock worn with the hat is a favorite place of neckwear this season.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

TARIFF REDUCTION BY SLIDING SCALE

Governor Wilson has taken an early opportunity to announce that no legitimate business in the country need have any fear of disturbance from any policy to be inaugurated by the new administration. That is exactly what was expected from Governor Wilson because he had stated previous to election that he would not disturb any honest business by radical action.

The sudden removal of the tariff from various products now controlled by trusts would undoubtedly cause serious industrial disturbance. When anything of this kind is done, it might be well to adopt a sliding scale for the reduction of the tariff, so that the interests affected would know in advance when the tariff reductions would take effect, and the amount of each.

Much of the trouble resulting from the reduction of the tariff arises from the fact that the schedules are as a rule cut down too abruptly. When an industry is protected by a tariff of 40, 50 or 60 per cent it would not be a wise policy to remove such tariff completely at one blow. Rather would it be advisable to reduce it by gradual stages.

There are certain items such as beef and coal from which the tariff should be removed at once without any delay. Particular attention should also be paid to the industries that sell their products cheaper abroad than at home. Those who will revise the tariff will, of course, take due notice of these abuses, and will place the tariff low enough to invite reasonable but not ruinous competition.

NOW FOR CITY ELECTION

The time has now arrived for the filing of papers by candidates for municipal offices. There will occur two vacancies in the municipal board on the first Monday in January and three in the school board. There does not seem to be such a rush of candidates for the offices as there was last year and thus far the new candidates are not all desirable. It seems that if the new charter is to be made a success either the desirable men must be more ready to become candidates or else some organization will be needed to induce such men to run for office. Under the charter anybody who can get the necessary signatures is free to run and the voters will require considerable patience in tolerating the perennial candidate. This is one of the evils that must be borne, but the presence of undesirable on the ticket should not prevent good men from becoming candidates so that the citizens will have an opportunity to show just what kind of men they want, whether they favor men of business experience and unquestioned integrity or men who are conspicuously lacking in both these essentials. The new charter is all right and will prove a great benefit to the city if the people only exercise good judgment in selecting men who are honest, capable and interested in the welfare of the city.

Tomorrow is the last day for filing papers and it is to be hoped that a sufficient number of good men will enter the contest in order that the city and its interests may not be abandoned, so far as this election can do it, to a lot of incompetents.

CLEAN-UP DAY

The local board of trade is interesting itself to promote the observance of clean-up or fire prevention day. This idea has proved useful in the city of Hartford, Conn., where a whole week instead of one day was devoted to the work. The health department too co-operated and invited notice of any yard, alley or cellar requiring its attention. It is well to remove all the rubbish that may feed the flames in case of fire or that if left untouched may become the source of disease.

PENSIONS FOR WIDOWS

The proposition to pension widows left with large families of minor children is a good one. How often has it happened that a widow left with a large family of small children has had to go out to work daily, leaving the children to shift for themselves or run the streets as they please during the day. Is it any wonder under such circumstances the children go astray?

Ex-Alderman Daniel Coe-grove is well pleased with the result of his run as candidate for lieutenant-governor on the Bull Moose ticket. Although he hardly expected election he conducted a vigorous campaign and proved a source of strength to the progressive party in this state.

The campaign was strenuous but Dan finds some satisfaction in his large vote, the fact that he made no personal attack on any man and no attempt was made upon his life.

President Taft has a plan to keep the republican party alive and Col. Roosevelt has a plan to kill it. The G. O. P. will have to unload the standard-bearers, the trusts and the speculative combines. Just at present it needs a great large dose of soothing syrup to prepare it for a long period of journeying in the wilderness. Col. Roosevelt's party is like a balloon inflated with hot air and that will collapse under a cold current or just as soon as the Colonel ceases to keep up the inflation process.

Had it not been for the announced candidacy of Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston for the United States senate, the democratic party might have secured control of the legislature. The republicans hold the fort by a small majority and it is likely that McCall will go to the senate. If they are looking for fit men, he is able and better than Ex-Governor Draper, who is an avowed candidate.

Now that the election excitement is over, would it not be well to ascertain why the water pressure on Rogers street proved so low that the stream was barely sufficient to reach to the cave of the Lithuanian church burned last week. If the pressure is so low and engines slow to get to work, we may expect other large structures to burn down.

Turkey wants to buy a new battleship from Chili. Such a ship can be of no use to her in this war as the Greek fleet would capture it as soon as it arrived within the war zone. Besides the Turks would require years in which to learn how to man such an engine of war so as to use its power effectively.

General Savoff's artillery is not using more dynamite in pursuing the Turks than Contractor Conlon in removing the ledge in Paige street on the site of the underground comfort station. The whole station must be cut from the hardest ledge ever encountered in this city.

Governor Wilson plans to be a good listener and he will certainly have a vast amount of advice as to the right policy to pursue and the right men to appoint to cabinet and other positions. He says his mind will be open until he makes the final announcements.

The Bulgarians are today doing what the Crusaders tried in vain to do by great sacrifice and untold heroism. Thus the foes of Christianity are eventually swept away to permit the spread of the gospel for the benefit of all mankind.

The Ector trial is dragging along slowly but so far as newspaper reports indicate, there is no very serious evidence to show that he was directly responsible for the murder.

Seen and Heard

"Well," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de poor man don't want nobody to find out he's poor, and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."

Mrs. Nettie Kibby, the brilliant conductor of the Sons of Temperance, said in an Independence day address some years ago in Worcester, apropos of moderate drinking:

"The moderate drinker's attitude seems to me most foolish and illogical. Doesn't the moderate drinker say just this:

"As long as I find I can stop, I won't stop; but as soon as I find I can't stop, I will!"

Many inquiries have been made as to the trouble with the telephone service Monday night between Lowell and Nashua. The cause of the mixup was discovered by a lineman who found a partridge tangled in the wires. The explanation given by the lineman is that the partridge alighted on the wires and was instantly killed, its body then becoming entangled in the wires, thus spoiling the telephone service on that particular line.

The 8th birthday of Lord Roberts, the veteran field marshal of the British army, occurred on the last day of September and was fully celebrated. Eobert as he is affectionately called by his fellow-soldiers, has been foremost in keeping up the German scare in Britain and to him is due the interest now displayed in military training. "If I could be told on my birthday," he said, "a short time ago, 'that compulsory military training should begin on that day it would be the one I should like to see.'" He is of Irish lineage, born at Cavonore, India, the son of a soldier, and his name and titles are: Field marshal the Right Hon. Frederick Sleigh Earl Roberts of Kandahar, Pretoria and Waterford, V. C., K. G. G., C. B., O. M., G. C. S. I. E., etc. He is the youngest veteran of the Indian mutiny and the hero of a hundred fights.

There's a bird's nest on the branch of a tree that when influenced by the wind, almost touches a window in Mayor O'Donnell's office. This summer two broods of sparrows first saw the light of day from the nest in question and, yesterday, as The Sun reporter looked out of the window he noticed a little sparrow in the nest with others close about him.

"I wonder what those birds are doing in and about that nest?" said the reporter.

"I think they have leased it for the winter. They have been very busy there of late," replied the mayor's athletic secretary.

REGRETS

I left you standing 'way back there, Day's dying shadows on your hair. Excepting where it caught the gold Of the sunset and seemed to hold It trembling for a little space; The sunset's light was to your face. And there was in your shining eyes A light that ne'er on seas or skies Has shone; and oh, your lips were red And something that you would have said.

Seemed trembling on them, and I tried To say something; then turned aside.

And then I went. The city called— The city, tunneled, paved and walled. The city with its chimneys high That belched their clouds against the sky.

Those clouds the wind brought swooping down To send them sweeping through the town, Till church and factory and hut Seemed nothing but black walls of smut.

And men groped blindly to and fro Till daily ways 'twas theirs to go: And one, a country bred, strove through Long days and nights and dreamed of you.

Through years and years he saw you stand, The clean green fields on either hand, The wet all helmeted and gold. The air, pink-tinted, seemed to fold You in its glory, seemed to spare A bit of gold to touch your hair.

A bit of shadow—just to trace The rounded outline of your face; Some of the blueness of 't' skies Seemed to have settled in your eyes. Love, he said, and possessed your heart.

And so you stood there lips apart. And I—a clown! I turned away Afraid of what I longed to say, Trudging down the country road With absurd hopes, and absurd load— That load—that bundle! what—ah, heart!

I could laugh at the memory. But that my heart grows tender now To think of that brave boy and how He started out to win his way, Went down the road that yesterday To tasks the city called him to— Leaving behind love, peace and you!

CHINESE CASTS VOTE

But He is Not an American Citizen

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 8.—After serving the United States 30 years as a soldier and being retired on a service pension, Edward D. Cahota of Valentine, Neb., presents an illustration of a man literally without a country. He finds in his disney that he cannot be a citizen unless congress by special act shall so declare him. His service includes the latter part of the Civil war, wherein he fought with Gen. Grant at Cold Harbor, Petersburg and Appomattox.

Mr. Cahota is a Chinese. Until recently he supposed he was an American citizen. He has always exercised his rights as a voter, and had no doubt he was a full-fledged American. Recently, however, he desired to take up a homestead, and filed at the government office at Valentine, paid his filing fee of $14, and expected soon to take up his residence on the land.

The government officials, upon looking into the application, notified Cahota that he is not a citizen of this country, could probably not become a citizen, and therefore could never move up on his homestead. His $14 was returned, but he was informed that no court in this country could grant him citizenship papers.

Cahota recalls that he left China when he was about five years old, and he cannot speak any of the Chinese dialects. His father was then dead, having been drowned in a flood of the Yangtze River. The little Chinese boy wandered down to the dock and was there picked up as an orphelin by an American sea captain, whose name was S. S. Day. This was about the year 1852. Capt. Day in his ship sailed back around Singapore, Calcutta and the Cape of Good Hope to New York city. The captain's home was Gloucester, Mass., and he took the Chinese boy with him, where he became a general favorite and was reared as Capt. Day's son.

In 1864 Cahota, then about 17 or 18 years of age, enlisted in the 23d Massachusetts regiment and immediately went into service under Gen. Grant in his last victorious campaign. At the close of the Civil war he returned to his home at Gloucester, but in 1866 re-enlisted in the regular army and served continuously until his retirement 30 years later.

He remembers that on his trip from Shanghai to New York he was treated very kindly by John Martin, who was first mate on Capt. Day's boat. Years later, when Cahota was a private in the regular army, and paying a visit to San Francisco, he recognized in a roughly dressed man on the street his former benefactor, then in need and seeking shelter. Cahota provided for the needs of his old friend, and received in return his cordial blessing.

While at a fort in South Dakota, Cahota married a young woman from Norway. Five children of that union are living. One of his sons is with him in the restaurant business at Valentine, Neb. One of his daughters was a school teacher in Cherry county, Ne.

braska, for a number of years, and is now a teacher in Wyoming. On a recent visit to Valentine, Frank E. Edgerton, assistant attorney-general of Nebraska, talked with Cahota, and he has taken the matter up with Senator Norris Brown, asking him to introduce a special bill in congress to grant citizenship. Cahota's enlistment papers are regular and his record is clean. He is a respected citizen of Valentine, and its people almost unanimously will petition congress to act favorably in his peculiar case.
